We want to rally

DIFFICULTIES in sourcing sustainable funding have forced Renmark Paringa's business network into hibernation.

The Renmark Paringa Network (RPBN) last week decided it would "enter a period of hibernation where we put all operations on hold".

A statement from the RPBN board, dated 3 July and contained within the letters to the editor of today's Murray Pioneer, said a lack of ongoing funding had prevented the network's full operations.

"Despite our dedication we have been unable to deliver on our programmed activities in the last 12 months because we have been unable to secure ongoing financial support to keep our organisation operating," the statement read.

Riverland council's proposal for regular rate increases...

% THE 6 FOR 10

HUGH SCHUITEMAKER

RENMARK Paringa Council has proposed a fixed-annual rate increase of 6 per cent, for 10 years, to support the completion of an "unprecedented" capital works program.

Renmark Paringa councillors at a special meeting held on Monday night voted to adopt council's draft 2024/25 Annual Business Plan and Budget for the purposes of community consultation.

Council expects to collect $610,292 in general rates in 2024/25, with property valuations rising by 10.32 per cent during the past year.

A council report on the matter stated the proposed 6 per cent increase per year, for 10 years, was aimed at managing increased costs.

"While we would prefer for this to be less, it is noted that council has traditionally been a low-rating council and it could be argued some of the financial pressure we are feeling is due to not raising rates as much as we should have in previous years," the report read.

"Be that as it may, council intends to continue to manage our finances in a prudent manner so that we remain financially sustainable.

Stabbing investigations continue

POLICE are investigating after a man was found stabbed in Renmark on yesterday afternoon.

Paramedics attended the scene in Banksia Street, Renmark at about 2.30pm, on Tuesday 9 July.

A 36-year-old Renmark man was found with a stab wound to his abdomen and was taken to the local hospital with non-life-threatening injuries.

Riverland CIB detectives and crime scene investigators attended the scene and investigations are continuing.

It is understood those involved may have been known to each other

Anyone with information can contact Crime Stoppers on 1800 333 000 or online (www.crimestopperssa.com.au).

Paringa Bridge out of order

THE malfunction of a major local bridge is impacting Riverland boat operators.

The Department for Infrastructure and Transport (DIT) confirmed yesterday the Paringa Bridge was currently “unable to lift due to a mechanical issue.”

“Maintenance staff will be on site today to assess the bridge and plan for repairs, which will be undertaken as quickly as possible,” a DIT spokesperson said.

“River users are advised to check the clearance height on onsite boards before passing under the bridge. This may change depending on environmental factors, including wind and water flow.

“Houseboat operators will not be able to pass underneath the bridge until repairs are complete. We apologise for any inconvenience caused.

“Road users travelling on the bridge are not impacted by this issue.”

Major emergency unfolded at Glossop

A COBDOGLA man, 84, passed away following a car accident last week.

Emergency services attended a two-car collision on Thursday 4 July, just after 4.15pm, on the intersection of Scott Road and Jury Road, at Glossop.

A Ford Falcon sedan travelling south-west on Scott Road collided with a Subaru Outback travelling south-east on Jury Road.

The passenger of the Ford sadly lost his life, while an 82-year-old passenger, also from Cobdogla, was taken to hospital with minor injuries.

The driver of the Subaru, a 21-year-old man and his three passengers, a 24-year-old man, a 25-year-old man and a 27-year-old man, all from Loxton North were uninjured and are assisting police with their enquiries.

Road closures were in place while Major Crash attended the scene, but all roads have reopened.

The man’s death is the 46th life lost on South Australian roads so far this year.

Council’s proposal for regular rate increases...

The 6 for 10

By HUGH SCHUITEMAKER

RENMARK Paringa Council has proposed a fixed-annual rate increase of 6 per cent, for 10 years, to support the completion of an “unprecedented” capital works program.

Renmark Paringa councillors at a special meeting held on Monday night voted to adopt council’s draft 2024/25 Annual Business Plan and Budget for the purposes of community consultation.

Council expects to collect $610,292 in general rates in 2024/25, with property valuations rising by 10.32 per cent during the past year.

A council report on the matter stated the proposed 6 per cent increase per year, for 10 years, was aimed at managing increased costs.

“While we would prefer for this to be less, it is noted that council has traditionally been a low-rating council and it could be argued some of the financial pressure we are feeling is due to not raising rates as much as we should have in previous years,” the report read.

“Be that as it may, council intends to continue to manage our finances in a prudent manner so that we remain financially sustainable.

Loxton Waikerie council in May adopted a 3.5 per cent rate rise, while Berri Barmera Council will aim to counter a 15.28 per cent rise in property values by reducing its rate in the dollar for residential properties.

Meanwhile, Renmark Paringa said it was “in a position of having to deliver two of the largest inter-generational capital projects that council has ever constructed as a result of the recent 2022/23 Murray River floods”.

“Council is conscious of the rising cost-of-living impact on our local households and businesses and as such are trying to keep any rate rises as low as possible,” the council report read.

“This year council proposes a 6 per cent rate rise, which follows a 6 per cent increase last year.

“Council will continue to maintain the current rate structure which comprises differential rates based on land use and a fixed-charge component. The fixed charge is proposed to be $425, which is an increase from $400 in 2023/24.”

Renmark Paringa chief executive officer Tony Siviour said “formulating the Annual Business Plan and Budget for 2024/25 has been a challenge given the current economic climate and financial pressures experienced by everyone in our community”.

“Some tough decisions were required to be made to ensure the rate rise for our residents was reasonable.

“Council is currently delivering two of its biggest projects in our history and that has been a major factor in needing to defer a number of projects to coming years.

“The need to replace the Twentyfirst Street bridge due to the 2022/23 floods was unpredictable and therefore the cost was unable to be factored into Council’s long term financial planning.

“This has been a large factor in the need to re-shuffle project priorities.”

Waste service charges are set to remain the same at $320 for three bins, and $240 for two bins.

Council has budgeted for $21.7m in capital projects for 2024/25 – up from $4.91m in the previous year – including the Twentyfirst Street bridge replacement, the Renmark Wastewater Treatment Plant Renewal, the Paringa town centre revitalisation, Renmark Wharf Upgrade, and Rowing Club deck upgrade.

A $1.86m operating deficit has been projected in the draft budget, however, council expects to return to an operating surplus by 2031/32 under its long-term financial plan.

Community consultation on council’s Draft Annual Business Plan closes at 5pm, on Wednesday 31 July.

Meanwhile, councillors also approved a motion offering a rate remission of $500 to local wine grape growers to help them during the current industry challenges.

It is understood details about how wine grape growers can access the remission will be communicated in the coming weeks.

Renmark Paringa Network examining support to continue operations...

We want to rally

DIFFICULTIES in sourcing sustainable funding have forced Renmark Paringa’s business network into hibernation.

The Renmark Paringa Network (RPN) last week decided it would “enter a period of hibernation where we put all operations on hold”.

A statement from the RPN board, dated 3 July and contained within the letters to the editor of today’s The Murray Pioneer, said a lack of ongoing funding had prevented the network’s full operations.

“Despite our dedication we have been unable to deliver on our programmed activities in the last 12 months because we have been unable to secure ongoing financial support to keep our organisation operating,” the statement read.

“Our membership fees afford us to keep up regular contact with our members, maintain a social media presence and offer business training sessions, but it does not afford us to run any of the big strategic goals and initiatives we have on standby that would really give value to our members.

“Without the capacity to deliver any meaningful and high-visibility initiatives, our members are feeling disappointed that they are not getting the value they deserve, and our board members are disheartened that they are not allowed to provide their fellow members with a satisfying experience.

“Therefore, the board of the RPN has decided, with heavy hearts, that we must enter a period of hibernation where we put all operations on hold.”

The network was established in November 2019 following a community meeting led by Pat Mickan.

The board’s statement said support for the network to continue its operations needed to be evaluated.

“Does the business community want an organisation such as the RPN to exist to advocate for them, and throw its support behind initiatives and projects currently within its strategic plan or in some other form?” the statement read.

“Will this show of support and strength in member support allow the RPN to access a more ongoing source (or sources) of revenue that will allow it to deliver upon what it promises its members?

“The board believe without answering these two questions that a Business Network, or Chamber of Commerce, whatever you would like to call it, will stand little chance of success.”

It is understood the RPN board will seek to hold a community meeting later this month to examine the level of community business support.

Water buyback tender to open next week

PROGRAMS to buyback water from areas such as the Riverland, in order to fulfil the Murray-Darling Basin Plan, are set to begin.

The Federal Government last week announced the first tender for 70GL of water, under the Voluntary Water Purchase Program, would be opened on Monday 15 July.

Federal Minister for Water Tanya Plibersek said fulfilling Murray-Darling Basin Plan targets would benefit local communities and the environment.

“For 10 years, Basin communities were short-changed by the Coalition, who sabotaged water recovery, tied up programs in impossible rules, delayed the Basin Plan, and prolonged uncertainty,” Ms Plibersek said.

“We’ve changed all that and since passing the Restoring our Rivers legislation last year, are on track to deliver the Murray–Darling Basin Plan in full.

“Our implementation plan also provides transparent, clear information on how progress towards the 450GL target is tracking – helping to restore trust in this country’s water management.

“Not only will regional communities prosper when the Murray-Darling Basin river system is healthy – we all will. That’s what our government is focused on.”

The Federal Government’s Restoring our Rivers: Framework for delivering the 450 GL of additional environmental water was also released last week, and includes:

- progress on the Basin Plan so far and an implementation plan to guide the delivery of the 450 gegalitre target over the next 12 months
- a link to the water trading strategy to

● Tanya Plibersek

help water market participants make informed decisions

Ms Plibersek said other water recovery methods were also being supported.

“We continue to prioritise non-purchase options to recover water, such as investing in water saving infrastructure, and are supporting Basin communities that may feel the impacts of water recovery with a record $300 million investment,” she said.

The full Restoring our Rivers: Framework for delivering the 450GL of additional environmental water strategy can be viewed by visiting the website (www.dcceew.gov.au/water/policy/implementing-the-plan/450-framework).

Buybacks to ‘damage’ local communities?

FEDERAL Government water buybacks will increase the price of temporary water for Riverland irrigators and the cost of food production, according to senior local politicians.

The Federal Government last week announced the first tender for 70GL of water, under the Voluntary Water Purchase Program, would be opened on Monday.

Chaffey MP Tim Whetstone said Riverland communities and councils were “extremely concerned about what these open slather buybacks will do to their towns, businesses, and local environment.”

“The information released shows the Labor Government doesn’t know which communities will bear the brunt of this buyback scheme,” Mr Whetstone said.

“Instead, it clearly says there is no fixed volume to be recovered from each state, each catchment or each water right type.

“A motion was passed by councils from across Australia calling on the Albanese Government to reject open market buybacks and put communities at the heart of any water recovery plans because of the damage they will do to our towns.

“This is on the back of ACCC Commissioner Mick Keogh admitting that water buybacks increase prices to access water for irrigators, increasing the cost of food production.”

Barker MP Tony Pasin said the result of buybacks would add further economic pressure to Riverland communities.

“While the documents indicate SA water holders are eligible to partake in this process, areas with a high concentration of network customers are excluded, leaving many Riverland water holders scratching their heads as to whether they are in or out,” Mr Pasin said.

“Labor’s open market EOI process risks creating a race to the bottom, leaving water holders and communities worse off.

“Labor has left Riverland wine grape growers to wither on the vine with little-to-no financial support to assist in restructuring the industry.

“Now, as if to rub salt in the wound, the Albanese Labor Government is using an opaque and confusing system to remove water at the lowest price possible.”

Mr Whetstone advised maintaining water resources for primary production should be a priority.

“If you’re considering selling your water, offer it to your neighbour or your fellow irrigator first,” he said.

“Once it’s in the government’s hands, it’s gone forever.”

An oar-some announcement

BY HUGH SCHUITEMAKER

COLLABORATION between Renmark Paringa Council, the State Government and a local rowing club is set to support a $1.7m infrastructure upgrade. Renmark Paringa councillors at last month's general meeting passed a motion to adopt the construction of the upgraded Renmark Rowing Wharf as a council project in its 2024/25 Annual Business Plan and Budget. The project is set to be fully funded through a $1.7m Department of Environment and Water (DEW) Constraints Measures Program grant. Renmark Rowing Club president Tony Townsend said the current wharf structure was becoming unsuitable for use. "It's been a long time coming and the current ramp is a bit over 30-years old now and it's served its purpose," Mr Townsend said. "It's becoming well worn, and unsafe at times when water levels increase, which is likely to occur more often in the future, due to environmental flows and other reasons. "To have a floating structure to the calibre of what's been designed for the community – and with rowing in mind – is fantastic. "That will allow us to row in higher flows, and we won't be putting members at risk."

Renmark Paringa acting director infrastructure and environmental services, Tim Tol, said collaboration with the rowing club had been key to the project. "The asset has been designed in conjunction with the Renmark Rowing Club to make sure it's fit for purpose and supports events like the Riverland Regatta and similar events into the future," Mr Tol said. "Once we pair this asset upgrade with the significant Renmark Riverfront Wharf Upgrade, our stretch of riverfront will be even greater for the community. "The entire process so far has been a positive collaboration with the Renmark Rowing Club and council looks forward to seeing this improved asset help their club go from strength to strength. "The project will result in a 70m-long wharf with 6m ramps down on either side to allow the Renmark Rowing Club to host large meets and become a premier destination for rowers statewide." Berri-based Tonkin Engineering were appointed as designers for the upgrade. Mr Tol said the partnership with DEW would benefit both council and the surrounding community. "Renmark Paringa Council's involvement is essentially in-kind support and we'll have some external management resources to help manage this project, which has been factored into the costings," he said. "Council has received 100 per cent funding from the DEW Constraints Team so that is essentially enabling us to take this on. "It's a collaborative approach between two levels of government and a very active community group, and it facilitates a sport that utilises our most-prized asset being the River Murray. "It also is a great cost outcome for Renmark Paringa Council in that we can deliver an increased community asset which aligns with multiple outcomes within our Community Plan with having an active population, and an active community through various methods of recreation and sport." Mr Townsend said the upgraded wharf would help the Rowing Club expand its membership. "It's all part of the big picture," Mr Townsend said. "If you've got good infrastructure, that makes it easier for people who want to inquire and come along. "You've got to do whatever you can to keep attracting new members, and new pieces of infrastructure to utilise... is a great outcome for our club and the community in general." Mr Townsend said the rowing club was "extremely appreciative of the work done by the DEW Constraints Team and Renmark Paringa Council".

RDFS seeking new volunteers

ATTRACTING a new president, secretary and treasurer, plus fresh committee members are among the aims for the Royal Doctors Flying Service (RFDS) Riverland Support Group at its upcoming AGM. The RFDS Riverland Support Group AGM will be held on Thursday 25 July, at the Berri Hotel, at 4.30pm, with the president, secretary and treasurer roles all vacant for nominations. RFDS Riverland Support Group secretary Bronwyn Cant said "having new faces in the group would help a lot".

"We're hoping to divide the work into teams of people with dynamic skills and ideas," Ms Cant said. Locals interested in joining the RDFS Riverland Support Group committee are welcome to attend the meeting. Ms Cant said new volunteers would be able to add a valuable perspective to the group's operations. "We've got a great team of dedicated volunteers at the moment, but it's necessary to have new entrants in order to be sustainable," she said.

THE YEARS GO BY

BY PETER AND CARLA MAGAREY

Best for business?

IT’S often said everyone loves an underdog story.

It will be intriguing to see the local reactions that stem from the Renmark Paringa Network’s announcement it has been forced to pause its operations, detailed inside today’s edition of the Pioneer.

It’s hard to forget the day in November 2019 when one of the town’s most beloved figures, Pat Mickan, proudly stood before an audience of local business operators at the Renmark Club and laid forth the reasons why a business network would be a valuable asset for the community, and the processes in which it could be established.

It was an inspiring speech coming from someone who was so central to the community, and at the time was running her own business.

Her words captured the minds of numerous members of the Renmark Paringa business community, that would indeed establish the network, and in the years since have become the committed volunteers behind the group’s board.

These are people taking time away from running their businesses – and potentially losing revenue – in an attempt to make the surrounding community economically stronger.

However, and those on the network’s board would be some of the first to admit, the return on value for membership has been lacking. The reason given is that a source of reliable and ongoing funding has yet to be secured.

This leads us to the current question the board needs answering – does the local community want the Renmark Paringa Network to continue?

While few would say any major warning signs exist, it might be fair to say that Renmark’s business community specifically is at a bit of a crossroad. While national retailers have been attracted to the town within the last year, and everyone would have noticed the activity occurring at the infamously long-vacant former Target building on the corner of Renmark Avenue and Ral Ral Avenue, pressure seen across the state is also pushing local smaller businesses to the edge of sustainability.

We’ve seen one family operated restaurant recently close its doors, and local speculation is that others, and businesses in other sectors, could follow the same direction.

Would the current economic pressure on small-and-medium-sized businesses therefore make it wise for Renmark Paringa operators to stay banded together with the network’s structure?

It seems to be in every Renmark Paringa resident’s best interest to have a business community as active and successful as possible, and we see examples in other Riverland towns of how a business network structure supports these goals.

One way or another, the network will receive an answer at a community meeting planned for later this month. For those that remember the fate of the previous Renmark Paringa Traders group, this narrative may seem a bit familiar.

However, if the support is there, those members of the Renmark Paringa Network board will undoubtedly be ready to work and take this underdog group to a success story.

Paul King, founder/manager of King’s Bakery, East Terrace, Loxton, at work on-site of the present-day Country Bakehouse. At right is his then-new Vanguard delivery van in approximately 1950. Paul, born in Adelaide in 1920, moved with his family to Bayah in 1924, into a small railway-siding between Caliph and Wunkar. He attended Pyap West school for two years, riding the five miles in a horse and cart with his aunt, Mrs Lloyd Cockshell, then for three years on horseback. He recalled “my education there did not reach great heights, but I did get a prize for good attendance”. The school only went to grade 5, so Paul was then sent to Caliph for three years, sometimes walking the 8 miles a day, though more often “riding a push-bike and donkeying my little sister Betty, (later, Mrs George Scarfe), which I didn’t appreciate at the time”. But “it was good for building up stamina”, he said. Having obtained his QC (Qualifying Certificate) at Wanbi, in 1935, Paul moved to Loxton to attend the Higher Primary School, boarding with an elder sister. In 1938 he moved to Alawoona to work for his brother-in-law in the bakery. They serviced all the stores along the line from Wanbi to Taldra. So began Paul’s life-long interest in baking. PHOTO: King family.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Opinions expressed in Letters to the Editor are those of the writers, and not those of the Murray Pioneer.

Open message from RPN board

Dear members of the Renmark Paringa Network (RPN) and the Renmark Paringa community,

SINCE the beginning, the RPN has been dedicated to providing leadership, advocacy, shared promotion and business development services to local businesses with the goal of fostering a positive, prosperous, and sustainable economic future for the Renmark Paringa Lyrup district.

Despite our dedication we have been unable to deliver on our programmed activities in the last 12 months because we have been unable to secure ongoing financial support to keep our organisation operating.

Our membership fees afford us to keep up regular contact with our members, maintain a social media presence and offer business training sessions, but it does not afford us to run any of the big strategic goals and initiatives we have on standby that would really give value to our members.

Without the capacity to deliver any meaningful and high-visibility initiatives, our members are feeling disappointed that they are not getting the value they deserve, and our board members are disheartened that they are not allowed to provide their fellow members with a satisfying experience.

Therefore, the board of the RPN has decided, with heavy hearts, that we must enter a period of hibernation where we put all operations on hold. During this period, we must find answers to two important questions:

- Does the business community want an organisation such as the RPN to exist to advocate for them, and throw its support behind initiatives and projects currently within its strategic plan or in some other form?
- Will this show of support and strength in member support allow the RPN to access a more ongoing source(s) of revenue that will allow it to deliver upon what it promises its members?

The board believe without answering these two questions that a Business Network or Chamber of Commerce, whatever you would like to call it, will stand little chance of success, being constantly stuck in the cycle of trying to find funding to assist, strengthen and grow our town and its business community, and possibility coming up short which then erodes member confidence, membership growth, and the “buy-in” needed from all stakeholders.

Sincerely,
THE BOARD
Renmark Paring Business Network
Remembering Gaston

TWENTY years ago the Gaston report recommended that there should be one central hospital at Berri – even though Barmera is the centre of the Riverland – and all the other Riverland hospitals should close.

There were worrying conversations about it in every affected community. At that time I was on chemotherapy, being administered at the Barmera Hospital. My neighbor, Maxine Thiele, was working as a district nurse around the Barmera area, and my father was one of her patients.

At the end of each day she would come and have a cup of coffee with me and agonise about the anxiety of patients out in the blocks who relied on the goodwill of friends and neighbors for transport. I made notes of our discussions.

We discussed the isolation of the elderly put into residential care in another town, when there wasn’t even a bus service between Riverland towns. Soon after a service began, but I understand it isn’t often enough now.

Then a friend, Judy Andison, rang and asked if I had seen the notice in The Murray

Pioneer about a public meeting the coming week following the Riverland Health Services (RHS) AGM. It was a tiny notice on the bottom of the notice for the RHS AGM.

I said I hadn’t, and I hadn’t been able to get a copy of the Gaston Report either. She said she had one, which I borrowed and very quickly read. Using notes of my discussions with Maxine I wrote a letter, that ended by urging residents to attend the public meeting, and I faxed it off to The Murray Pioneer and local radio and TV stations. This prompted interviews on radio and the nightly local TV news with me, as president of the Barmera branch of Australian Red Cross.

This resulted in a very rowdy crowd making their opposition heard at the Barmera public meeting.

We kept our hospital, though they reduced it, but importantly we kept our doctors, who moved their surgery into the east wing of the hospital, thereby also closer to the elderly in residential care.

There are so many people working in those Barmera facilities now, so many cars parked around those facilities now that doctors running late with their appointments may cause parking scarcity, like around the big Berri Riverland General Hospital.

Since the Gaston report we’ve had a pandemic and a river in flood. Just as well we fought to keep our hospitals 20 years ago and rejected Gaston’s recommendations.

So a big salute of gratitude: to protestors past, and to health professionals past and present.

Workforce gap hurting the regions

AGED care providers in rural and regional Australia need urgent staffing support, as the Labor Government fails to make any headway with their serious workforce shortfall.

Evidence during recent Senate Estimates showed that the Labor Government is still overseeing an aged care workforce gap of 4043 registered nurses for the 2024-25 financial year.

This workforce gap looms over the sector as the next tranche of the government’s staffing requirements comes into effect on 1 October.

In just a few months’ time, aged care providers will be required to find even more additional staff – in the midst of a workforce crisis – in order to provide an average of 215 care minutes per resident, per day, including 44 minutes of direct RN care.

It is rural and regional Australia where we know there are extremely shallow workforce markets, that will be most impacted by the government’s workforce gap.

I had the privilege of visiting an aged care home in Whyalla, where residents told me how fortunate they feel to have access to a local facility that allows them to receive the care they need in their home town, remaining connected to friends and loved ones.

With the new October care minutes looming over the sector, at the same time the Department has admitted to a serious workforce shortfall, the government must take urgent action to protect aged care access in communities like Whyalla.

While the government’s made the decision to allow 10 per cent of the new care minute requirements to be provided by enrolled nurses, more needs to be done to give provider’s flexibility and support.

The government and the Aged Care Quality and Safety Commission need to put appropriate safeguards in place that recognises shallow workforce markets, particularly for aged care homes in the bush.

Otherwise, we know that they will be risking even further home closures under their watch.

It is so essential that older Australians living in the bush are not forced to move thousands of kilometres away, leaving their loved ones behind.

Report illegal vape sales

SOUTH Australians are being urged to report illegal tobacco and vape sales, as part of a new push to tackle the growing problem.

With Consumer and Business Services (CBS) formally taking over the licensing and enforcement of tobacco and vape sales, the consumer watchdog has asked for public help in identifying dodgy dealers.

While it’s still early days, we are committed to making a difference in this field.

Getting the public involved – by reporting suspected illegal operations – will be essential, both in terms of raising awareness of the risks of purchasing these products as well as gathering vital intelligence to help guide our work.

The government has invested $16m over four years in additional resources for CBS, with recruitment now underway for additional staff to boost its licensing and enforcement capability.

CBS is currently assessing intelligence from a range of sources, and is encouraging consumers to report suspected illicit or unlicensed tobacco and vape sales can report online (www.cbs.sa.gov.au/tobacco).

Helping families find closure

RIGHT now we are witnessing the highest levels of human displacement on record.

More than 114 million people around the world have been forcibly displaced because of persecution, conflict, violence, and human rights violations.

Within this mass movement of people fleeing danger, many seeking safety fall through the cracks.

In 2023, the number of registered missing people globally was 212,000. This is not just a statistic, it represents well over 212,000 families, friends, and loved ones living in constant limbo, uncertain about the fate of someone they deeply care for.

This is a global issue of enormous proportions, and sadly, there are thousands more who remain unregistered. Every hour however, the fate or whereabouts of one missing person is clarified with the help of the global Red Cross Red Crescent Restoring Family Links (RFL) network.

The RFL service has been running for almost 110 years in Australia, and every day we see the great power in restoring family connection.

During Refugee Week, we take the opportunity to celebrate the contributions of people with refugee backgrounds and reflect on the importance of their connection to family.

Finding Freedom: Family is this year’s Refugee Week theme and a chance to reflect on our country’s long-standing history of supporting refugees, offering safety to over 950,000 people since World War II.

For many of us in Australia, the privilege of safety and stability makes it hard to comprehend that millions of people across the world are forced to embark on dangerous journeys seeking nothing more than safety and freedom – a journey that often leads to separation from loved ones and everything they had once called home.

Events over recent years have served as a reminder for all of us of the importance of family and social connection.

For many refugees, being separated from their families increases the likelihood of poor mental health and makes it harder to settle and build a new life.

Find missing or separated family members is one of the many ways Australian Red Cross supports refugees.

In 2022, through the RFL network, 12,519 persons were located globally. In Australia, we actively sought 1,912 people through our global family links network, resolving 82 cases where the missing person was located, or we were able to determine their fate, offering closure to those families.

We should all hope for a world where everyone is able to maintain connection with their loved ones and be protected against being separated or going missing.

Families will never stop searching, we won’t stop helping. If you’d like to find out more about RFL, or if you want to talk to one of our team at Australian Red Cross about helping you find a missing loved one overseas, visit the website (redcross.org.au).

Turf funding under attack

There seems to be a perception from the Renmark Paringa and Loxton Waikerie councils that the Riverland turf facility for Berri isn't viable to them.

TEXT LINE

Firstly, I say well done to ‘Gary’ of Waikerie for interacting with his local paper, including his Text Line contribution about Jono Beech last week (3/7/24). The Pioneer is still the top forum for local debate. However, I fear Gary’s view is a little under-informed. Jono Beech played the last of his three AFL games in 2017, and when delisted continued playing for SANFL club West Adelaide. Jono is nearly 34 years old. He was born and raised in Barmera, and played juniors for Barmera-Monash, where his dad, Mick, is a legendary past player. Jono still has close family in Barmera. By coming back to the RFL this season, Jono is giving back to his home club and community – he’s that kind of fella. Also, he’s hardly Robinson Crusoe. It wasn’t that many years ago, Gary, when Mark Ricciuto did exactly the same at Waikerie – and Mark had played 312 AFL games, won a premiership and landed the AFL’s top individual honour, the Brownlow Medal. Plenty of similarly-credentialled players as Jono have returned to their RFL clubs, and the Riverland competition – including the locals who get to play alongside them – has been the richer for it.

MP Loxton

With reference to Gary of Waikerie, and Jono Beech playing for BMFC in the RFL, I would like to remind Gary that Waikerie FC has had its share of quality players representing their club in the past. Two names at the top of the list include Kym Lehmann and Michael ‘Flash’ Graham, two very good former SANFL players from North Adelaide and Sturt, respectively. Kym played in Waikerie’s A grade premiership in 1974 and it would be marvellous if Jono replicated that success 50 years later playing for Barmera-Monash.

BAZ Barmera

Gary of Waikerie, yes Barmera is having a successful year, can’t you just be happy instead of complaining? Barmera A grade won last year’s premiership. Barmera also played in four out of five grand finals last year, resulting in three flags. I don’t think you can associate that with Jono playing in As this year. Waikerie has had its fair share of wins. Let Barmera have theirs.

LINDA Barmera

In reply to Gary’s comment regarding ex-AFL players in the RFL, he says it’s remarkably unfair, but to actually name the player in your text is remarkably unfair. Do you remember the name Daniel Nobes? Not an ex-AFL player. Why was he in the RFL? Could the answer be monetary? You do not know why the player you mentioned came back to the RFL. Plenty of paper bags down your way.

RED T Renmark

It’s quite clear in my view that Loxton Waikerie council does not have a clear policy on corella control at all. To watch these birds destroy the manicured lawns, and attack and rip the trees apart, must be disappointing to the people that maintain them. How come they managed to rid Lake Bonney of them? Perhaps council should check it out, rather than say it’s a delicate issue.

NAIDOC weeks begins with excellence

MADISON EASTMOND

RIVERLAND NAIDOC week festivities began on Monday, with locals gathering to celebrate and recognise the history, culture, and achievements of the community’s indigenous peoples.

Large crowds kicked off a march from the Berri Senior Citizens Club to the Berri riverfront for an official opening, welcome to country, and flag raising.

“This is a day that is so important for Aboriginal people and the community as a whole,” pastor and local Voice to Parliament member Sheryl Giles said.

“Every step this morning is a step towards reconciliation.”

Celebrating the unyielding spirit of indigenous communities, the NAIDOC theme for 2024 was Keep the Fire Burning! Blak, Loud and Proud. Paying homage to the theme, the opening to the Riverland’s NAIDOC Week was marked by a performance from Tyreece Giles, 12, on the didgeridoo.

“We still practice culture in many ways. While the materials we use have been adapted to society, the practice is still important,” Ms Giles said.

“An example is that didgeridoo. Though it is made with polypipe, the sound and the purpose are still just as important.”

Berri Barmera mayor Ella Winnall said “as we gather to celebrate NAIDOC week, we recognise and honour the contributions of our First Nations people to our community and our nation,” in a speech for the event.

“Let us use this week to come together in unity and respect, and to learn from indigenous wisdom and amplify indigenous voices. Through understanding and appreciation, we can ensure that the fire of their culture continues to burn brightly for generations to come.”

The day’s events concluded with the community nominated and voted NAIDOC awards recognising local excellence, contribution, and achievement.

Indigenous ranger Amanda Morgan was acknowledged for her work on Calperum Station with the Caring for Country award.

“I have been doing it for about fifteen years,” Ms Morgan said.

“It was good to be acknowledged by the community and my people. It’s something to put up with the kid’s trophies.”

Teacher Shane Karpany was also awarded for his extensive cultural work in the community with the Lifetime Achievement of the year award.

“I am very honoured,” Mr Karpany said.

“At the schools where I work — Berri Primary, Monash Primary, and various schools around the Riverland — I teach about local Aboriginal culture and dreaming stories. They were the stories our elders taught us, so it’s about passing that on.

“It makes me so proud to share my culture and help bring reconciliation and everybody together.

“Nowadays kids have superheroes like Ironman, but for me my superheroes were my parents and I always just wanted to be like my dad. I have become what my dad really wanted (me) to become, and the award today is an acknowledgment of that.”

“This is a really important way for people to be recognised,” Mr Barnes said.

Senior business and culture partner to ac.care and state Voice member to Parliament Rob Wright said, “today has been awesome and celebrated well. It’s great to see heaps of young people involved and as award winners too!

NAIDOC Week will continue until Sunday 14 July and organisers and community members welcome all to come and enjoy the celebrations.

“NAIDOC is about getting everyone involved, not just the Aboriginal community. It’s really important to us to break down those barriers,” Mr Barnes said.

Renmark Paringa owed “significant amount” from houseboat business...

Damage to the houseboat support structure is among the reasons the slipway at the Liba Liba marina area has been out of operation since the flood. PHOTOS: supplied

A boat-load of issues

A RIVERLAND council has begun a debt collection process against a local houseboat business over “significant” owed funds.

An information only report with updates regarding ongoing negotiations between Renmark Paringa Council and Liba Liba Houseboats was included in council’s June ordinary meeting agenda.

The report states council has advised Liba Liba Houseboats its lease would “not be renewed past the current term date of 1 March 2025, and Renmark Paringa Council have requested Liba Liba provide a plan for exiting the lease, removing the infrastructure, and returning the site to (council)”.

The report also states “there is a significant amount owing” from Liba Liba Houseboats to council, and “despite repeated attempts, there has been no response” from operators.

Council then engaged ARMA Debt Resolution (ARMA) to recover the amount.

The report states Liba Liba Houseboats advised ARMA “the electricity is not working, and they are therefore unable to operate and do not want to enter into a payment arrangement”, however council advised on 7 June 2024 the debt collection process would progress.

An investigation through the Local Government Association Mutual Liability Scheme found Renmark Paringa Council had no liability for damage caused to electrical infrastructure at the area.

A structural condition assessment and a contour survey – arranged and paid for by Renmark Paringa Council – of the slipway at the marina were conducted, showing the following actions were required:

- ❑ Replace all railway tracks, including any rotted or uneven sleepers.
- ❑ Paint support structure in suitable corrosion-resistant coating.
- ❑ Undertake a follow-up inspection by a suitably qualified and experienced engineer once the above work is completed.
- ❑ Develop and implement operation and maintenance manual that addresses the WHS risks, operational requirements, and maintenance requirements.

- ❑ Undertake regular inspections of the structure to assess the condition, identify defects and address defects.

Council advised Liba Liba Houseboats it was a safety requirement that these recommendations be appropriately addressed prior to the slipway being recommissioned.

The council report stated “further updates will be provided as the matters progress”.

The Murray Pioneer has contacted the operators of Liba Liba Houseboats for comment.

Mayor crash closes Sturt Highway

TWO Riverland women, aged 20 and 57, were taken to hospital with non-life-threatening injuries following a car accident in Renmark last week.

Local emergency services attended a serious crash Thursday 4 July, after a Hyundai sedan and Toyota sedan collided just after 12.30 pm near Old Calperum on Sturt Highway.

MFS, SAPOL and SA Ambulance crews attended the scene and quickly worked to assess the severity of the situation.

The Sturt Highway was closed between Berri and Renmark while Riverland police investigated the circumstances surrounding the crash but was reopened later in the afternoon.

Police are asking for anyone who witnessed the crash to assist with the investigation.

Man injured in Waikerie Stobie pole collision

A 29-year-old Waikerie man was taken to hospital with minor injuries after the car he was driving collided with a power pole, in Waikerie, on Sunday evening.

Police said they were called to Ballantine Road at about 8.30pm after receiving reports of a car colliding with a Stobie pole and bringing down power lines.

A police spokesperson said the driver and sole occupant of the car was taken to hospital by ambulance where he was treated for minor injuries and had a sample of his blood taken.

SA Power Networks were called to the scene to commence repair works on the power lines.

Shades of Life exhibition to feature at Waikerie

DIFFERENT artistic techniques used by four Renmark artists will be featured in the ‘Shades of Life’ exhibition at the Waikerie Rain Moth gallery from 4 August until 30 September.

Tony Smith who has a studio in Lyrup is a member of the Royal Society of Arts and prior to becoming an artist was a river boat captain.

His skill is depicted in his fine drawings of river redgums using the difficult medium of pen and ink.

Smith’s fine drawings often take years to complete, and he has gained awards of excellence from the Royal Society of Arts for his work.

The acrylic painting of Che Woosman who grew up in the North West town of Dampier in Western Australia is featured.

Woosman is a qualified chef by trade who took up acrylic painting pouring about five years ago as a hobby.

He really enjoys the process and different techniques involved and this has progressed to abstract art which is now his passion.

“I love the colours and the way art can inspire you and engender feeling by looking at it,” he said.

The works of Colleen Munday, who was born in Loxton and now resides in Renmark, will also be featured at the Waikerie exhibition.

Munday is a self-taught artist who works mainly with acrylic paints and has recently resumed painting after a break of three decades.

She finds her inspiration in the natural landscapes of the Riverland.

Painting gives her a sense of joy and fulfilment and she is constantly learning and refining her skills.

The fourth artist to be featured is Sev Johnson who was born and raised in the Riverland and recently relocated back to Renmark after a 20-year absence.

She is a self-taught collage artist who paints with paper.

Johnson has been creating collages since 2017 after being inspired by collage art online.

She became addicted to the collage technique and her work has been displayed at various venues in Tasmania and the Riverland.

Her inspiration comes from the bush landscape and other natural elements.

Paper collage is often referred to as painting with paper.

Her collages are created with torn scraps of paper strategically arranged and glued onto a stretched canvas to create the final image.

‘Shades of Life’ will open at Waikerie’s Rain Moth gallery on Sunday 4 August at 2 pm and continue until 30 September.

Journal feature for local Loxton student

A LOCAL high school student is now a published author, with her work featured in a worldwide journal.

Loxton High School student Ava Knowing, 17, recently had her work about her great-great-grandfather, George Hodson, published in the South Australian Genealogist journal.

Mr Hodson fought in World War II and was a prisoner of war when he drowned at sea, aged 37.

Miss Knowing researched Mr Hodson extensively for a school assignment and was able to provide her great-grandmother with information about his life, war history and death.

The journal is sent to the state library and National Library of Australia.

It is also distributed to family history and historical societies around the world, including in Canada, New Zealand, England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales.

Miss Knowing said she hopes the recent journal publication is the first of many as she hopes to publish a book in coming years.

The PB Curlew was among about 30 boats unable to cross into NSW to take part in the Wentworth Junction Rally. PHOTOS: supplied

Dozens of boats unable to take part in rally event

CHRISTINE WEBSTER

THE owners of about 30 boats found themselves moored around Renmark after a build-up of silt and low River Murray levels in two areas prevented them from travelling to Wentworth, in south-west NSW, for a popular rally.

Owners of the PB Curlew, Jim and Heather Maywald, from Good Hope Landing, east of Waikerie, said it was disappointing for the boat owners who were unable to pass though Warrakoo and an area below Lock 7 to take part in last weekend’s Wentworth Junction Rally.

“There are a couple of tricky spots where the river is shallow from sand deposits and the vessels can’t get through,” Mr Maywald said.

“Since the flood it has gotten worse,” he said.

Mr Maywald and his wife left Waikerie on 24 June and found themselves unable to reach Wentworth.

“About 18 paddle wheelers were travelling up from SA and various other houseboats and cruisers,” he said.

Among the boats were several from Mannum that started their journey around 17 June.

On 26 June, the Maywalds and several other boats who were in the same predicament decided to moor at Renmark instead.

“It was a bit awkward with all the riverfront development underway,” Mr Maywald said.

The couple and other boat operators spent last week in Renmark visiting the Woolshed Brewery and Chowilla Station, before making their way back home to Good Hope Landing.

Mr Maywald said groynes that had been placed along the River Murray, during the early years of the paddle boat industry, were no longer pushing water into the navigation channels.

He said it was unfortunate water management authorities were unable to clear the channels to allow SA boaties to travel to Wentworth.

“We have been told they would have to double the flow of the river to clear the area below Lock 7 to allow the water to go through,” he said.

“It is a sad situation that they can’t clear a couple of channels for us.

“It is not rocket science. If the flood has deposited the sand, let’s remove it so that boats can still navigate along the river.”

Mr Maywald said it was also disappointing for the organisers of the Wentworth Junction Rally, with numerous boats from SA wanting to take part.

“They would not have had the number of boats they had hoped taking part in the event,” he said.

The Murray-Darling Basin Authority (MDBA) said it actively looks for opportunities to support recreational events.

“We publish our annual operating outlook and provide river flows on our website as well as outlining how we are operating each week in the River Murray weekly report to support community events,” an MDBA spokesperson said.

Water authorities pledge support to boat users

THE Murray Darling Basin Authority (MDBA) and Transport for NSW Maritime have indicated their support to boat users unable to traverse the River Murray from SA into NSW due to a blocked navigational channel.

The MDBA said it actively looks for opportunities to support recreational events and align with other objectives and outcomes that states wish them to achieve.

About 30 boats were unable to pass through Lock 7 to enter NSW and take part in the Wentworth Junction Rally last weekend.

“We publish our annual operating outlook and provide river flows on our website as well as outlining how we are operating each week in the River Murray weekly report to support community events,” a MDBA spokesperson said.

It said Transport for NSW Maritime was the agency responsible for navigation on this stretch of the river.

Transport for NSW Maritime said it was aware of the reduced width and depth of the navigable channel at this location, and had issued a Marine Notice to warn vessels operators in the area.

“We are working with partner agencies including managers of the riverbed in this location, and Murray River water resources broadly, to better understand the cause of the sand build up at this location,” a Transport for NSW Maritime spokesperson said.

The spokesperson said they would investigate if natural processes would rectify the issue without the need for further intervention.

“Transport for NSW Maritime does acknowledge the impact that this sand build up is having on vessel operators and we hope to see a return to normal vessel operating conditions in the near future,” the spokesperson said.

New planning rules a ‘better preparation’ for flood events

HUGH SCHUITEMAKER

NEW planning rules are aimed at mitigating the impacts of future flood events on shack communities, including those in the Riverland West.

The State Government last month introduced the River Murray Flood Resilience Code Amendment, aimed at providing guidance to “rebuild more flood-resilient developments”.

Chaffey MP Tim Whetstone said the amendments would improve the development of structures with lower levels.

“I want to make sure it’s not a bureaucratic nightmare to rebuild on a flood zone,” Mr Whetstone said.

“We have a wide and varied landscape, so this planning amendment was a bit of a blanket approach. I was pretty happy with the outcome, (but) it won’t please everybody.

“A lot of the heartache and damage from the flood was from people with enclosed lower levels... (and) it has made it pretty tough to insure.”

Mr Whetstone said it was necessary to ensure new developments were better protected against potential future flood events.

“It’s better preparing us for the next flood,” he said.

“I want to see that we are more resilient. As regional communities we need to be more resilient than living in the city, and I’m hoping these planning amendments will help us do that.

Riverland-based MLC Nicola Centofanti said further infrastructure projects needed to be finished for flood recovery to be complete.

“We welcome the changes to the planning rules for housing along the River Murray,” Dr Centofanti said.

“It is important to ensure our communities build infrastructure that is resilient against future flooding events, however, given the Minister (for Planning, Nick Champion) is – in his own words – keen to help the Riverland community and other river communities “build back better”, I would encourage the minister to ensure that his government supports other outstanding flood-recovery infrastructure projects with practical resources.”

Amendments to the Planning and Design Code include the following for rebuilding in flood-affected areas:

- ❑ Minimum floor height along the river is based on updated one-in-100-year flood event data
- ❑ 4m is prescribed as an acceptable – rather than a maximum – finished floor level height
- ❑ An increase to 5m for the overall roof height above the finished floor level and overall building height to 9m
- ❑ Updated resilient design and material requirements for underfloor structures, including installing roller doors or similar on all four sides of any enclosed area to ensure floodwaters can pass freely
- ❑ Glass doors being listed as an unacceptable solution for external material in under-floor areas

- ❑ Streamlined assessments for sheds, carports and garages that are located behind a riverfront dwelling, removing previous red tape
- ❑ A requirement for open space areas to be maintained around underfloor storage areas, with the maximum storage area increased to 60m2, from 15m2
- ❑ Rezoning the flood-affected shack settlement at Paisley to the Rural Shack Settlement Zone to assist development applications and rebuild efforts

Minister for Planning Nick Champion said feedback from flood-affected communities, councils, state government agencies, and the building and construction industry, helped develop the amendments.

“These changes will provide clear and consistent design standards to help communities rebuild,”

“We need new houses to be built to a high standard so that if there is another significant flood event, the impact will be significantly less.

“River communities are an important part of regional South Australia and it’s important we make these changes to help them build back better.”

Further information regarding the amendments is available by visiting the website (www.plan.sa.gov.au/have_your_say/code-amendments/finalised).

Councils secures funding to explore housing potential

CHRISTINE WEBSTER

THE Federal Government has provided nearly $341,000 to the Mid Murray Council and $150,000 to Loxton Waikerie council to fast-track housing developments in both districts.

A total of 80 projects across Australia have received a share of the national $1.5bn Housing Support Program.

Mid Murray Mayor Simone Bailey told The Murray Pioneer the funding would enable council to kick start its growth, management and housing strategy.

“This is a key project that is part of council’s 2024-28 strategic plan, that we recently endorsed,” she said.

Ms Bailey said the council would also invest $80,000 towards the project in the form of in-kind project management.

She said it would enable council to investigate which areas were best to invest in and the type of infrastructure that would be required.

The project will identify potential growth areas in 11 towns including Mannum, Morgan, Tungkillo, Blanchetown, Swan Reach, Sedan, Truro, Keyneton, Cadell, Palmer and Cambrai.

“Detailed township plans will be developed, and a state-of-the-art spatial mapping tool will also be used,” Ms Bailey said.

“This will allow council to be strategic when planning assets and infrastructure to support sustainable growth across our community,” she said.

“This strategy will seek to address the current housing crisis by identifying growth areas, employment and residential land supply and demand across individual towns..

- Simone Bailey

Ms Bailey said across the council district housing was in “incredibly high demand”.

“Council isn’t a developer, so we have been limited in finding solutions to improve access to housing in our area,” she said.

“Now, thanks to the Australian Government’s investment in our region through the Housing Support Program, council can create a plan for the future that provides a blueprint for sustainable, achievable housing growth across the Mid Murray district.”

Ms Bailey said the project would also help inform the State Planning Commission in preparing its regional plan for the area.

“This strategy will seek to address the current housing crisis by identifying growth areas, employment and residential land supply and demand across individual towns,” she said.

Ms Bailey said it would also provide an understanding of the development challenges and opportunities in the district.

“All of this information and planning will show us where new housing and employment land could best be located over the next 20 years.”

Ms Bailey said the project would position council to ensure its assets and infrastructure supported planned growth.

“It would ultimately fast-track housing construction and lead to increased housing choice and diversity,” she said.

Mid Murray Council will start working on the strategy in August 2024 and finalise it by May 2025.

Ms Bailey said community engagement would occur during the process to enable local input into the strategy.

Loxton Waikerie council’s $150,000 Federal Government grant will be part of a $210,000 project to develop and deliver master plans, design documentation and development applications in Loxton, Loxton West and Waikerie.

Prime Minister Anthony Albanese said the Housing Support Program was an important part of the Federal Government’s $32bn Homes for Australia plan, which is building more homes across Australia.

“A place to call home is not a luxury or a nice-to-have, but a fundamental need, and our Homes for Australia plan is making this a reality for more Australians,” he said.

Paul Murray (pictured in Renmark recently) and other Sky News personalities can no longer be seen on free-to-air TV across the Riverland, after Sky’s affiliation agreement with WIN Television ended last week.

Riverland ‘deserves better’ than Sky News withdrawal

RIVERLAND free-to-air TV viewers suddenly deprived of Sky News Regional – as of last week – “deserve better”, a state MP says.

People across the Riverland and the state’s South-East – plus sections of NSW – lost access to Sky News Regional on Monday 1 July after Sky’s affiliation agreement with WIN Television ended.

It means popular opinion programs like Outsiders, The Bolt Report, Sharri, The Kenny Report and Paul Murray Live are no longer available to viewers in these areas, along with the raft of news offerings on Sky.

One Nation MLC Sarah Game said the decision was a slap in the face to locals looking for some political balance in their everyday viewing.

“I consider Sky News one of the most important news and opinion services across Australia’s media landscape, providing crucial balance to the rest of our media,” said Ms Game, an SA-based politician in the state’s upper house.

“I have heard my supporters in the regions impacted by this decision, including the Riverland, are most upset about losing the Sky free-to-air service.

“Not everyone can afford to pay for their news service, whether that be via streaming subscriptions, Foxtel, or other means.”

The Murray Pioneer understands WIN Television’s decision was made for economic reasons, including a Federal Government spectrum tax, which industry figures say is outdated and unjustified.

“Firstly I would encourage WIN Television to explore every option available that might enable them to reverse this decision, though I understand commercial enterprises exist to make money,” Ms Game said.

“Also, I call on SA Labor to amp up pressure on their federal counterparts to open their eyes to the plight of regional media.”

The withdrawal of Sky News Regional coincided with two free-to-air TV channels being switched off in Mildura as of July 1. The closure of the Mildura Digital Television service will now be the subject of a Senate inquiry. “I am well aware of the financial challenges facing the regional broadcast landscape, including the cessation of Mildura Digital Television earlier this year, resulting in the Victorian town of Mildura now being without a Ten signal,” Ms Game said.

“However, only last week the Albanese government unexpectedly threw a last-minute lifeline to keep Network Ten on air for half a million Western Australians.

“I’m calling on the Federal Government to display similar empathy for the thousands and thousands of regional South Australians impacted by the sudden loss of the Sky News channels.”

The Paul Murray Live Show broadcast live from Renmark in late April, while Ms Game has appeared on several Sky News shows since being elected in 2022, including being interviewed by Sky News stars Andrew Bolt and Rita Panahi.

Free TV Australia said regional television in Australia had “hit a crisis point”.

The group called for the introduction of a new plan to make regional TV broadcasting sustainable and also urged the Albanese Government to step in.

“With content spend going up, and revenue going down, the costs of providing regional TV services across the wide Australian land mass are a serious concern – particularly when you consider the excessive spectrum tax they pay every year,” said Free TV CEO Bridget Fair.

“The tax was introduced as a temporary measure in 2017 and should have been abandoned years ago.

“The solutions to keeping the lights on for regional TV are squarely in the hands and control of the Albanese Government.”

Free TV is calling on the government to abolish the spectrum tax and amend the Prominence and Anti-Siphoning Bill to ensure that “all Australians can watch their live and free sport no matter how they get their free TV, and can find their local TV services on their current TV sets without needing to buy a new one”.

Free TV also wants the government to review regulatory imposts on commercial TV stations that do not apply to digital competitors that sell advertising against them – such as licence area restrictions and rules that limit ownership arrangements.

Sky News recently introduced its own streaming service, which is available for $5 per month (SkyNews.com.au). Sky’s website is free to access for stories and some videos, while Sky News Radio also provides free audio of its TV shows.

Minister for Communications, Hon Michelle Rowland, said the Federal Government was unable to salvage the service for locals.

“The Australian Government recognises the importance of a diverse and sustainable media sector, and the key role that news media outlets play in keeping communities informed,” Ms Rowland told The Murray Pioneer.

“(However), this is a commercial decision for Sky News and WIN TV, and the Government does not seek to intervene.”

The Federal Government’s recent seven-year extension of the agreement to provide the Viewer Access Satellite Television (VAST) service is the reason funding is being provided to carry the Network 10 signal in Western Australia. VAST is a taxpayer-funded safety net for remote and regional Australia, with more than 1.5 million Australians receiving commercial broadcasting services via the satellite service.

New SARM scheme for young doctors to complete training in rural South Australia

YOUNG doctors training in the Riverland have increased access to medical services for locals.

Medical education in rural areas has become a key element in healthcare access to residents within the Riverland, and presents doctors with the opportunity to join the rural workforce, delivering career opportunities for existing ones and improving access to quality healthcare.

The new South Australia Rural Medical Program (SARM) allows medical students to undertake their entire training in the Riverland.

Flinders University deputy dean Claire Drummond said the initiative was aimed at “tackling the critical shortage of doctors in regional areas”.

“Our rural medical program will play a critical role in addressing doctor shortages in SA country areas, with studies showing that the best prospect for keeping and attracting doctors to rural Australia is to offer training and placements in those areas,” Prof Drummond said.

Research shows students who choose to study in rural areas are more likely to work in regional cities, small towns or communities when they graduate.

“We want to immerse our medical students in these regional areas for training so that they can see firsthand the wonderful aspects of living and working in a welcoming rural community,” Prof Drummond said.

The new program and funding will allow the university to expand its education area, meaning students can undertake their entire four years of study in the Riverland.

The SARM program will be available to 46 students per year from 2025.

“Our goal is to graduate cohorts of locally trained doctors who are well-rounded, understand the impact of social factors on health, and incorporate cultural sensitivity into their daily practice,” Prof Drummond said.

Starting in 2025, priority admission for the SARM Program is for residents of rural South Australia, Aboriginal and/or Torres Strait Islander applicants and applicants from interstate with rural backgrounds.

Students see Barmera history comes to life

A GROUP of local school students has been learning about the rich military history of Barmera and its surrounding areas.

Year 9 students from Rivergum Christian College recently traversed the Barmera Military Walking Trail, as part of a collaboration between the school, Barmera RSL and the land custodians, Berri Barmera Council.

Aided by the RSL branch and the local libraries and using strategically placed QR codes, the class is researching military sites in the Riverland.

“Students spent (time) completing the Barmera Military Walking Trail, led by RSL representative, Annie Wilden,” said Rivergum Christian College principal, Jessica Clark.

“Students were accompanied by year 8 photography students, who collected photos of the landmarks, improving their photography skills, guided by teacher and professional photographer, Jannette Fulham.

Students have been amazed by the rich history of the Riverland, and look forward to sharing their research to the wider community at the completion of the project...

- Jessica Clark

“Students were able to experience the walking trail firsthand, and deepen their understanding of the Barmera landmarks.

“Students have been amazed by the rich history of the Riverland, and look forward to sharing their research to the wider community at the completion of the project.”

Ms Clark said Rivergum was excited to engage its students in the project.

Ms Wilden, project officer for the Barmera RSL and walking trail tour guide, said the initiative aimed to link the many existing monuments, landmarks and information sources.

“The project is a unique way of facilitating and engaging school students to research and link major wartime historic sites with QR codes to access online research resources,” Ms Wilden explained.

“Supported by Berri Barmera Council library manager Peter Ison, the project commenced in term 2 and will progress throughout 2024, and maybe beyond.”

Sites on the tour included the war memorial trough, Soldier Settlement Memorial Hall, Bert Whitmore WW1 LightHorsemen and war cannon monument, Barmera Oval memorial gates, cross of sacrifice, and more.

Magpies mark 50-year grand final anniversary

CHRISTINE WEBSTER

WAIKERIE'S 1974 Riverland Football League's premiership team celebrated 50 years since their victory against Loxton North with a reunion last weekend. About 30 people, consisting of members of the former A grade team and their partners, attended a dinner at the Waikerie Hotel, on Friday night, to mark the milestone.

The gathering was organised by retired Magpie players Gary Pfeiler and Graham McConnell, who were part of the team that broke Waikerie's 38-year premiership drought. Souvenir placemats for the event featured the front page of the River News, celebrating the Magpies grand final victory in September 1974 on one side, and on the other side an article by the former editor John Pick vividly describing each quarter of the game. Mr Pfeiler said the placemats helped former premiers recall how they achieved their victory against the Panthers. "They could read about who did what during the game," he said. "It was a good night." Waikerie also played Loxton North across all grades on Saturday at the Magpie's nest and won all their games, making the reunion even more momentous.

About 20 of those taking part in the reunion also gathered at centre wing at the Waikerie Soldiers Memorial Oval on Saturday to watch the Magpies play. "The weekend reached above all expectations," Mr Pfeiler said. One of the former Waikerie premiership players who attended the reunion was Don Guerin, who taught Magpies A grade coach Mick Kilsby when he was at school in Goolwa.

"Kilsby suggested to him that he would make sure that the team would win for us 'old fellas'," Mr Pfeiler said. Mr Pfeiler said the reunion participants were also impressed when they visited the Waikerie Community Hub construction site. "They all want to come to the opening," he said. The Waikerie Community Hub is expected to be completed by November.

Former Magpies player Barry Buckskin SNR and his daughter Lee-Ann Buckskin attended the 1974 Waikerie Premiershhip reunion dinner on Friday night.

Reminiscing about the Magpies 1974 RFL premiership were Pam Kent (left) and former Waikerie A grade players Ian Light and Phillip Neilson at the Waikerie Hotel on Friday.

Riverland tour for 'Legless and Blind'

HUGH SCHUITMAKER

THE importance of discussing mental health challenges was highlighted to Riverlanders by a well-known charity. The Ski for Life Mates on a Mission initiative, conducted by Mike Rolls and Ben Pettingill, also known as 'Legless and Blind', recently held numerous sessions at Riverland schools and sporting clubs.

Mr Pettingill said connections to the Ski for Life event promoted Riverland participation in the initiative. "I think being a Ski for Life program... and having that existing relationship throughout the Riverland (meant) there was definitely an appetite from the community," Mr Pettingill said. "It was very grateful and excited that a charity that skis through every year was then putting a program on for the community, and giving back to a community that has supported the event for a number of years. "We spent a full day at all the high schools, then we had the community events that were really well supported as well, with great turn outs and really powerful, impactful conversations off the back of it."

Mr Pettingill said the will-

ingness to speak about mental health openly was increasing in regional communities. "It's getting there (but) I think there's a stigma that still exists, and that's why we'll keep doing what we're doing," he said. "The hard part is the numbers of lives we lost to suicide in 2022, that hasn't necessarily changed... however I don't think you can ever put a number on it, and you'll never know the lives you save through those conversations, because people don't know had bad they would have gotten if they hadn't have spoken up. "We've had a lot conversations where people have said 'thanks for the session, I'm going to seek professional help'... so you can only hope it's making a difference. "Getting tough people to talk about tough stuff is what the program is all about, and doing it in a real and down-to-earth way, and having a laugh as we do it. We're trying to make people comfortable as we have those difficult conversations." School sessions were held at Waikerie High School, Swan Reach Area School, Berri Regional Secondary College, Renmark High School, and St Francis of Assisi Renmark, with community events held at the Waikerie Football Club, Renmark Rovers Football Club, Barmera-Monash Football Club, and Berri Football Club. Mr Pettingill said promoting responsible discussion of mental health challenges among young people was an ongoing goal. "The youth programs equip our next generation with proactive tools to not only look after their own mental health, but support that of their peers, and to not be afraid to put an arm around someone and say 'how are you going?'," he said. "They can talk about the hard parts of life, and I think that's important, because there's more than enough pressure growing up for young people, and bottling it up isn't going to help." Mr Pettingill said other Riverland sports clubs and community groups could apply through Ski for Life to host Mates on a Mission sessions. "If they are connected to Ski for Life, clubs and community groups can apply for a similar program, otherwise there is Ski for Life grants available as well that can support getting us to the town," he said.

Community consultation needed for Riverland Water Safety plan

RIVERLANDERS are encouraged to offer consultation and feedback on the Riverland Water Safety Strategy by 31 July. Aimed at reducing drowning incidents in the Riverland, the draft strategy results from a collaboration led by the Royal Life Saving Australia, involving input from 33 stakeholders from various organisations committed to drowning prevention and water safety in the region.

“The 2024 Water Safety Roundtable involved representatives from government, local councils, lifesaving, emergency services, ambulance, police, water corporation, aquatic facilities, and holiday parks,” Royal Life Saving South Australia chief executive officer Jake Culkin said.

“The dedication and co-operation from all stakeholders involved has been remarkable and shows the level of commitment the Riverland’s community has to water safety and drowning prevention in the region.”

“The strategy highlights key priorities and outlines goals to improve water safety and prevent further, unnecessary drowning deaths.”

A 2023 Royal Life Saving report highlighted the Murray River as the leading inland waterway blackspot for drowning in Australia. The Riverland holds a fatal drowning rate 50 per cent higher than the national average and more than double the rate for the rest of South Australia, with 17 deaths recorded between July 2002 and June 2023.

Riverland stakeholders convened in Renmark in May, to workshop and co-design the Riverland Water Safety Strategy, reinforcing a collective commitment to preventing drowning in the region.

Key goals of the strategy include:

- Ongoing Collaboration: Strengthening and expanding the River Murray Safety Working Group to ensure consistent support for co-operative efforts.

- State Policy Engagement: Advocating for increased marine compliance resources for the Riverland and aquatic facility infrastructure support.
- Joint Campaigns and Messaging: Partnering to design and disseminate educational materials and safety messages with a unified voice to maximise impact.
- Swimming and Water Safety Skills: Enhancing and supporting programs that teach essential skills and knowledge, ensuring equitable access for all.

“The River Murray, Lake Bonney, and other open water locations in the Riverland region are vital to the community’s economic, social, and health outcomes,” South Australia Police SS1C Riverland operations Mark Howie said.

“We are very fortunate to have these beautiful waterways, which offer places for recreation and relaxation.”

“Unfortunately, the number of drowning deaths clearly demonstrates there is work to be done in improving water safety in this region. The Riverland Water Safety Strategy is crucial for safeguarding our community, and it is a step in the right direction to ensure that we provide safe enjoyment of these waterways to both residents and visitors.”

“No one knows this region better than our community members, so I strongly encourage them to support this strategy and provide feedback.”

The Riverland Water Safety Strategy is open for public consultation until 31 July 2024 using the Riverland Water Safety Strategy Draft Feedback Form (www.royallifesaving.com.au/)

NBN fibre upgrades underway at Waikerie

INFRASTRUCTURE construction company Fulton and Hogan has started the upgrade of the NBN fibre in Waikerie.

NBN Co regional development and engagement manager Travis Bates said about 850 homes and businesses would benefit from fibre upgrades in the area.

He said construction had started, with a view that customers should be able to place an order through an internet service provider of their choice by the end of the year.

Mr Bates said the fibre was inherently more capable of delivering faster upload and download speeds.

He said customers running more concurrent devices could upload and download files faster, experience higher-definition streaming, faster game downloads, and fewer interruptions.

“By pushing fibre deeper into communities NBN is further enabling the benefits its network brings,” Mr Bates said.

He said this included supporting online education, tele-health services, the ability to work from home, gaming and streaming, connecting more smart devices, and strengthening social inclusion.

Mr Bates said the NBN network was best placed to enable Australia’s digital future by facilitating access to high speed and capacity at scale.

Organisers of Morgan's Elf Magic event will hold a quiz night fundraiser, at the Morgan RSL Hall, on Saturday 3 August. PHOTOS: supplied

Quiz night in support of Morgan's magical elves

RIVERLANDERS can enjoy a night of trivia next month while supporting a local town's Christmas event. We're already into the second half of 2024 and the elves are busy fundraising so that the Elf Magic event, to be held in Morgan on Saturday 7 December, will continue to be free for children and their families. A quiz night will be held on Saturday 3 August, at 7pm, at the Morgan RSL Hall, with prizes to be won, including a door prize, a raffle, a trading table, silent auctions, open bar and nibbles on the tables. A fun night is guaranteed, and BYO basket supper if you wish. Tickets are $10 each and people are encouraged to get a group of eight together. We can also make arrangements for those who cannot fill a table. For tickets or more information contact Shirley Hissey on 0422 317 336. This will be a cash-only event, as the Morgan RSL does not have Eftpos facilities. Join us for a very entertaining evening and help raise funds so that we can bring the magic of Christmas to children and their families once again.

Local voices needed on telecommunications issues

RIVERLANDERS are encouraged to have their say on telecommunications issues with submissions to a federal government review closing in under a month.

Regional Telecommunications Independent Review Committee chair Alannah MacTiernan is urging locals to have their say via a short survey, before it closes on 31 July.

“This opportunity comes around only once every three years and the strength of each committee’s recommendations back to government – and the actions they take – are underpinned by the views of people living in regional, rural, and remote communities,” Ms MacTiernan said.

“People in regional, rural and remote Australia are relying on telecommunications services more than ever before and reliable, high-speed connectivity supports public safety, day-to-day business, social inclusion and access to essential health and education services.

“I would encourage every regional Australian to tell their friends, family, and colleagues about this opportunity and to get their own views in ahead of the closing date in a few short weeks.”

The committee, established to conduct the Australian Government’s Regional Telecommunications Review, is examining the experiences of people in regional, rural, and remote parts of Australia and the suitability of their telecommunications services.

Residents, businesses and community organisations can make a submission or complete the survey, with the terms of reference outlining key issues for the Committee to examine. An issues paper has also been released to shape ideas.

The input of local communities will form an essential part of the review, which will see the committee deliver its recommendations to the government.

Previous reviews have led to policy initiatives and programs such as the Mobile Black Spot Program and the National Audit of Mobile Coverage all a direct result of community feedback.

The terms of reference, set by Federal Minister for Communications, NSW-based MP Michelle Rowland, outline the key focus areas in the Review:

- ❑ Opportunities for new and emerging technologies to strengthen telecommunications systems in regional, rural and remote areas of Australia.
- ❑ The effectiveness of existing government initiatives.
- ❑ The Modernisation of the universal services arrangements.
- ❑ The Strengthening telecommunications in natural disasters.
- ❑ The extent to which the needs of First Nations communities are being met.

For more information on the Review, to make a submission, or to complete the survey, visit: (www.rtific.gov.au/consultation).

Prescribed burn success in Riverland

AUTUMN burning programs in regional parklands, including the Riverland, were aimed at limiting the spread and intensity of bushfires.

Conducted by the National Parks and Wildlife Service (NPWS), the program completed a total of 90 prescribed burn programs in the past 12 months.

Following a dry start to winter, the 2024 program continued into June.

Favourable weather conditions and long autumn season helped the NPWS to complete more burns than its long-term annual average.

NPWS Fire Management director Fiona Gill said burns completed in the past 12 months helped to reduce bushfire fuel loads.

“We fully acknowledge that the prolonged dry conditions through autumn were very challenging for SA’s agricultural sector, but they provided us with the right conditions to complete a high number of vital prescribed burns,” she said.

Nearly 60 burns were conducted in the Mount Lofty Ranges due to the region’s high population and number of national parks and reserves.

Other bushfire mitigation activities, such as slashing, weed control and fire track maintenance were carried out during autumn to reduce bushfire risk on public land.

Large burns were undertaken in Ngarkat Conservation Park in the Murraylands and critical areas of the Riverland.

Burns unable to be completed due to unsuitable weather are rolled over to the following spring or autumn as part of an ongoing, rolling three-year mitigation program.

The annual prescribed burn program is planned with the Bureau of Meteorology’s forecast and includes extra controlled burns to allow for flexibility and unfavourable weather conditions.

“Staff planned and prepared programs carefully and looked for every opportunity to undertake this important work, including performing burns which we had not been able to complete in previous years.” Ms Gill said.

South Australia’s prescribed burns are a shared responsibility between the Country Fire Service, government agencies that manage land (DEW, ForestrySA and SA Water), councils and private landholders.

Red Tree Services expanded to help grieving families

RIVERLAND families who have lost children unexpectedly can find support through initiatives of SIDS and Kids SA.

The State Government committed $800,000 over four years in 2022 to SIDS and Kids SA to expand its Red Tree Foundation grief counselling service. Red Tree Foundation aims to contact newly bereaved families within 72 hours of referral, providing counselling and support through home visits, telephone calls, telehealth, in-office and off-sites visits.

With a previous age limit of 6 years old, State support has allowed the organisation to offer support to families affected by the sudden and unexpected death of a child aged up to 17 years.

Hundreds more counselling sessions are being offered to bereaved family members, with counsellor hours increased and community support groups expanded. The funding now also allows the organisation to expand its support to wider family units, which includes grandparents, aunts, uncles, and friends of affected families, through organised community support groups, dinners, and community events.

In 2023, Red Tree Foundation was able to offer 2099 counselling sessions, a 73 per cent increase on the 1210 sessions provided in 2020. Additionally, the not-for-profit organisation provides education, training, and information about grief and loss, with the aim of promoting compassion and understanding around the loss of a baby, child, or teen.

“The response to the expanded services has been phenomenal. The additional funding has allowed us to help even more families, ensuring that support is always available for those who seek it,” Red Tree Foundation CEO Liza Jankowski said.

The majority of referrals come from SA Health hospitals, but families can also self-refer or be guided to the service through other organisations such as SAPOL.

RIVERLAND school students will have access to expanded music education programs through a state-wide initiative.

The State Government recently announced it will commit $7.5m in funding towards expanding music education in schools. With $2.5m contributed annually for the next three years, the initiative hopes to ensure every child and young person has access to quality music education from the early years.

The recently released Setting the tempo report identified the benefits of music and learning in the classroom. Conducting a survey from teachers and representatives from 115 public and primary schools, 97 per cent agreed that music improves students’ educational experience, while 94 per cent also saw a positive impact on literacy and numeracy skills, and reduced stress and anxiety among students.

However, many agreed that teacher training, dedicated facilities, and appropriate resources are lacking.

The extended investment will go towards buying more musical instruments for schools, extra training, upskilling non-specialist teachers to become music teachers and making music more accessible by having music spaces and rooms available at schools. The curriculum will include a music education that includes singing, playing a musical instrument, and song writing or composing.

“This research adds to the body of evidence linking music learning and students’ educational, developmental, and personal wellbeing outcomes,” The Tony Foundation’s music education executive director, Emily Albert, said.

“Now, we must ensure access to resources and the good practices adopted by many schools are equally applied to all in the state, so no student is left behind in their learning journey.”

Minister for Education, Blair Boyer, said “music education helps to develop thinking and learning skills, lifts literacy and numer-

“Starting quality music education early and continuing to deliver music learning and opportunities provides benefits throughout a child’s school life and beyond,” Mr Boyer said.

Local students share their culture

ON Friday 28 June, Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander students from Barmera Primary School, Glossop Community School, Loxton Primary School, Loxton North Primary School and Monash Primary and Preschool attended Berri Primary School to participate in a range of cultural activities.

Students participated in beading, dance, and Dreaming stories, learning more about their culture and building relationships with their peers.

This is the second gathering this year and will continue next term and beyond.

The aim of the program is for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander students to get together, sharing and learning more about their culture.

Renmark Lions Club 2024 handover report

THE Lions Club of Renmark held their annual AGM/Handover Dinner for president elect Paul Farr at the Hotel Renmark Function Room, on Saturday 29 June.

Approximately 40 members, partners and invited guests attended on the night.

Invited special guests in attendance included Renmark Paringa Council deputy mayor Margaret Howie, District cabinet secretary Cheryle Pedler and partner Scott, The Murray Pioneer editor Hugh Schuitemaker, and other past members, prospective members and community supporters of our club.

Mr Farr spoke of the club's achievements and activities during the year, including their successful fundraising efforts and donations of approximately $34,000, and thanked all members and partners for their support to him during his term as president.

He presented certificates of appreciation to selected club members and others for their special support to him and the club during the year, and to Print DNA and Elder's Renmark in recognition of their ongoing support to the Renmark Lions Club.

A highlight of the night was the presentation of the highest award given by Lions Clubs International (LCI), the Melvin Jones Fellowship, to long-standing members Sue and David Gates for their services to Lions and the community. Unfortunately, Mr Gates was in hospital and was unable to attend for his presentation.

Life Membership of the Lions Club of Renmark was also granted by LCI to Colin Pettigrew for his outstanding service to Lions, the club and the community. Honorary Membership of Renmark Lions Club was bestowed on several people – past members and others – who have assisted our club over the years.

U3A's goodbye to Riverland friend Meredith

THE Riverland U3A Art Group recently farewelled friend and tutor Meredith Dunn.

Meredith and her husband, John, are moving to Adelaide.

Meredith was an art tutor at U3A for nine years and her knowledge and skills, lino cutting and printing – being her specialty – will be greatly missed by the group.

She is also a member of the U3A Writing for Pleasure Group where her vivid imagination and sense of adventure with writing is enjoyed.

Language is a special interest and she has been part of the German and French Group.

The U3A management committee has also benefited from her commitment to the group's development.

Meredith's very creative and quirky nature will be missed by many Riverland U3A members.

Renmark Men's Probus Club monthly update

THE last meeting of the Renmark Men's Probus Club, held on Monday 17 June at Hotel Renmark, began with the official induction of one of our newest members, Neil Munday, by president Ian McLaren.

Our guest speaker was Sharyn Moll from Riverland Funerals, who gave us a wealth of information on every aspect of what is involved in the preparation and presentation of a funeral.

Next meeting is Monday 15 July, at Hotel Renmark Function Room and guest speaker will be our own member Brenton Morrell to talk on U3A (University of the Third Age) and his personal history.

Monday 19 August: Hotel Renmark Function Room and guest speakers will be our own members Kevin Schopp and Allan Maddocks.

If any member has some item they consider may be of interest to other members I would be only too happy to include it in the monthly newsletter.

Almoner: Our 'Almoner', Dean Evans, would appreciate if all members attending a meeting have the right change of $5 for morning tea and to wear their name badge. Also if you know of any member who is unwell please let Dean know.

Thought for the Day: Hope sees the impossible, feels the intangible and achieves the impossible.

Probus ladies hear keeping fit and healthy is the key

THE Waikerie Ladies Probus Club's June meeting focused on health and fitness, with guest speakers Hannah Lehmann and Helen Georges from the Berri Riverland Lymphoedema Clinic.

Many Riverlanders would be aware of Hannah's background and involvement in sport, particularly netball and basketball.

During Covid, Hannah completed fitness courses and then started training clients at her home.

Word of mouth spread and bigger premises were needed, so she moved her 1-4-1 Fitness business into the heart of town.

She now has about 25 personal training clients, and runs group sessions that include weight training and high-intensity activities.

She conducts riverside activities some Sunday mornings, has conducted boot camp sessions at the high school and occasional sessions for seniors.

Anyone interested in learning more can check Hannah's Facebook page.

She stressed work on maintaining muscle strength, balance, and co-ordination is desirable, while having also good social connections – like those Probus provides – as people age.

After morning tea, Helen, with associates Sue Frahn and Donna Markellos, spoke about lymphoedema.

This highlight what it is, how it impacts people, how it is treated and how the lymphatic system, which includes tonsils, adenoids, and the spleen, ensures fluid balances in people's bodies and contributes to their immune function by helping the body get rid of toxins and wastes.

The lymphatic system can be impacted by surgery, injury, chemotherapy, radiotherapy, sunburn and both hot and cold extreme temperatures.

If people develop symptoms, such as areas feeling heavy, skin feeling tight and even close to bursting point, some skin areas being extremely hot, pins and needles, darting pains, painful joints, and swelling, they need to see a doctor and get a referral to a specialist. Treatment includes pressure, pumps, and compression garments, such as gloves, sleeves, and stockings.

People with limited budgets can get financial assistance for the garments through the SA Lymphoedema Garment Subsidy Scheme.

One thing that can help lymphoedema specialists and other specialists is a SOZO machine, which is the world's most-advanced device used to test fluid and tissue in the body.

Helen invited Lyn Nitschke, from the Caroline Bristow Wig Library, to speak about the machine as the group, with the help of an Adelaide CWA group and a Riverland Lions Club, is trying to raise the funds needed to buy one to be placed in Helen's premises, instead of people having to travel to the Flinders Hospital.

A SOZO machine costs about $17,000. The machine measures muscle and bone mass, fat percentage, body fluid, protein and mineral content, basal metabolic rate and more. It can be used for athletes in training, for osteoporosis patients, to check how well people are recovering from surgery or illness, for rehabilitation, to monitor improvements over time or to check for deterioration and if early intervention is needed.

It sends a mild electrical current through the body via foot and hand pads. It is pain free but not suitable for people with pacemakers or other electrical implants, or pregnant women. It even generates reports that the therapists use to organise treatment.

There should be news soon about various fundraising activities which Lyn, Ellen Traeger and breast nurse Rebecca Semmens hope people will support.

The Probus group will next meet on 23 July, at 10am, at the Waikerie Club, for a lunch meeting.

Carole Walker will speak about Waikerie's street art and Pastor Julian Bayha will talk about his life and service. Guests are welcome. More information is available from Pat on 0419 858 437, or Chris on 0428 412495.

A white lie, a short story written by Anne Chase

WHEN Felicity was 13 and remembered the story of tuna mornay, she blamed her parents.

After all they were the ones who taught her to be polite.

In year four at Ridge Park Primary School, a new girl called Chrissy joined the class. Her father was an army officer and the two girls met on the first day of the school year when Felicity was asked by her teacher to take care of Chrissy, and show her around.

The two girls became close friends. They played in the same netball team and were members of the gymnastic club.

Chrissy came to Felicity's home for a sleepover after netball and about a month later Felicity was invited to Chrissy's home.

Tuna mornay was on the menu that first visit. At home Felicity barely tolerated tuna mornay, but this one also had sweetcorn. Fortunately there was a bread roll as well so she managed to just finish the mornay by alternating a mouthful of mornay with the roll. When she had eaten the meal, she politely said "thank you Mrs White, that was delicious".

A few weeks later Chrissy invited her again for tea and a sleepover. Tuna mornay was on the menu again and for the three years that Chrissy remained at Ridge Park Primary School it was the only meal offered to Felicity whenever she stayed at Chrissy's home.

When Chrissy's father was posted to Queensland, Felicity's only consoling thought was that she would never again eat tuna mornay. On her birthday there was a card from Chrissy inviting her to fly to Queensland next school holidays and stay with the family.

Felicity didn't know whether to laugh or to cry.

A eulogy for my sandwich, a creative piece by Di Turton

WELL my dear Sandy, I did not know you for very long. I first knew you as two slices of bread, and watched you grow into a wonderful creation. It has been a mouth-watering relationship.

I constructed you from the very beginning, with much anticipation of you sat-ing my hunger for a tasty meal.

You were made of stern stuff, with crusty foundations, and a sensitive soft and fluffy heart.

You had only the best filling, centred on my garden produce, you took great delight in the blushing red tomatoes and crisp lettuce. Made up with slices of cheese, succulent cucumbers, a hint of onion and topped with delectable ham.

You made a mighty stack, and like I said you were made of stern stuff. As you entered that dark cavern of my mouth, and my teeth closed, you only made a squeak.

You lived a short life, but met all expectations.

RIP Sandy

Childhood memories, a poem by Elsie Madden

MEMORIES of a childhood gone
Thoughts of long ago
It seems to me the older I get
The less I think I know.

The baker's cart, the bottle-o
The steam trains on their tracks
The old green trams of Melbourne town
The smoke from chimney stacks.

There was always family living close by
And cousins held so dear
Playing football and cricket in the street
It all comes back so clear.

I remember the Salvation Army band
That marched down grandma's street
They stood outside on the footpath
And played their hymns, so sweet.

Saturday arvo at the flicks
And playing in the park
Summer holidays down Dromana way
And Melbourne winters stark.

Fishing off St Kilda pier
Swimming in the sea
Learning how to ride a bike
And just being glad I'm me.

And even though an only child
I never was alone

There was always someone in the house
Who was made to feel at home.

Such happy times and carefree
How could I forget
The freedom of my childhood days
Stays in my memory yet.

Modlinski stars as Renmark outmuscles Barmera in A1

A STAR performance from Sonja Modlinski helped Renmark overcome a fast-starting Barmera outfit in Riverland A1 netball on Friday night.

Barmera burst out of the blocks, taking a narrow lead into the opening break, before Renmark worked its way back into the contest, and claimed a one-goal lead at half time.

Persistent pressure from Barmera kept the visiting Renmark side on its toes throughout the second half, with Modlinski and Reeni Blackley performing strongly under the ring, and making the most of their opportunities.

Renmark eventually held off Barmera to the tune of six goals, despite strong efforts from Hallie Hodgson and Khaleisha Barnett, who continued strong seasons.

Modlinski finished with 37 goals for Renmark in the victory, while Blackley followed closely with 31, benefitting from quick ball movement generated by Amelia Koumbarakos.

For Barmera, Hodgson finished with a match-high 42 goals, while Jemma Kassulke benefitted from her time in attack with 20 goals.

The scoreline sees Renmark notch up its second win of the 2024 season, while Barmera is still seeking its first victory with five games remaining.

Elsewhere, a return to the court for Loxton superstar Summer Smith helped the Tigers secure an 11-goal victory over Berri.

Assuming the role of wing attack, Smith was pivotal in Loxton’s fast ball movement, helping in the come-from-behind win.

Berri enjoyed a fast start at The Precinct, taking a three-goal lead into the opening break as Brooke Franks made the most of her opportunities under the ring.

Star goal attack Abby Fenwick made a strong start to the contest with four opening quarter goals, before picking up an injury which saw her miss the remainder of the clash.

A major factor of Berri’s success was due to the speed of ball movement from the likes of Eliza Jones and Chelsea Foulds.

Trailing by one-goal at the half time interval, Loxton stormed home and gave strong opportunities to star shooter Mackella Hogan, who finished with another remarkable 56-goal effort.

Hogan was well supported by goal attack Aimee Holmes, who finished with 11 goals, while Elise Foulds was at her best yet again.

The next round of Riverland netball is scheduled for 19 July, opening the start of the association’s Pink Rounds where Berri is set to host Loxton North, while Loxton faces off against Barmera at The Precinct.

Netball’s next generation on show in Loxton town

LACHLAN DAND

A LONG-standing event on the Riverland netball calendar was recently held again, with teams of junior players from across South Australia taking to Loxton.

The Loxton Junior Netball Carnival has been a permanent fixture in the Riverland since the 1980s, and current carnival co-ordinator Joanne Hondow has been involved for more than a decade.

Ms Hondow described the event as a major success, and said she sees Riverland netball continuing to improve over time.

“The weather was really helpful, but we did only have 19 teams which was down from 36 last year,” she said.

“We’re probably putting that down to Elizabeth running a carnival on the same day, and it clashes with SAPSASA too, so we’re possibly looking at changing the date in the future.

“The teams that came all really enjoyed everything. Most of the teams were from the Riverland, but we had some come from the Hills, and River Murray Netball Associations too.

“The teams love coming up here and look forward to coming back each year, which is really good too.”

A total of 14 teams represented the region’s towns, and although the Hills side took home wins in the under 15s, under 13s and under 11s competitions, the home sides competed strongly.

“It’s something different for the girls, and although they are the same teams who play on weekends, they are shorter games and the scoring is different which is nice for the girls,” Ms Hondow said.

“The Hills sides are representative teams so they’re always really tough competition.

“I think this year was the first year we really gave them a run for their money, and we had three Riverland sides in the finals with them.

“The Loxton North under 15s put up a really strong fight and were just unlucky to miss out, and that was the same with the Loxton under 13s and under 11s.

“This is definitely the closest we’ve gotten to them, so we’ll keep pushing, but I think Riverland netball is looking really strong from a junior perspective, which is exciting.”

Ms Hondow hoped to continue the event next year and into the future, although plans are in place for continual improvement.

She said Loxton was an inaugural venue for the carnival, and recent upgrades to The Precinct further enhance why it is a good option.

“Loxton started it back then, and it’s just something they’ve continued to do and it is their major fundraiser for the year,” she said.

“It has always been run by Loxton and we got a lot of positive comments about the facilities and the amazing set up we have, which only encourages the teams to continue to keep coming along.”

Ms Hondow praised the work of the junior netball carnival committee during the carnival, and said the event would have been less successful without its hard work.

“I can’t praise our catering team enough, and they did an amazing job with supplying food, and we had a lot of positive comments about that throughout the day,” she said.

“We have an awesome committee, and the Loxton netball committee also supports the carnival committee and it always makes work much easier when we have a really strong group.

“Everyone gets in and gets the jobs done, and although it is an early morning start it’s all worth it in the end.”

IN MEMORIAM

MATTHEWS, Hazel.

A special person. A special mum and nanna we cannot replace.

In our hearts always as a special part of our memories.

Graham and Glenys, Trevor and Judy, Kira, Adelle, Linley, Teagan, and families.

SCOTT, John.

28/2/1951—11/7/2023

In memory of a life so beautifully lived, and a heart so deeply loved.

Not a day goes by that we don't think of you.

FLETCHER, Yvonne Violet.

The family of Von Fletcher thank all who expressed sympathy, sent cards and flowers, provided support, donated to MS Society and attended her funeral service and wake.

It was a sad occasion but also allowed people to gather and share their memories while looking at her amazing collection of family albums, documents and photos.

Thank you also to the staff at Hawdon House who helped her over the last 3 and a half years.

We especially thank Heidi who was there for her on her last day.

We have said sad goodbyes but also feel grateful that we were able to have her in our lives for so long.

Forever missed.

MARKHAM, Steven Raymond.

2/9/1961—13/5/2024

Trevor, Janet, Tony and Paul would like to thank everyone who attended Steven's funeral, showing us their love and support, and helping us through a very difficult sad time.

Please accept these words as our personal thank you.

Rest in peace, our precious son and brother.

Enduro gets set to feature some of the nation’s fastest cars

CHRISTINE WEBSTER

SPECTATORS will be treated to some top level off-road car racing at the Waikerie Hotel Motel Riverland Enduro, at New Well, south of Waikerie, this weekend.

Waikerie Riverland Off-road Association (WRORA) president James Lochert said about 20 competitors will be taking part in the round one event of the South Australian Off Road Racing Championship.

“We have some good-quality cars that have entered,” he said.

Mr Lochert said entrants will be from across SA and Victoria, including the Sunraysia region, and Sea Lake, in north-west Victoria.

“There will be some of the fastest cars in the country featured,” Mr Lochert said.

Riverland competitors will include Amelia and Darran van der Woude, from River Murray Auto Wreckers in Barmera, and Matt Ridley, from Waikerie.

Mr Lochert said organisers had hoped for more entrants, but cost-of-living pressures made it difficult for people to take part.

He said the track had been extended by 13km, creating further excitement.

“It is going to add a lot more to the race track,” Mr Lochert said.

“We are trying to improve it towards becoming a higher-level event in the future.”

The prologue and short course on Saturday begins at 11am, and enduro racing starts at 8.30am on Sunday.

The Rotary Club of Waikerie and Spuds & More are catering for the event.

Organisers are keen for the Riverland Enduro to become a higher-level event in the future.

Renmark striker Chris Miller scored twice in Olympic’s win over Loxton.

River Rangers notch up first A grade win

WITH nine rounds in Riverland soccer’s 2024 A grade mens competition in the books, Berri officially secured its first victory of season 2024 on Sunday afternoon.

Facing off against the heavily favoured Barmera, the River Rangers were forced to come from behind following Dimitri Kanakaris’ 10th minute opener for the Pelicans.

However, Josh Krendl scored the first of his eventual two goals in the 23rd minute to level the scores heading into the break.

Four minutes of magic was all Berri would ultimately require, with goals coming from Francesco Vallelonga and Krendl to fire Berri into a two-goal lead.

Macy Eleftheriadis starred for the River Rangers throughout the middle of the pitch, while Joshua Sawyer and Thomas Pipinis both played crucial roles.

James Wallace and Jesse Tsonis fought valiantly in defeat for the Pelicans, and generated opportunities, yet it was a lack of polish from Barmera which ultimately caused the defeat.

Elsewhere, Renmark secured the all-important three points against Loxton, also moving closer to claiming the premiership in the process.

Star striker Chris Miller netted a brace for Olympic in the win, scoring either side of half time to put Renmark in a strong position.

Loxton did mount a late charge, scoring through the pacey Louie Psarakis, before Olympic’s Rajab Qambari received a straight red card in the 83rd minute, adding late drama to the contest.

It proved to be a perfect weekend for Renmark, which recorded a thumping 4-1 win in the A grade women’s contest.

Angela Pavlomanolakos starred for Olympic, scoring a brace, while young duo Amelia Koumbarakos and Blossom Kimberley also found the back of the net.

Elsewhere, Berri’s winless start to the 2024 season continued, falling 4-0 against Barmera United.

Matilda Mitchell and Mikayla Rayner each scored twice for the Pelicans, while Nai Vanderwoude controlled possession.

The biggest victory of the weekend came in the under 12s competition, where a four-goal haul from Charlie Kregar saw the River Rangers record an 8-1 victory.

Roos hold off Rovers in thrilling Lakeside finish

LACHLAN DAND

IN one of the closest Riverland Football League contests of the 2024 season, Barmera-Monash managed to hold off a fast-finishing Renmark by just six points in a top-of-the-ladder A grade clash.

Kicking with a significant breeze towards the yacht club end of the ground, the Roos took a slim lead into the opening change, with Dain Austin booting the only goal of the quarter.

Controlling much of the possession throughout the second quarter, Renmark utilised the breeze to its advantage, and star forward Nick Gillard rose to the occasion.

Despite conceding the opening goal of the second quarter to Jono Beech, the Rovers found goals through Dan Woolford, before Gillard booted two goals in as many minutes to put his side in front at the major break.

Hoping to play more direct football in the third term, Barmera-Monash playing coach Fraser Sampson found key forward Chris Bonney for the quarter's opening goal, before Matthew Wilden kicked truly.

Beech threatened to break the game wide open in the third quarter, kicking two majors of his own and putting the Roos out to a 20-point advantage, before Tim Woolford responded late for Renmark to cut the margin back to 14 points at the final change.

Despite an early goal from key forward Alex Haynes, the Rovers squandered opportunities to steal the victory, falling just short as Barmera-Monash holds onto top spot.

Remarkably, Riverland football almost had the competition's first draw since the 2021 season, which saw Loxton North locked up against the Roos.

Sam Butterworth starred for Barmera-Monash throughout the midfield, finding the ball with ease and providing opportunities for outside runners such as Fraser Sampson and Jameson Whitbourne.

As well as finishing with three majors, Beech spent time in and around the contest, particularly throughout the final quarter to put the Roos in a winning position, while Luke Thomas held his composure across half back.

Coming into the game without playing coach Josh Vater, Renmark relied upon the leadership of captain Matt Woolford who stood tall, while brother Dan enjoyed what was arguably his best performance of season 2024.

Ricky Garrett played a crucial role across half back alongside veteran midfielder Jaryd Rowe, who also saw plenty of the football.

The win keeps Barmera-Monash in top spot, having amassed 10 wins on the trot, while Renmark follows closely in second position.

Following the competition-wide bye through the SA Country Football Championship competitions, the Rovers next fixture comes on 20 July against arch-rival Waikerie in Renmark, where it hopes to complete a season sweep of the Magpies.

Elsewhere, Barmera-Monash will return with a trip to Tigerland to face Loxton, hoping to further strengthen its grip on the top of the RFL A grade ladder.

Superdogs battle it out against Phantoms

AFTER a rain and mud-soaked Saturday, the Riverland weather came to the party for the Superdogs past players day while hosting the Phantoms Masters Football Club, at Lyrup Oval, on Sunday 30 June.

40 years since the beginning of AFL masters in the Riverland, it was fantastic to see some of the original Superdogs and life members get out to support the great club they built and pioneered.

It was a privilege for the modern-day dogs to put on a show and a huge thank you to all those past players that turned out and created a great atmosphere.

The Phantoms came down slightly short on players, but it was great to see the Superdogs numbers continuing to grow, allowing for both teams to field a full squad.

The Phantoms started the game in blistering fashion, showing the Superdogs that the players they did have were of high quality.

To the Superdogs' credit, they did settle and like most games started with the drive through the centre from Dale Lellmann and Dean Schumann, who got to work winning centre clearances.

As the game wore on, both teams were clearing the ball, finding loose players and creating quick transitions from defence to attack.

The game was very high scoring with over 20 combined goals kicked by both sides.

The Superdogs next host the Hills Masters Football Team at Lyrup on Sunday 14 July.

We encourage all to come out between 12noon and 3pm, grab something from the barbecue, buy a ticket in the raffle or simply donate with all money raised going to the Variety Bash.

Loxton gets its season back on track

FOLLOWING a recent run of losses, Loxton got its season back on track in the RFL A grade competition, defeating Berri by 35 points on Saturday afternoon.

After a tight tussle to kickstart the contest, Loxton took a one-goal lead into the opening change, before extending the lead to 26 points at the major break on the back of a four-goal-to-one second term.

Loxton playing coach Luke Harder spoke about the importance of the win, as his side gets the chance to reset ahead of this weekend's competition-wide bye, with the Tigers having picked up several injuries throughout the season.

"We get to reset our batteries and go again now, and getting a win really installs some more confidence in the group again," he said.

By

LACHLAN DAND

"Injuries are a big part of footy, but I've been super proud of the kids who are coming up and playing a role for us.

"We had a similar situation last year too, so it certainly installs resilience amongst the group.

"There's no control over these sorts of things, but we'll just look forward to who we can bring in to play a role, and a lot of the kids now get the chance to play A grade football which might not have happened otherwise."

Berri young gun Regan Kruger made his presence felt in attack alongside Dion Brauer and Patrick Minchella who continue to hit the scoreboard.

Defender Jordan Marr played a key role on in-form Tigers forward Talyn Eagle, while Ondre Hunyadi held his own in the ruck against the experience of Brayden De Prinse.

Loxton restricted a wayward Demons outfit to just one goal after the half time break, but Harder felt Berri made it tough for his side to run away with the victory in comfortable fashion.

"Red-time goals from opposition has been a key focus for us over the last few weeks, so that helped increase our margin," he said.

"It would have been nice to put in a genuine four-quarter performance, but to Berri's credit their pressure around the ball was as good as what we've had in recent memory.

"I believe they'll be able to get a scalp soon, and they outplayed us in the last quarter, and the ball spent a lot of time inside their forward 50.

"It was definitely good to get the win, but there's still plenty of stuff for us to work on."

Tigers midfield trio Jesse Will, Bailey Boughen and Harley Campbell all proved classy throughout the afternoon, while the return of Che Lange across half back was also welcome.

Harder booted three goals of his own, while Nathan Flight and Rogan Kennedy each provided a presence in attack.

Harder said his midfielders continue to add weapons to their games, as they all continue to hit the scoreboard.

"A lot of them played junior football together, and then to keep Jesse Will fit and healthy has been huge for us," he said.

"We've had a few guys roll through the midfield but we're lucky that everyone has been able to come in and play their roles and then go forward and hit the scoreboard too."

Following the competition-wide bye this weekend, Loxton will remain at home for the second week in a row for a clash with top of the ladder Barmera-Monash, while Berri takes on Loxton North at RFL headquarters.

AROUND THE GROUNDS:

LOXTON continued its rise towards top spot of the RFL's B grade ladder, dismantling Berri by 49 points on Saturday afternoon at Tigerland.

The Tigers burst out of the blocks from the opening stages, kicking three goals unanswered to take a 22-point lead into the opening break.

Loxton continued the momentum into the second half, kicking a further six goals to four, allowing it to record a comfortable win as the Demons fight to remain inside the top four.

Key forward Luke Pontt impressed Tigers supporters yet again with a three-goal effort, while Ben Wehrmuller also booted two.

In his first game since round eight, Ross Romeo started his return through the B grade, finishing with a goal, while Braden Falting also performed strongly.

Elsewhere, Waikerie recorded its first victory since round seven, dismantling the winless Loxton North by 28 points.

After a tight start to the contest, Waikerie managed to take control throughout the second quarter, racing away to a 25-point advantage and never looking back.

Veteran forward Ben Haynes spearheaded the attack for Waikerie with two goals, while Ashley Kuchel and Tom Campbell each performed to a high standard.

In a disappointing loss, Anton Cook continued his impressive season for the Panthers and finished with a goal, while Matthew Lidgerwood also found plenty of the foot-ball.

The biggest victory of the B grade weekend came from the Lakeside Oval, where Barmera-Monash recorded a thumping 84-point win over Renmark.

Young gun Kale Trussell made an impact for the Roos, while key forward Reece Lehmann created a strong presence.

Lehmann finished with four goals for Barmera-Monash, while Darby Weetra boot-ed three.

Renmark's only goal of the clash came through Liam Harrington's boot in the third quarter, with a number of Rovers promoted to the A grade, leaving the reserves in a vul-nerable position.

Under 18s action saw Renmark keep its hopes of a top two finish well and truly alive, scoring a 41-point win over Barmera-Monash.

The Rovers put their opponents to the sword in the second quarter with five goals to one, suddenly breaking away with a 30-point advantage.

Isacc Morgan led the way for Renmark in attack with four majors, while John Kennedy also finished with three.

The Roos remain in top spot, however, Berri continues the hunt for that position, defeating Loxton by 89 points.

Loxton was held to just one goal for the afternoon, coming through Riley Thiele-Butterworth, as the likes of Callan Lloyd and Jordan Dymmott ran rampant for Berri.

Mitchell Cawse spearheaded the attack with three goals for the Demons, while Lloyd and Brock Wenman each finished with two majors.

The biggest junior victory of the weekend came through the under 13s competition, where Waikerie dismantled Loxton North to the tune of 96 points.

Holding the Panthers scoreless in the clash, Hunter Danton and Pllum Kafexholli starred in attack for the Magpies with three apiece, while Alby Griffiths, Max Liebich and Syrian Kafexholli each booted two.

The win puts Waikerie in third spot on the ladder, as the competition-wide bye brings about what is set to be a big finish to the junior grades.

Waikerie pounce on decimated Panthers

LACHLAN DAND

WAIKERIE is one step closer to the 2024 Riverland Football League finals series after a mammoth 81-point victory over Loxton North in the A grade clash on Saturday afternoon.

Each side had won this matchup in 2024, and it was the Panthers who enjoyed a round one victory in enemy territory.

However, questions as to whether the clash was going to be a close encounter were answered in the early stages.

Building on a quarter-time lead of 16 points, Waikerie put through nine goals to two in the opening half, opening up a 46-point advantage.

The assault continued throughout the second half, where Loxton North was held goalless following the Magpies’ control of possession.

Waikerie coach Mick Kilsby said he was pleased with the efforts of his side, as the Magpies remain in third spot with five games of the home and away season remaining.

“We’re always happy when we win, and it’s a great reward for the lads’ efforts over the last few weeks,” he said.

“We did talk about getting a good start and putting them under the pump early, and it’s great to see the boys put it together and play great team football.

“It’s just a week-by-week thing for us. We prepare for each week and have a main goal of playing finals.”

The return of Jake Spencely was welcome for the Magpies, with the dynamic forward finishing with three goals.

Mitch Hahn and Cooper Mackereth each booted two, while Jack Burgemeister provided a strong marking presence around the ground.

Jarrad Bee saw plenty of the football for Waikerie, as did defender Naish Andrew, while youngster Malachi Lloyd seamlessly transitioned into the A grade.

Mackereth has continued to spend more time within the midfield across recent weeks, and Kilsby said he is relishing in the role.

“I have been really impressed with him lately because he brings a toughness around the footy and the boys feed off it,” he said.

“He had a slow start to the season but he’s worked hard to get to where he’s at with his footy right now and I reckon he’s got more to give too.”

Panthers skipper Codi Voumard helped lead from the front yet again alongside Zac Wooldridge, however North’s inability to score continues to play a telling role.

The Panthers have been decimated with injury across the past fortnight, managing just four goals, but will be hoping the week off will speed up the returns of experienced players such as Josh Nelson, Ryan Proud, and Scott Meneghetti.

North’s goals came through Wooldridge and Dylan Petch, while Maison Eckermann continues to shine in defence.

Kilsby said his side knew the clash was going to be a strong contest from the opening, with both sides fighting to remain in touch with the final four.

“We definitely respect Loxton North, they have a few out at the moment, but we know they’re capable so we wanted to come out and give it our best.”

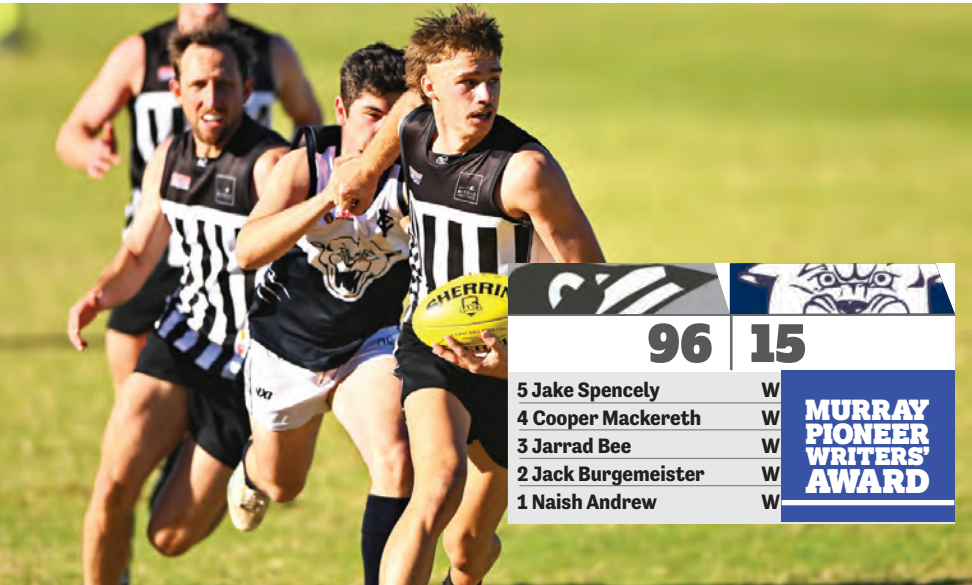

Loxton North will remain on the road when Riverland football returns, taking on Berri at RFL HQ, while Waikerie travels to the kennel for a clash with the Rovers.

Magpies fly in tight Murray Valley encounter

FORCED to come from behind, Sedan-Cambrai delivered a thrilling upset victory against Ramco and kept its finals aspirations alive in the process in the latest round of the Murray Valley Football Netball League.

Despite taking a two-point advantage into the opening break, the Roosters got on the attack in the second term, leading by 12 points at the half time interval.

Trailing by seven points at the final change, Sedan-Cambrai stunned the home side in the final term with three goals to claim a memorable victory.

Ben Burgemeister spearheaded the Magpies attack with three majors, while duo Christopher Rodriguez-Jamez and Caleb Shattock each finished with two.

Rodriguez-Jamez found the ball at will for Sedan-Cambrai throughout the entirety of the afternoon, while Adam Falkenberg and Jacob Grieger also played out strong performances.

Nathan Hart and Brodie Hawke did everything in their power to keep Ramco in the match with four majors each, while Adam Weir also fought valiantly.

Sedan-Cambrai currently sits two wins out of the finals series, and the reigning premiers will need to be near on perfect to have the chance to defend its crown.

The biggest victory of the round came from Paringa Oval, where the travelling Redbacks recorded a crushing 57-point win.

BSR is three games clear at the top of the ladder, and with the chance to play a preliminary final at home, continues to emerge as the premiership favourites.

The win was set up in the second half, where the Redbacks booted eight goals to two, putting the last-placed Swans to the sword with their quality of possession.

Thomas Tacono continued his strong season up forward for BSR, booting three majors, while Jonathon Wood proved to be Paringa’s best option inside 50 with two goals.

Corey Daniels produced his best performance for the Redbacks in the victory, and was well supported by Zane Hedley and Max Speyer who performed strongly.

Swans trio Lloyd Croft, Isaac Frahn, and Adren Herrador fought hard in the disappointing defeat, with Croft also hitting the scoreboard.

Elsewhere, Murrayville kept its hopes of a top two finish alive, defeating Wunkar by 20 points across the border, reversing the result from 14 days prior in the process.

In an entertaining contest, the damage was done in the opening half which saw Murrayville kick three goals to one to set up the victory.

Joshua Batista spearheaded the Murrayville attack with four goals, while the returns of Nathan Wright-Bramfit, Jasper Hoffmann, Dallas Willersdorf and Lachlan Dumaresq aided the Blues.

Wright-Bramfit booted two goals, as did Geordie Franks, while Hiffmann and Keenan Wilksch proved pivotal in the win.

Jake Neumann created headaches for the Murrayville defence with three majors, while Declan Kershaw also booted two.

Omar Winen fought hard throughout the afternoon for the Bulldogs, as did the ever-consistent Tarquin Schulz, while Ashton Kershaw also found plenty of the football.

Wunkar currently sits one win out of the finals race, with a big clash with the Swans in store following the competition-wide bye on July 20, where ex-AFL players Tom Jonas and Ben Kennedy will don the Dogs colours.

Barmera-Monash took a nine-point advantage into the half time break.

Berri coach Nathan Geyer (right) makes his premiership winning speech on Thursday night alongside Demons captain Kelsee Langford.

Stacey Geyer was awarded best on ground in the premiership victory.

Dee-lighted Berri reclaim RWFL premiership

AFTER a one-year absence, the Riverland Women's Football League trophy has returned to the Berri Football Club on the back of a thrilling 11-point win over Barmera-Monash in the 2024 grand final on Thursday night.

Waikerie stunned the Demons in the 2023 decider, when a lone Sarah Campbell goal decided the contest.

Last year's grand final was a clear outlier in the competition's history, with Berri having won premierships in the competition's previous four seasons.

The 2024 season was nothing short of chaotic, as the competition ultimately downsized to three teams following Renmark's exit from the competition in April, plus the amalgamation of Loxton North and Waikerie.

In a nine-round season, Berri and Barmera-Monash quickly emerged as the teams to beat, but it was Berri, led by captain Kelsee Langford and coach Nathan Geyer, which tasted the ultimate success.

After peppering the goals for the best part of the opening term, the Roos caught the Demons on the break, kicking a goal on the quarter time siren through Georgia Skilton.

Barmera-Monash extended the lead during the second quarter through young gun Ebony Johnson, and when the Roos held a nine-point advantage at the midway point of the second quarter, an upset appeared to be on the cards.

Geyer said the message to the group at half time was to remain calm, and get the game back on their terms.

"It was just a case of backing in our system and our gameplay, because we knew if we played our best footy we could get over the top," he said.

"It's such a credit to the girls because they stuck with it, settled the nerves, and got over the line in the end.

"Barmera-Monash is a class act and they've got some really talented players, so we knew we just had to play our best footy."

Berri worked its way back into the contest in the third quarter, kicking goals through Deanna Campbell-Collard and Mariah Katsaitis, flipping the game on its head in the process.

Erasing a nine-point deficit, Berri held the Roos scoreless in the third quarter to lead by four points at the final change.

The Demons continued to create opportunities throughout the final quarter, with star forward Stacey Geyer snapping truly to put the game out of Barmera-Monash's reach.

Langford played an important role for Berri across the ground alongside Amy Shapley and vice-captain Elisha Hinge, while Kady Schwertfeger was strong in defence.

Geyer said his side gelled from opening night of pre-season, with the Demons' senior players leading the way.

"Some of our senior players from the beginning that are still around the group really helped with the integration of nine new players," he said.

"Three of them were brand new to AFL, and it's a massive credit to the players and the culture they've built over time, because they made it really easy to coach.

"A core group of our players joined the men's pre-season from late November and trained all the way through, so they're certainly a motivated group.

"It was a shame not to see Waikerie in the competition this year, but the girls were certainly happy to make up for the loss last year."

The contest was littered with key moments, and the game shifted momentum in the third quarter when Barmera-Monash received a yellow card for a late tackle.

Geyer has been heavily involved with the Berri Football Club for a lengthy period of time, winning an A grade premiership with the Demons in 2010.

Furthermore, Geyer is a current B grade player with the Demons, and also assumes the role of fitness coach.

He said the positive culture of the women's outfit is significant, and has put them on the path to success.

"You just have to give the players credit for the culture they have built, and it's second-to-none from any side I have been part of," he said.

"They really just lead it from the front as a playing group, and that's how they get the results and success they keep seeing.

"It was a thoroughly deserved win by the girls because they have put in a 100 per cent effort both on and off the track to get where they are so they're all pretty elated."

Berri forward Stacey Geyer was awarded best on ground in the victory, and said she was surprised to win the medal.

"I thought there were quite a few other contenders in our team that played really well, so it was a nice surprise for me," she said.

Berri and Barmera-Monash played out a tense encounter in the decider at RFL headquarters.

"We know that Barmera-Monash is a quality team and we couldn't back off, even when we did get a bit of a lead.

"There wasn't a stage where we thought we had it in the bag, it was definitely about fighting it out until the end.

"We've been preparing all season to get to where we were, so we just had to get back to basics and work together to get across the line."

Ms Geyer, wife of head coach Nathan, said the prospect of the duo combining worked well throughout the season.

"We have a really good relationship and I value him as a coach and really appreciated him being able to step up for us," she said.

"He was originally going to just be a fill-in coach until we found someone, but that someone never came around, so he just took on the role in getting us a team and we wouldn't have been where we were without him.

"He was a bit reluctant to take on the role but I'm glad he did, because he brought in so much knowledge and experience around the club, which the girls really appreciated too."

Berri and Loxton play out hockey classic

ONE of the highest-scoring games in recent Riverland A grade men’s hockey was played out last weekend, with Berri and Loxton fighting out a 16-goal stunner at Glassey Park on Saturday evening.

With both sides looking to respond after disappointing defeats the previous week at the hands of Sunraysia and Waikerie respectively, scoring was at a high rate from the first moments of the fixture.

Jarryd Roberts led the way for Berri in attack with a remarkable four-goal effort of his own, closely followed by Todd Kitto and Joshua Fleming, who each netted twice.

Returning local Riley Burgess was a welcome inclusion for the Demons, finding his name on the scoresheet, while Jordan Kitto also scored.

Roberts and Fleming starred for Berri in the victory, paving the way to goal for teammates and capitalising themselves.

Loxton had star attacker Liam Richardson score twice in the defeat, as did Joel Hopper, while Sam Carr and Jay Botten each found the net.

Botten played an important role for the Tigers in the defeat, while Kobi Villis also continued to send his side into attack.

Meanwhile, A grade women’s action saw nothing separate Loxton and Berri, which played out a two-all draw.

Senior hockey fixtures were forfeited by Sunraysia in the lead up to the matches, meaning an extended break is in store for Waikerie.

The biggest win of the weekend came through the B grade men’s competition, as Waikerie recorded a 12-0 thumping of Loxton.

A Team causes a Riverland table tennis surprise

ROUND nine of Riverland Table Tennis Association action saw the upset of the season, as A Team rose off the bottom of the ladder, and topple the previously undefeated Bit Edgy in the process.

It was the doubles contests which proved to be the difference in the match, where A Team picked up six of the eight rubbers.

Byron Livingston-Bornholm delivered a strong performance, winning each of his doubles and singles clashes for A Team, including combining with Sonia Adamczyk to record a fightback victory.

Elsewhere, Desperados enjoyed one of its biggest wins of the season, pushing past Crushers in significant fashion.

Despite winning three of the eight doubles matches, Crushers quickly asserted authority on the contest, winning 13 of the 16 singles rubbers.

The win moves Desperados into top spot on the ladder, as Crushers fall to the bottom of the ladder prior to the competition-wide bye.

Riverland Table Tennis is set to resume on 24 July.

Food for the soul

SINCE being named Senior Australian of the Year in 2010, food icon Maggie Beer has been a passionate advocate for the wellbeing of the nation's older people. For the past 10 years, she and her foundation have been quietly running a food revolution in Australia's aged-care residences.

With nearly 200,000 Australians living in residential aged care – a number predicted to increase by 80 per cent in the next two decades – and the recent Aged Care Royal Commission finding as many as 68 per cent of them are malnourished or at risk of malnutrition, Maggie has a huge task on her hands.

In a bid to turn around these shocking statistics, the chef is leading a world-first experiment, joined by occupational therapist Elizabeth Oliver and registered nurse Julie Smith, that aims to overhaul the dining experience in a Perth aged care home over four months.

Last week, Maggie arrived at the Dr Mary Surveyor Centre, meeting with residents and staff while assessing the current standards and shortfalls. In this second instalment, breakfast is the first order for Maggie, sharing her porridge recipe with chef Sas and cook Richard before the real test awaits: what will 89-year-old Merle make of the changes?

Maggie's holistic approach to residents' health, wellbeing and enjoyment of their meals goes beyond good taste – her impact on the residents' lives is also sure to fill the hearts of viewers.

4	8	5	9	7	6	1	2	3
9	6	3	1	4	2	8	7	5
2	7	1	5	8	3	9	4	6

Each number only appears once in each row, column and 3 x 3 box.

Solution No. 486

July 2024: week 2

Horoscopes

ARIES
MAR 21ST - APR 20TH

A twist of fate will give you a reward you don't really deserve: this will begin to play on your conscience. Romance. You may find it difficult to settle down and be serious. Everything will go well, so long as your partner is also in a light-hearted mood. A get-together around the middle of the week will be worth looking forward to.

TAURUS
APR 21ST - MAY 21ST

This will be an excellent week for compromise. Both you and the person you have been working with recently will be flexible and completely open. You are right to trust people, but watch out for one person who just wants to take advantage. Romance. Don't stop until you have got to the bottom of a recent mystery.

GEMINI
MAY 22ND - JUN 21ST

A negative aspect to Mars this week could pull your energy into pointless arguments and confrontation. You will have a lot of energy at the moment: make sure that you use this constructively. Romance. Your partner will appreciate the extra attention which you give them this week.

CANCER
JUN 22ND - JUL 23RD

A positive aspect to Mercury will have an effect on your communications at work and at home. Don't be surprised to find that your intuitions are spot on. You will be seeing things for what they are this week. Romance. An encounter in an unexpected place will not disappoint you. You will be seeing this person again very shortly!

LEO
JUL 24TH - AUG 23RD

Be very careful with a possession which may get stolen. This would not be of much value to a thief, but it would upset you to lose it. Romance. A friend's positive thinking will give your confidence an important boost. You have been too hard on yourself lately, and need to feel a bit more positive about recent events.

LIBRA
SEP 24TH - OCT 23RD

A powerful aspect to Mars will give your energy a boost this week. You may find it a little difficult to get the co-operation you need from the people around you unless you are prepared to compromise, however. Romance. You will shortly meet a person who is very similar to your partner.

VIRGO
AUG 24TH - SEP 23RD

A joint project could be more successful than you expect. If you have any nagging problems that need to be sorted out, get together with friends and see if you can come up with a solution. Romance. A short journey later in the week could bring interesting results. Someone who catches your eye might be keen to get to know you.

SCORPIO
OCT 24TH - NOV 22ND

An unusual new friend will be much more straightforward than they first seem. A powerful aspect to Uranus will bring all sorts of strange things into your life this week. Romance. At times, you may feel as though you are getting in a bit of a rut. A burst of energy should help you to make some important changes.

SAGITTARIUS
NOV 23RD - DEC 21ST

You may be feeling a little dreamy at the moment. This week is a good time to get in touch with your creative side. Your imagination will run riot if you give it a chance! Romance. You may be interested in getting a long-term friendship onto a slightly less platonic footing. Your friend may be thinking along the same lines.

CAPRICORN
DEC 22ND - JAN 20TH

You will become frustrated if you feel that you are being held up by others. You will be asked to take on more than you want to: don't feel you have to just because you can. Romance. Don't be surprised by a recent meeting. You will shortly be seeing much more of this person.

AQUARIUS
JAN 21ST - FEB 19TH

A negative aspect to Mercury could affect your communication this week. Be extra careful not to read too much into other people's remarks: don't react too strongly to an innocent mistake. Romance. You may be a little unpredictable at times. An unexpected incident could set you off. Don't fly off the handle if you can help it.

PISCES
FEB 20TH - MAR 20TH

You need to find a way to unwind after your recent efforts.. A social event later in the week will give you a chance to relax. Romance. You need to be better appreciated at the moment. You've been trying hard and don't seem to be getting anywhere. Stop being quite so critical about yourself!
