Semi-trailer on fire at Kingston-on-Murray

EMERGENCY services were called to the Sturt Highway, at Kingston-on-Murray, after numerous reports of a collision between two vehicles, which caused one of the automobiles to burst into flames.

Crews arrived after 7.10pm, on Sunday June 1, at the intersection of Kingston Road, on the Sturt Highway, after a Mercedes Benz van and a semi-trailer collided, leaving four people injured.

Patrols arrived to find the truck on fire, with crews working for some time to control the blaze that fully destroyed the vehicle.

A 44-year-old man, and his 45-year-old passenger, both from Victoria, escaped the accident with minor injuries. An 80-year-old man, and 73-year-old woman, from Osborne, were the driver and passenger of the van, and were taken to hospital for further medical assessment.

Emergency services closed the Sturt Highway for several hours, but it was opened later in the night.

South Australia Police (SAPOL) said an investigation has been opened and further details will be released at a later date.

Police are asking anyone who witnessed the crash, or who has dashcam footage to contact police through Crime Stoppers online (www.crimestopperssa.gov.au), or call 1800 333 000.

High speed police pursuit ended in the Riverland

A MAN was arrested for numerous offences following a police pursuit through the state and ended in the Riverland.

A 31-year-old man from Victoria was arrested in Paruna, hours after police was advised the man was spotted driving a white BMW in Adelaide’s CBD at about 2.30am. Police attempted to stop the car travelling north on Churchill Road, at Killburn.

About an hour later the vehicle was detected driving on the Sturt Highway, in Nuriootpa, at 129km/h, in an 80km/h zone.

Riverland Police, with the assistance of PolAir, attended West Boundary Road, at Wunkar.

The vehicle took off at speed away from patrols, however PolAir quickly picked it up and tracked it reaching speeds of 170km/h.

The man was seen dumping the car and entering a property in Wunkar, where he confronted the occupants and took their Toyota Hilux.

The man continued driving dangerously at high speeds through back roads, when he approached the intersection of the Cameron Highway and Brown Wells Highway, at Paruna, failed to negotiate the intersection losing control and rolling. The man ran from the vehicle, but was located a short time later and he was arrested.

The 31-year-old Victorian man was charged with dangerous driving to escape a police pursuit, illegal use of a motor vehicle, serious criminal trespass, theft, driving at a speed dangerous and other driving offences. He was refused police bail and appeared in Berri Magistrates Court last Friday.

On Sunday, May 25, police arrested a 24-year-old man from Murray Bridge. After he was stopped driving on Railway Terrace, at Loxton. Later checks on his licence revealed that he is currently disqualified from driving.

The man underwent a drug test returning a positive result for illicit drugs. He was bailed to appear in Berri Magistrates Court on June 11.

On Sunday, May 25, police reported a 35-year-old man from Berri after he was stopped driving a vehicle on Old Sturt Highway, at Berri, when checks revealed that he was currently disqualified from driving.

Renmark Paringa snags $4.1m more from government constraints program...

BIG WIN$

HUGH SCHUITMAKER

THE “financial burden” on Renmark Paringa ratepayers from major local infrastructure projects will be reduced after new funding was obtained from the State Government.

Renmark Paringa councillors at last month’s general meeting passed a motion to accept a $4.1m funding offer from the Department of Environment and Water, through the Constraints Measures Program, which will be put towards the recently completed Twentyfirst Street bridge construction, and the Lock 5 Moorings Bank Stabilisation.

Renmark Paringa chief executive officer Tony Siviour said securing extra funding for the projects would soften the financial impacts on council’s budget.

“Renmark Paringa Council is pleased to accept the $4.1m funding offer from the Department of Environment and Water through the Constraints Measures Program,” Mr Siviour said.

“By securing this additional funding, we’re reducing the financial burden on our ratepayers while ensuring the delivery of high-priority infrastructure.

“This is a win for our local residents and a reflection of council’s commitment to long-term planning and strong advocacy.”

Mr Siviour said successful community outcomes for Renmark Paringa had been generated through the Constraints Measures Program.

“This investment will directly support critical local infrastructure projects, including the recently completed Twentyfirst Street bridge project, and the riverbank stabilisation at the Lock 5 moorings,” he said.

“Our ongoing partnership with the Constraints Measures Program has delivered real results for our community. We have so far received $8.6m from the funding stream without having to match the grant.

“From the Renmark Riverfront Wharf Upgrade to the improved Renmark Rowing Dock, these projects are strengthening the resiliience of our river-based infrastructure and improving how we live with and manage our river systems.”

Mr Siviour said high demand for houseboat moorings in the area meant riverbank stabilisation at Lock 5 was a necessity.

“The design for the Lock 5 Moorings Bank Stabilisation is nearing completion,” he said.

“Council will trial a solution at Lock 5 over the next few months and once finalised and costed, a detailed report will be presented to council to determine the most effective construction path forward.

“This funding is very timely given the lack of properly constructed houseboat moorings in our council area and the oversubscribed demand we have for these facilities.”

Riverland Reflections: students journey through Spanish culture

MADISON EASTMOND

A COHORT of Riverland students have returned from a study tour of Spain last month, with the three-weeks abroad considered by all as a “trip of a lifetime”.

Organised through the Department of Education’s School of Languages, 11 Spanish language students from Renmark High School and Berri Regional Secondary College, left Australian soil in April and joined four other schools on a study tour of Spain.

Though all returned “not too badly jet-lagged” in May, each of the students said it was “bittersweet to be home”.

“It’s nice being back in Australia, but I think we all just really miss the culture,” Renmark High School student Anja said.

Completing more than 22,000 steps a day, the three-week study tour was organised with students studying in Salamanca and Granada, and travelling to the ancient cities of Segovia and Ronda for weekend tours.

Renmark High School student Madison said her highlights were experiencing Holy Week and the famous Salamanca Easter parades. Generally starting on Palm Sunday and finishing on Easter Sunday, many cities throughout Spain host processions re-enact different episodes of the resurrection of Christ.

“It was amazing to go during the Easter (period),” she said.

“There were so many parades and processions — it was really beautiful.”

Renmark High School student Kayleigh said the things she “was most surprised about” was having “to pay to use the bathroom and a lack of free water”.

“Everyone was really friendly, but those things were bit of a culture shock,” she said.

“Also, when we came home back to Australia everything (like a bathroom and house) seemed so much bigger, because everything was so small.”

Students also attended Spanish language schools in both cities until 12 midday most days, while being able to enjoy an array of cultural activities and sightseeing in the afternoons.

“Before going on the trip, I really loved learning Spanish,” Kayleigh said.

“But now after coming home, I really, really am excited to come to class and I love doing my homework.”

Renmark High School students Fletcher and Anja said they had also noticed a drastic shift in their ability to speak Spanish.

“If we were there for a few more weeks, I feel nearly all of us would be fluent,” Anja said.

Staying with Spanish families for the entirety of the trip, granting them the experience of having to speak entirely in Spanish and partake in traditional cuisine and customs, a number of students said they were still in close contact with their host mum and dad.

“It was great sitting with my Salamanca host family every night, and just communicating with each other,” Berri Regional Secondary College student Layla said.

“We had so many laughs together, it made the experience very special.”

Though each stressed a love for their time in Spain, all of the Riverland students said their “ultimate highlight” was developing strong friendships with each other on the long bus rides between destinations by “singing karaoke, having deep conversations, and laughing a lot”.

“Many of the new people I met, I would now consider my close friends,” Anja said.

“It was just such an amazing time — we wouldn’t take it back for the world.”

Renmark High School and Berri Regional Secondary College language teachers Jasmine Sotiroulis and Tamara Gilgen said they looked forward to continuing to offer the study tour to Spanish language students in the future and continue to develop strong ties between the two Riverland schools and Adelaide’s School of Languages.

“It was really wonderful to see the shared connections between the kids and see them have amazing experiences in another country,” Ms Sotiroulis said.

“Many of them have already told me they would be able to travel to Spain again on their own, and I think that has been one of the great outcomes — not just the language aspect but having to navigate huge cultural differences.”

Tony demoted, Anne promoted

Barker MP Tony Pasin has effectively been demoted within the Federal Opposition, despite being comfortably re-elected on May 3 amid a disastrous Coalition showing nationally.

Mr Pasin won a fifth term for the Liberals, but under new Coalition Leader Sussan Ley was stripped of his role as spokesperson for roads and road safety, and infrastructure and transport.

The decision to omit Mr Pasin from the new shadow ministry was made despite Barker remaining a safe Liberal seat.

Mr Pasin suffered a 3.64 per cent swing away from him under the two-candidate preferred system, but retained a healthy 66.62 per cent to 33.38 per cent advantage. His first-preference vote dipped below 50 per cent this election, to 48.26 per cent, mirroring a nationwide swing against the Liberals.

In a statement, Mr Pasin said the reshuffle would allow him to focus on the Barker electorate.

“As a member of the Opposition backbench I will continue to be a frank and fearless advocate for communities across Barker,” he said.

“And as an experienced member of the Liberal and Coalition party rooms I look forward to pursuing important policy objectives consistent with true Liberal values.”

Mr Pasin said he was proud of the Coalition’s road safety policy developed and put to the Australian people at the federal election.

Mr Pasin’s Liberal colleague, Riverland-based Senator Anne Ruston, fared much better under Ms Ley’s portfolio distribution.

Senator Ruston retained the health, aged care and sport portfolios, while also being allocated the crucial disability and NDIS shadow roles.

“I have been incredibly grateful for the opportunity over the last three years to work closely with the incredible stakeholders and advocates in the health, aged care and sport sectors, and to hold the Albanese Labor Government to account on these important areas of social policy,” Senator Ruston said.

“Australia’s care systems are world-leading, but there is no doubt that they face significant and unaddressed challenges.

“I look forward to adding the portfolio of disability and the NDIS to my responsibilities, and to working closely with all of the stakeholders across our care systems on solutions to address these challenges together...

“I also look forward to working closely with Senator James McGrath as shadow minister for Brisbane 2032 Olympic and Paralympic Games to ensure Australia seizes on the legacy opportunities provided by this important event for our country.”

Senator Ruston was also re-elected at May 10 election, despite being shunted to number two on the Liberal ticket in SA, behind the party’s conservative powerbroker Alex Antic, a close ally of Mr Pasin.

Jenny proud of 2025 Barker election success

HUGH SCHUITEMAKER

A RIVERLANDER says support from the regions volunteers and voters was key to her achievements at the May 3 Federal Election.

Renmark woman Jenny Troeth was the third most successful South Australian One Nation candidate at the recent Federal Election, receiving a total of 8913 votes.

Ms Troeth – who finished the Barker tally in third behind incumbent Liberal MP Tony Pasin and Labor contender James Rothe – said her first experience as a political candidate was eye-opening.

“I had no idea, I really didn’t,” Ms Troeth said.

“I was chucked head-first into the deep end and was new to the system... and I didn’t really have a concept in my mind as to how it would play out.

“However, I couldn’t have wished for better support than what I received from my One Nation colleagues throughout the whole campaign.

“It wasn’t until everything started to roll that I got an idea of how it would go. I wasn’t confident at the start because I flew in by the seat of my pants.

“I had massive support.”

Ms Troeth said results from the election illustrated an increasing shift toward third-party candidates in regional areas.

“All the figures demonstrate there’s a huge swing away from the two major parties,” she said,

“I had people say to me they had lost faith in the major parties.

“I’ll never go out promising stuff if there’s a shadow over whether or not it can be delivered.

Ms Troeth said the efforts of volunteers during her campaign, and on election day,

were crucial to her success.

“I can’t claim all the success for those figures,” she said

“The credit goes to the people who voted, whether they voted for me, or for the party.

“It also lays with the tireless volunteers that manned those polling booths for me. They gave up their day.”

River flow assessment ‘far from reality’?

HUGH SCHUITMAKER
and SEBASTIAN CALDERON

SENIOR Riverland politicians say a recent assessment praising the impacts of environmental watering fails to acknowledge economic challenges faced by local primary producers.

A recent comprehensive assessment of environmental outcomes in South Australia, conducted by the State Government under the Murray Darling Basin Plan, states environmental water is having a positive impact on ecosystems, biodiversity and habitat quality.

Increased freshwater flows through the barrages has improved the resilience of fish species including black bream, greenback flounder and small-mouthed hardyhead, while increased connectivity of wetlands and floodplains has benefitted native vegetation and waterbird species.

However, Chaffey MP Tim Whetstone said the assessment was a convenient headline that hid a deeper reality occurring inside the region.

“While we welcome genuine improvements to the river’s health, this government fails to address the critical challenges faced by upstream communities whose livelihoods are affected by decisions made in Adelaide and Canberra,” Mr Whetstone said.

“Riverland irrigators, growers and local businesses are being asked to carry the burden of water recovery, with little regard for the social and economic consequences that come with it.

“Environmental outcomes are important, however, they cannot come at the cost of regional sustainability. I urge both state and federal governments to prioritise transparent decision-making, honest dialogue with stakeholders, and practical, community-led solutions.

“Our river communities deserve a seat at the table, not just another directive handed down from the top. While I’ll advocate for a healthy working river, I will never stop advocating for a healthy working river community.”

Opposition Minister for Water Resources and the River Murray Nicola Centofanti said that local residents care deeply about the health of the Murray River, however “they also care about the future of their communities and right now, many are questioning where that balance lies”.

“The Minister’s media release about her own state government’s review paints a glowing picture of environmental outcomes, yet fails to address the urgent concerns being raised by irrigators and regional communities,” Ms Centofanti said.

“Our producers are already among the most water-efficient in the nation. They’ve done the heavy lifting by investing in drip irrigation, soil moisture monitoring, and enclosed delivery systems. But now, with the state and federal governments pursuing an aggressive water recovery agenda, those very communities are at risk of being left behind.

“We need leadership that ensures environmental water delivery does not come at the expense of regional jobs, food security, or the long-term viability of our Riverland and Murray-based producers. “The River Murray Communities Transition Program is a case in point. This is a federally funded initiative meant to help river communities adapt, but there’s been little urgency or transparency from the State Government in rolling it out. There’s a real risk that these funds, intended to future-proof our regions, will go unspent due to bureaucratic delay or inaction.”

The report emphasised the need to recover 450GL of environmental water as soon as possible, to maximise environmental outcomes across the system, including increasing resilience to climate change.

Ms Centofanti said further investigation regarding the potential economic impacts of water buybacks were needed.

“It’s one thing to promise a healthy river, it’s another to deliver practical outcomes for the people who live and work along it,” Ms Centofanti said.

“Ultimately, we don’t have to choose between environmental outcomes and thriving river towns. We can achieve both, but only if the planning is proactive, the funding is timely, and the leadership is strong.”

The report mentioned the Murray River and its wetlands and tributaries are in better shape, despite drought conditions throughout parts of South Australia.

The assessment also found:

- ❑ Water for the environment is essential for ecosystems to thrive and its co-ordinated delivery along the entire length of the Murray River has contributed to improved environmental outcomes in SA.
- ❑ The operation of infrastructure, including floodplain and wetland regulators, has expanded water delivery areas, increasing connectivity and improving outcomes for native fish, vegetation and waterbird species.

- ❑ The Basin Plan has provided improved environmental outcomes during low-flow periods, likely preventing similar outcomes to those during the Millennium Drought, but more is needed to ensure ongoing recovery and health.
- ❑ Despite improvements, challenges remain and sustained actions, operations and additional investment are required to secure long-term environmental outcomes.

Minister for Environment, and deputy premier, Susan Close said the State Government would “continue to advocate for a healthy river system as we approach a critical time for implementation of the (Basin) Plan, ahead of a review in 2026”.

“This evaluation has reinforced the importance of delivering the Basin Plan in full, including final 450GL of environmental water and addressing water delivery constraints, to ensure the health of the River Murray and protect our unique ecosystems,” Dr Close said.

“Through this prolonged dry spell, that water has become even more important for the river’s ecology to ensure we maintain a healthy aquatic environment, which supports water supply, irrigation, recreation and tourism.

“The Albanese Government, including former Federal Environment Minister Tanya Plibersek, have delivered on their commitment to provide South Australia it’s fair share and to get the Plan back on track, and these results further highlight this.”

Sheep dog trials are baaa-ck in Barmera

MADISON EASTMOND

A MUCH-loved June long weekend tradition is back for 2025, and will host its highest number of participants so far.

Kicking off at 8am this morning due to an unprecedented number of entries, the annual SA Sheep Dog Trials have returned to the Barmera Oval this week, with action continuing through to Sunday afternoon.

“This year we have record entries — we might have to be working under lights for some of it,” SA Sheepdog Trials organiser Bob Clark said

“This year we have 26 competitors, but it wasn’t that long ago we were only looking at 10 or 11 entries.

“A lot of our competitors tell us (Barmera) is the best trials they go to — with the town, the lake, and the extra entertainment we put on.

“You just don’t get that anywhere else.”

With one Loxton local competing against dogs from South Australia, and interstate Victoria and Tasmania, the event will host open, novice, and improver classes, before a Trans-Tasman event on Friday, and then resume the open class competition over the weekend.

“A lot of practice goes into (working a dog) to this standard and keeping the sheep together,” Mr Clark said.

“The Barmera Oval will have yellow lines marked for the competitors, and they have to keep the sheep in the 9m corridor all the way round, and if they stray outside of those marks, points are lost.

“It’s an interesting sport, because you start out with 100 points and risk losing them, not gaining them.

“There is also no prize for finishing quick — you just have to get all the sheep in the pen and the gate shut in 15 minutes.”

Mr Clark said the Riverlanders will also be able to enjoy the iconic running of the sheep down the Barmera main street, held on Saturday morning, at 9.30am, before four skydivers take flight with the flags to commemorate now-passed trial participants and supporters.

With Mantung’s Leon Stasinowsky and family providing 500 sheep for the running, Mr Clark said it was often the event “spectators looked forward to most of all”.

“However, it’s just a lovely community event all together with so much on offer, so we hope we get a strong crowd,” he said.

“The finals on Sunday are always good fun — we host a parade and have the top six walk to Simply the Best by Tina Turner.

“People and families can come down for a look to see how the dogs are working and interact with the competitors, and it doesn’t cost them a cent.”

Organiser Bob Clark, and his five-year-old border collie Courage, have been preparing the annual SA Sheepdog Trials that kicked off in Barmera today, with the five-day event a showcase of skill, talent, and the bond between dog and trainer. PHOTO: Madison Eastmond

THE YEARS GO BY

LoxStory, Peter and Carla Magarey

Volunteer crossroads

THE efforts of local volunteers have – deservedly – received large amounts of space in recent editions of The Murray Pioneer, following last month’s National Volunteer Week celebrations that were held across the region.

The sheer number of names highlighted at Renmark Paringa Council’s event to mark the week made it clear that from schools, to sporting clubs, or health and emergency services, life in the Riverland would look very different without the dedication of volunteers.

Instead, it would probably be a lot more challenging, and inside today’s edition we see where potential cracks are starting to form.

Neil Martinson has for many years given up large volumes of his time to give back to the surrounding Renmark Paringa district, however, is this level of dedication becoming over-relied upon?

There are an unfortunate few – the number of which could likely be counted on one hand – who are currently volunteering to drive the Red Cross bus, however it is a service that would make a large difference to those who travel on it.

The volunteers themselves are committed – leaving in the early morning to ensure appointment times in Adelaide are met and a safe return journey is made all in the same day.

For those of whom transport costs can become a barrier toward visiting Adelaide – whether by car or bus – this volunteer-run service means important medical appointments can still be met.

For readers of The Border Times newspaper – also produced by Taylor Group Media – this week’s front page story of the Murrayville SES unit desperately calling out for new members paints a similar picture.

So, thinking in more broader terms about potential solutions, is some form of incentive now needed to attract younger people into the ranks of volunteering?

Depending on eligibility, incentives exist that take the place of some jobseeker requirements that are needed to be met each fortnight.

For the surrounding community, it would seem that contributing even a few hours as a volunteer would generate more benefit than a dozen job applications that are sent largely for the sake of it.

Readers only need to look towards the example set by Berri’s Jessica Owen – also covered in last week’s Pioneer – for an example of the benefits that volunteering brings both personally, and to one’s surrounding community.

Taking over the organisation of a Biggest Morning Tea event from the iconic Nancy Murdock would probably have seemed like a daunting task in the beginning, however those who have spoken with Ms Owen in the time since can see the satisfaction she’s gained after raising close to $1000.

The choice is therefore clear, and while volunteering requires the sacrifice of some personal time, it also means that as a whole, we can keep Riverland communities functioning in relatively the same manner we’re used to.

As a youth in the 1920s, Joan Wachtel (pictured with her horses) lived with her family on an isolated farm at Devlin’s Pound, across the river from Woolpunda. There were few visitors, no school, and no telephone. ‘As I grew older, I was a jillaroo on the property, spending most days on horseback, checking fences, minding ewes and lambs from eagles and foxes, setting rabbit traps, and tailing lambs. On many occasions, the workman had to send for me when unable to catch a flighty horse. At harvest time, I caught 12 (work) horses in the yard, put winkers on them, then collars and hames. Six would be coupled together in the front row and the other six lined up behind them. Reins were attached to the four outside horses and taken back to my saddle horse, either Tipperary or Pistollette (which I rode). I would then drive these flighty horses out three miles to where the strippers were working. The horses would change places with the tired ones at midday (and they) would walk home with their harnesses on, in single file. They then queued up to be unharnessed before going to the river for a drink and a roll. By that time, I would have their manger in the stables, full with feed’. Joan quipped, ‘I wonder now where my nerves of steel have gone’.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Opinions expressed in Letters to the Editor are those of the writers, and not those of the Murray Pioneer.

A win for houseboats

THE members of the Lock 5 division of the Renmark/Paringa Houseboat Collective welcome the announcement by Renmark Paringa Council that they have received significant funding to commence work on the bank infrastructure of the Lock 5 Marina.

This has been of considerable concern to many boat owners in recent years.

After a substantial rise in mooring fees, the Renmark/Paringa Houseboat Collective was founded, as the reason for the increase was cited as ‘ongoing bank and bank infrastructure maintenance’.

The concerns for mooring holders has been one of safety issues, with bank erosion creating severe undercuts in the banks. The contributing factors of this are in part the consistent use of large recreational vessels and their wake impact that they have on the banks, this was exacerbated by the flood experience that occurred.

One boat owner, John Herbert, has been working with council to find an adequate solution to the safety issues he experiences with having a hire boat that caters for the disabled.

His fear of having a ramp collapse under the weight of a disabled wheelchair-bound client has been of major concern to him. As other members have concerns for their safety stepping onto the banks.

While it should be noted that the council has expressed at this stage the works will be in a ‘trial phase’, they are confident that with the right construction, the method that will be adopted should prove to be a successful outcome for safety concerns, the environment and mooring holders along Lock 5 Marina going into the future.

We commend the council for their efforts in securing this funding and for their research into a solution for these long awaited works to commence.

While council has not ruled out a rise in mooring fees, we believe that we as mooring holders have already contributed to these costs over the past years and would suggest to council that this be taken into consideration, as additional funding is now available.

Glorified gossip?

THE TV stations could easily fit the so-called ‘news’ into half an hour if it wasn’t for the mindless ads. Have these advertisers ever heard of ‘word-of-mouth’ advertising?

As it is, I think the television news is just glorified gossip with the puppet presenters giving their facial expressions with utter pretence according to the content.

There is no respite with the written daily form. After ignoring the advertising lift outs and the horse racing guide (poor horses), the local paper is only good for wrapping when moving.

Turning community lights out?

CLOSE your eyes if you love the Mid Murray Council, and will read no bad word about them.

The Murray Pioneer had a story on the front page, on Wednesday, May 21 (‘MMC growth potential’), talking about growth strategy for the Mid Murray Council.

Nothing will happen. I’ll tell you why.

I went to four meetings, at Morgan, Truro, Swan Reach and Mannum. I spent a few hours at each of these strategy meetings, and gave a lot of feedback.

What I saw was all one way. Give us words and we will send them to some mob in Adelaide.

I had the definite idea that this was all tick and flick, because of the lack of work put into responding.

So the best we can hope for is an agenda already planned that will maybe grow Mid Murray Council.

Me, I want Mid Murray Council to be the fastest-growing council in Australia.

I got the feeling Mid Murray Council was far less enthusiastic, and would prefer to look at Dark Sky projects, which is what you get when you turn the lights out.

Support for mental health

I WRITE on behalf of the not-for-profit Mental Illness Fellowship of Australia that helps people across the nation.

We have now set up a key network which has become a growing community on the internet that – put simply – links people with mental health issues with others in a similar situation.

It is all about sharing experiences and it is a very powerful tool. We ask readers, if you know somebody impacted by mental health issues, just go to the website (www.findingnorth.org.au).

Our latest campaign highlights to all politicians in all states and territories that time is well and truly up when it comes to the clear neglect of people facing severe mental health challenges. What deeply concerns me is people with severe mental health issues are not getting access to community supports. These supports help them with daily living skills, housing support, employment opportunities and more. It’s exactly the same situation for family carers. Frankly, it is not good enough.

We estimate a massive 230,500 Australians with high-need mental health challenges are getting no access to community supports. When you factor in the carers, we are talking about a million people. It is on a huge scale.

Politicians need to do more. People affected by schizophrenia have a massive 19-year gap in life expectancy compared to others. They experience significant physical ill health, time in hospital and they are at risk of homelessness and poverty.

Health Ministers need to deliver a co-funding arrangement, with more community supports for individuals and families and a commitment to close the community supports gap by 2030.

It is alarming to know that three years into the National Mental Health Agreement, parties have not even agreed on a funding split. There have been numerous agreements but, in essence, a total lack of action.

May I finally highlight, if any readers are affected by mental health issues, far and away the best thing to do initially is to sit down with your GP and plan a course of action. We know at the Mental Illness Fellowship of Australia, many people have turned their lives around by asking for help.

Nominate a mental health leader

THIS year marks the 10th anniversary of the Australian Mental Health Prize — a decade of recognising important Australians changing lives through their work in mental health.

From researchers and clinicians to lived experience leaders and local community advocates, past recipients have helped shape policy, challenge stigma, and deliver better mental health support across Australia.

Yet significant challenges still remain.

Mental ill-health continues to affect one-in-five Australians each year, with young people, Indigenous communities, and LGBTIQ+ individuals among the most impacted.

Proven, community-led approaches and prevention still struggles for funding and recognition.

The Australian Mental Health Prize honours those creating real change — often quietly, and with great impact.

Nominations are now open across four categories: Lived Experience, Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander, Professional, and Community Hero.

I encourage you to nominate someone in your community making a difference.

Visit the website (www.australianmentalhealthprize.org.au). Nominations close July 23.

Winning the energy race

LIKE others, we’ve solved our household-level energy crisis with solar panels on the roof and a home battery, plus heat pump. Achieving energy resilience at local, state and national levels, though more complicated, relies on a similar path of lots more solar, coupled with pumped hydro and battery.

A total of 99 per cent of new generation capacity in Australia, installed since 2015 by the private sector, is solar and wind.

That tells us who is winning the race. It’s not nuclear.

Nor is it interruptible or cost-prohibitive fossil fuel supply.

We are not remotely self-sufficient with oil and therefore are at the mercy of others amid global instability.

Meanwhile, thanks to decisions of myopic governments of the past, existing gas export contracts leave us with insurmountable problems in terms of improving domestic gas supply and affordability. Luckily though we are blessed with sun and wind and the technology to harness them.

Visit welcome, but support needed

GRAIN Producers SA (GPSA) welcomed Prime Minister Anthony Albanese’s visit to a grain and livestock producer on the Adelaide Plains on Monday as a sign the Federal Government acknowledges and understands the severe impact of South Australia’s worst drought in living memory, but warned that immediate support must follow.

The Prime Minister, South Australian Premier Peter Malinauskas, Federal Agriculture Minister Julie Collins, SA Primary Industries Minister Clare Scriven and other senior politicians visited the Fischer’s farm at Wasleys, along with representatives from the National Farmers Federation and Primary Producers SA.

During the visit, it was announced that further funding would be available to the Rural Financial Counselling Service (RFCS) and the National Drought Forum will be moved from Victoria to Gawler.

While the additional funding contingency for RFCS is important as demand continues to rise, immediate financial support for farmers needs to follow the visit, addressing the scale and urgency of the drought gripping the state.

While the measures announced today are welcome, the reality on the ground for South Australian grain producers is that we need significantly more immediate and practical support.

GPSA successfully advocated for the Federal Agriculture Minister to visit South Australia last week, where we hosted her on a farm tour and took part in an industry roundtable to present practical support options on behalf of grain producers.

The Prime Minister’s visit is a strong signal that the Federal Government recognises the severity of the challenges facing South Australia’s grain sector — but that recognition must now be matched with immediate, on-the-ground support for impacted farming families.

This drought is not a distant threat — it’s happening right now. Many farmers are experiencing severe cash flow constraints and are being forced to make incredibly difficult decisions about their future.

The additional $2 million in contingency funding to the RFCS will support more producers to access financial counselling and advice if they need it, but advice alone will not be enough.

Boosting financial counselling services will help some producers navigate tough decisions and the RFCS is a critical support mechanism to help farmers through this difficult time, but without tangible financial relief such as low, or no-interest loans, too many growers will be left without a viable path forward.

Support must include direct mechanisms that ease financial pressure — not just prepare producers for future challenges.

The decision to bring the National Drought Forum to South Australia is a positive gesture but gestures alone are not enough in responding to the current situation.

What’s needed is urgent, co-ordinated action that delivers real relief to those feeling the effects of this drought season — not simply more long-term ‘resilience’ talk.

GPSA will continue to work with all levels of government to secure meaningful drought support measures for the state’s grain producers.

In the immediate term, we are calling for more direct support to help producers manage household and business costs, including quick and easy to access concessional or interest-free loan options, freight assistance, council rate rebates and further mental health support that reaches the farm gate.

In the longer term, we’re also calling for a review of the outdated Farm Household Allowance asset threshold, and for a serious look at the Regional Investment Corporation’s loan settings to ensure they’re meeting the needs of the agriculture industry.

Ignoring the advice?

FOR many years now a great many scientists have been warning governments around the globe that burning fossil fuels, coal, gas and oil, to produce energy must be severely curtailed to avoid a climate calamity in the not-far-off future.

Murray Watt, in his first major move for Labor as Environment Minister, has approved a 40-year extension to Woodside’s North West Shelf gas project, which has the capacity to unlock billions of tonnes of greenhouse-generated gas emissions into the atmosphere of planet Earth.

The approval given by Minister Watt totally ignores scientific advice provided from around the world in relation to this matter.

Backing for Berri estates

THE Riverland’s largest winery will be a centrepiece for long-term industry growth under new plans from its global corporate owners.

Vinarchy yesterday announced the Berri Estates winery would become the company’s primary commercial winemaking, packaging, and warehousing hub, to deliver “scale, efficiency, and world-class quality to support global demand for Australian wine”.

The company also announced cellar door and restaurant operations at Banrock Station would cease, however vineyard and viticulture operations at the site will be unaffected, while a $30m investment will be made into the Rowland Flat winery.

Vinarchy chief supply officer Joe Russo said establishing the two winemaking hubs would “realign and strengthen” the operational footprint in Australia.

“Adopting this twin-hub structure at Berri Estates and Rowland Flat allows us to consolidate our resources and expertise, strengthening the business and ensuring we remain competitive in the face of ongoing challenges in the global wine market,” Mr Russo said.

“These important changes represent Vinarchy’s commitment to building a stronger winemaking footprint in South Australia.

“Both St Hallett and Hardys are critical brands for Vinarchy and we recognise the rich local history they have in the Barossa and McLaren Vale. While our winemaking will move, our commitment to quality wines, local sourcing and premium cellar door experiences for these brands do not change.

“These wines will be made with the same grapes from the same regions, by the same winemakers, just at another winery.”

Mr Russo said Vinarchy was aware the changes could create uncertainty for team members, but the company was committed to providing support over the next 12 months.

“We are deeply mindful of the impact these changes may have on our people,” Mr Russo said.

“Where roles are affected, we are committed to supporting our teams through redeployment opportunities to other locations in many cases, or, where necessary, redundancy and outplacement support.

“We will continue to consult closely with our teams over the coming months as we make this transition.”

A company statement on the matter said Vinarchy remained “committed to its long-standing partnerships with regional suppliers and premium grape growers across the Riverland... which will remain unchanged and continue to be vital”

Renmark man Neil Martinson has been volunteering as a driver for the local Australian Red Cross transport service for five years, and is encouraging fellow Riverlanders to join him on his goal to “help as many in the community as possible”. PHOTO: Madison Eastmond

Are you driven to volunteer and help others?

MADISON EASTMOND

THE Australian Red Cross local transport service is searching for Riverlanders who are driven to help others and volunteer their time for a worthy cause.

Providing a subsidised door-to-door service for eligible locals the Riverland Australian Red Cross transport service are looking for drivers to help keep those without a licence connected to the people and places that matter most to them.

A volunteer driver for the past five years, Renmark man Neil Martinson said providing a transport service for his local community has “been more than rewarding”.

“It’s just really enjoyable — I really love to help people, and this service is an ideal way to do that,” he said.

“When people lose their licences or can’t drive, they lose their independence.

“I wouldn’t like that to happen to me, so this is about just trying to help as many people as we can.

“But, we need more drivers to keep providing this service (regularly)”.

With three-to-four available cars, and a wheelchair-accessible vehicle providing transport options to medical and dental appointments, as well as social events, shopping, or to the hairdresser, Mr Martinson said the service was “invaluable in a rural area”.

“It’s very important to have a service like this,” he said.

“As a door-to-door service, it can be a lot more (financially accessible) and easier compared to a (public) bus or a taxi.

“We also provide a bus service that goes to Adelaide on a regular basis, except Tuesdays, as we currently don’t have enough drivers — it can be very difficult to ask people to drive that distance multiple times a week.

“We just need to boost our numbers so we can keep offering these great services — the hardest part is that sometimes you can’t offer the service because of a lack of drivers.”

Australian Red Cross support offer

Kimberley Jenkins said it was “very simple” to sign up to be a volunteer driver.

“All (a volunteer) needs is a driver’s licence, as well as a police and children’s check which is paid by the Australian Red Cross,” she said.

“Even if someone can only give their time for one day a week, that would be amazing. (Additionally), if someone isn’t comfortable driving, they can also volunteer to be a companion driver when taking trips to Adelaide, as we need two people to the vehicle for that transport service.

“Although it can be difficult to find the time to volunteer, being a driver can be one of the most rewarding things to do when giving back to your community.”

For more information and eligibility to use the transport service, visit the website (www.redcross.org.au/transport/), or contact 08 8100 4587.

Pasin calls for bypass clarity

HUGH SCHUITMAKER

THE Riverland's Federal MP says assurance is needed from the State Government that funding will be allocated to build the Truro bypass.

The State Government would be required to contribute 50 per cent of costs for the Greater Adelaide Freight Bypass, following Labor's win in the recent Federal Election.

Barker MP Tony Pasin said clarity surrounding any potential changes to the Greater Adelaide Freight Bypass plan was needed.

"Under elected State and Federal Liberal Governments this project would be fully funded in an 80:20 funding agreement, with the Truro Bypass as our first priority," Mr Pasin said.

"As the first step towards a duplicated Sturt Highway, the Truro Bypass is a critical piece of infrastructure for a heavy freight corridor that bypasses every other town in South Australia.

"The Malinauskas Government needs to come clean with South Australian's about whether it will fund the over half a billion dollars needed to complete the Greater Adelaide Freight Bypass, given the Federal Labor has only committed to 50 per cent, and if not, what part of the plan will be scrapped to accommodate the smaller funding envelope?"

"Labor needs to stop treating regional communities like second class citizens and come clean about their plan."

SA Liberal leader Vincent Tarzia said the State Government was "scrambling to fill" the gap in funding for the project.

"We know that the Federal Labor Government has scrapped this project once already, who's to say that history won't repeat itself again," Mr Tarzia said.

"The need for safer, more efficient freight movement is critical – with locals in fear that there will be another incident."

"The State Government needs to stop stalling, start listening and commit to this project in the upcoming State Budget."

Minister for Transport Tom Koutsantonis said "funding arrangements for all federal partnerships" would be considered as part of the State Budget process.

"The former Coalition Federal government and Marshall State Liberal government dramatically underscoped and underfunded previous plans for a Truro bypass, and then complained when they got into opposition that it was only a single lane bypass," Mr Koutsantonis said.

"It was the Malinauskas State Government that did the necessary proper planning work and sent detailed strategic business cases to Infrastructure Australia for a properly configured Greater Adelaide Freight Bypass – including a dual carriageway Truro bypass."

"We have done the heavy lifting to get this project funded by the Commonwealth, with the Albanese Labor Government securing funding in the 2025-26 federal budget. Importantly, we have also had the foresight to secure the corridor to enable this dual carriageway to be built."

"We will continue to work collaboratively with the re-elected Albanese Government to ensure the best outcome."

Thriving Gardens in the Riverland Climate

Gardening in the Riverland comes with unique challenges – hot summers, low rainfall, and sandy or clay-rich soils. Choosing drought-tolerant plants is essential for success.

Natives like Kangaroo Paw, Grevillea, and Saltbush thrive in dry conditions and support local wildlife. Organic mulch helps retain moisture and protect roots from heat. Raised garden beds improve drainage in clay-heavy areas.

For edible gardens, Mediterranean herbs (rosemary, thyme, oregano) and fruit trees (olives, citrus) are well-suited. Use drip irrigation for efficient, deep watering.

By selecting climate-suited plants and using sustainable practices, you can enjoy a vibrant, resilient garden, even in challenging conditions.

Top Plant Picks for Hot, Dry Climates:

- Kangaroo Paw (Anigozanthos hybrid 'Amber Velvet') – Hardy, colourful native.
- Saltbush (Rhagodia spinescens 'Aussie Flat Bush') – Compact blue-foilage ground cover.
- Creeping Boobialla (Myoporum parvifolium) – Dense, trailing, weed-suppressing.
- Trailing Gazania (Gazania rigens) – Bright blooms, sun-loving.
- Flax Lily (Dianella caerulea) – Versatile native with ornamental flowers.
- Heartleaf Ice Plant (Aptenia cordifolia) – Succulent ground cover with vibrant flowers.

These plants will help create a resilient and beautiful garden suited to the Riverland climate. Speak to your garden and plant centre for help.

A bloody good reason to give

MADISON EASTMOND

WITH an estimated one-in-three Riverlanders needing to receive blood during their lifetime, The Australian Red Cross Lifeblood are encouraging locals to roll up their sleeves this National Blood Donor Week.

Coinciding with National Blood Donor Week, the Renmark pop-up donor centre will be available for locals next Thursday, from 11am to 7.15pm, and Friday, from 7:30am to 1pm, at the Greek Orthodox Community Hall.

With a new blood donor needed every five minutes in Australia, Lifeblood needs more than 1.7 million donations every year to meet a growing demand.

Preparing to give her 184th blood donation next week, Renmark woman Kathleen Tubb said she would encourage fellow locals to "take the time to give".

Ms Tubb said her high numbers of donations began to climb when she and her husband "made a bit of a game" out of giving blood.

"For a long time, it was a just a habit really, just something I have always done," she said.

"After we retired, we did a bit of travelling, and everywhere we went that began with the letter B — which not only stood for blood, but also his blood type — we donated at."

Since moving to the Riverland, Ms Tubb said she relies on the local pop-up donor centres to continue her donations.

"There is always a call for new donors, and I think people should try to make some time to donate," she said.

"It's not painful at all, and it's always very quick and easy."

"It's also for a great cause."

National Blood Donor Week annually spans from June 9, to 15.

To book a donation time, visit the website (lifeblood.com.au), use the DonateBlood app, or contact 13 14 95.

THE Riverland West community demonstrated its support and generosity by raising more than $6000 for the Cancer Council.

Waikerie and Districts Cancer Support Group committee member Sue Andrew said more than 100 people attended Waikerie's Biggest Morning Tea event on Thursday, May 29.

The fundraiser was organised by the cancer support group, in partnership with the Rotary Club of Waikerie.

Ms Andrew said the committee was thrilled with the amount of money that was raised, which included significant surprise donations from the local Rotary club and The Waikerie Men's Shed.

She said the fundraising activities included a spinning wheel for prizes, a raffle, table flowers' sale, and an auction.

Those attending were encouraged to dress in pink and prizes were awarded for the best dressed male and female.

Carolyn Kleemann, of Waikerie, won the award for the Best Dressed Female in Pink and Craig Maskell, also of Waikerie, won the prize for the Best Dressed Male in Pink.

Ms Andrew said local businesses in the area were extremely generous.

"There were 13 raffle prizes and multiple spinning wheel prizes," she said.

"A number of prizes were also donated by individuals who preferred to remain anonymous."

Ms Andrew said the support group committee was grateful to the contributions made in organising the event by MC Darrin Trandafil, and Loxton Waikerie councillor and community volunteer Ian Light.

"They helped create a very pleasant atmosphere," she said.

Ms Andrew also thanked the Waikerie Bowling Club for doing the catering for the event and allowing their facilities to be used at a minimal charge.

She said Judy Maskell of Waikerie had a major part in the success of the morning by selling tickets, arranging prizes, and masterminding the decorations.

Council commitment to the community

IT has now been more than 900 days since the current Mid Murray Council was sworn in, and in the beginning I doubt any of us truly knew what lay ahead.

Within weeks, we were faced with a once-in-50-year flood. Just three months into our term, Mid Murray Council was classified as “potentially unsustainable” by ESCOSA. Since then, council has navigated the resignation of two elected members, welcomed two new ones, endured a prolonged drought, and balanced rising community expectations amid increasingly difficult financial conditions.

It’s been anything but smooth sailing. Yet through it all, Mid Murray’s elected members have stood strong. I want to acknowledge and thank each of them for their commitment, courage, and willingness to make difficult decisions, often going against the grain, and at times, against staff recommendations. Many of those decisions are now delivering real and tangible benefits for our region.

A notable example was the very difficult decision not to fund new lights at Mannum Oval. It was a tough call, but through determination, community support, and strong external partnerships, the project is now being delivered at no cost to ratepayers. The same approach is driving the impending standpipe automation project. Many standpipes will now be automated thanks to state government funding and stakeholder contributions, outcomes that came because elected members insisted on seeking external support rather than burdening ratepayers.

Council also adopted full cost attribution this term, a long-overdue reform initiated by elected members. This change is expected to save the general ratepayer around $300,000 annually, and has greatly improved the accuracy of our financial reporting.

Another practical step was relocating council meetings to our principal office, a move that is saving staff time and council resources. Many elected members have also quietly absorbed travel costs or chosen to carpool, opting not to claim reimbursements despite the personal time and expense involved. In fact, this group has been among the most cost-efficient in a decade, with only one year in the past 10 recording lower elected member expenses (2015/16).

Council has now released the draft Annual Business Plan and Budget. Encouragingly, for the first time in many years, the proposed rate increase is only slightly above CPI. Our loan levels are also well below what was forecast three years ago, the result of deliberate, strategic decision-making.

What often goes unseen is the commitment from elected members and staff to continually look for efficiencies and improvements. These decisions aren’t just about short-term wins, they’re about building long-term value for the Mid Murray community.

Of course, public service inevitably invites scrutiny and not all of it is constructive. Across the state I see elected members facing rising levels of abuse and bullying, often simply for doing their jobs. While scrutiny and accountability are vital in a democracy, it’s important to remember that civil discourse and mutual respect are equally essential. We may not always agree at the council table, and that’s a strength, respectful debate and diverse viewpoints help shape better decisions.

I’m incredibly grateful to the many community members who continue to support us, those who offer constructive feedback, who understand the complexity of our decisions, and who walk alongside us with patience and goodwill. Your encouragement matters more than you might realise. Leadership isn’t about popularity. It’s about good governance, long-term thinking, and keeping the bigger picture in view. I’m immensely proud of what this council has achieved so far. Through challenge and change, they’ve demonstrated integrity and dedication to the people they serve.

Here’s to seeing out our term and to continuing to make the next right decision as we build a stronger, more sustainable Mid Murray.

Riverland catholic schools unite at Assisi

CATHOLIC schools around the Riverland came together earlier this month to celebrate Catholic Education Week.

Students and staff from the five Riverland Catholic schools — St Francis of Assisi College Renmark, St Joseph’s School Renmark, St Joseph’s School Barmera, Our Lady of the River School Berri, and St Albert’s School Loxton — came together on May 14 as part of Catholic Education Week.

Celebrating 180 years of Catholic Education in the state, from May 12 to 18, Catholic Education Week provides an opportunity to mark the excellence of Catholic education in South Australia, reflect on the unique characteristics of Catholic schools, and raise awareness of the Mid-Year Reception intake.

Hosted by St Francis of Assisi College, the day began with Mass, centred on the Diocesan theme ‘Seeds of Hope’. Student leaders from each school participated by pouring the sand and seeds, representing unity and growth in faith across the Riverland.

Following the Mass, students took part in shared activities from sports games and biscuit decorating to LEGO challenges, slime making, and blind karaoke. Other highlights included a silent disco, quizzes, Just Dance, and face painting enjoyed by both primary and secondary students.

The theme for the shared Riverland gathering was ‘Shine With Open Hearts’, to “reflect the high-quality teaching and learning in schools, where students shine, live, and lead with open, (and) aspiring to be all they hope to be”.

“It was a wonderful opportunity for our Catholic schools across the Riverland to come together in faith, friendship, and fun,” said a spokesperson for the event.

“There was such a strong sense of joy and connection throughout the day, it truly reflected the spirit of Catholic Education Week.”

State budget includes support for improved wildlife rescue

THE Riverland volunteer wildlife rescue and rehabilitation sector has gained state funding to support more engagement with volunteer groups, and to improve the health of South Australia’s biodiversity.

The 2025-26 State Budget includes $7.6m to better support the volunteer wildlife rescue and rehabilitation sector to care for injured native animals and to support wildlife conservation.

The extra wildlife funding responds to recommendations from the Review of the South Australia’s 2019-20 Bushfire Season (the Keelty review), the SA Wildlife and Habitat Bushfire Recovery Taskforce, and Royal Commission into National Disaster Arrangements in relation to the management of wildlife in emergencies.

“This State Budget supports the future viability for these wildlife rescue carers with significant funding over the next four years,” treasurer Stephen Mulligan said.

“These services are often run by selfless volunteers who dedicate an incredible amount of time caring for sick and injured native animals.”

Deputy Premier, and Minister for Climate, Environment and Water, Susan Close said “the (State) Government has listened to the sector and heard their calls for help”.

“I’m really pleased to be announcing such a significant funding package,” she said.

“Like the RSPCA, which has received a 350 per cent increase in funding under the (State) Government, the wildlife rescue sector was under resourced for many years and this Budget helps to address this.”

The Salvation Army Riverland’s free produce and bakery service is servicing a need at Waikerie.

Salvos offering a helping hand

CHRISTINE WEBSTER

COST-of-living pressures and a lack of food security for some in the Riverland West area have led to a charity organisation offering free produce and bakery items once a fortnight, at the Waikerie Football oval.

The Salvation Army Riverland identified a need for the service, run every second Wednesday, from 10am.

It supplies the produce on the alternate weeks when Foodbank’s Mobile Food Hub Corps is absent from Waikerie.

The Salvation Army Riverland’s Corps leader Helen Palena-Adamczyk said her organisation became aware that welfare support was lacking in the Waikerie area.

“We decided to step in and fill that gap and bring with us fruit, vegetables, and bakery goods, once a fortnight,” she said.

The food items are provided to The Salvation Army Riverland through SecondBite and Coles Berri.

Mrs Palena-Adamczyk said both The Salvation Army and Foodbank were working in partnership to provide the service at Waikerie.

“It offers a little bit more food security for the people who need more support,” she said.

Foodbank volunteers are also helping with The Salvation Army’s fortnightly sessions at Waikerie, which began on May 14.

Mrs Palena-Adamczyk said about 20 people attended the first produce and bakery service last month, with Waikerie High School’s youth worker Trish Mitchell also picking up some items for students who also may be in need.

“It was great to make that connection and also support the school in providing a few products that may be needed, such as Milo,” she said.

“We are looking forward to partnering with them.”

Any left-over produce from The Salvation Army Riverland’s service is also taken to Blanchetown by its Foodbank volunteer and distributed to about 20 people who need assistance in that town.

“It is a fantastic opportunity for us to make connections,” Mrs Palena-Adamczyk said.

The Salvation Army Riverland aims to help anyone who needs assistance with food security.

“We have an open house policy, if you think you are in need, come and pay us a visit,” Mrs Palena-Adamczyk said.

“(The) organisation is also endeavouring to assist people that may have work commitments during the day, and who also may need help with food security.

“We really want to go into the community and establish the need not just for food security, but for also making those human connections.”

School welcomes free food support

WAIKERIE High School has welcomed the decision by The Salvation Army Riverland to provide free produce and bakery items fortnightly to those who need it in the town.

The school’s youth worker Trish Mitchell said it helps with catering for the needs of students at Breakfast Club sessions, or during recess and lunch.

“We have about 310 students and the food we are able to obtain from Foodbank does not necessarily last until its next fortnightly visit,” she said.

“Having the Salvos come to Waikerie on the weeks that Foodbank doesn’t is fabulous.”

Woolworths also donates bread and fruit to the Waikerie High School each Monday.

Ms Mitchell said breakfast is offered at the school for those who need it each Monday, Wednesday and Friday, from 8.30am, when the first students start arriving.

She said some of the students who travel to school on the bus from areas such as Morgan, may be without time to have breakfast.

“A lot of these kids are also teenagers who are growing and will eat constantly,” she said.

“They may have had breakfast at home already, but will also have a second one with me, and that is fine.”

Bacon and eggs are on offer each Wednesday morning, with the eggs provided by the chooks tended to by the school’s Agriculture classes, and the bacon bought by the school.

Ms Mitchell said due to financial pressures, some families may be finding it hard to afford lunch or breakfast for their children.

“We always have plenty on hand and also some students may have forgotten their lunch,” she said.

“I can buy ham and cheese and can also make toasted sandwiches for any student that doesn’t have food, I can also provide them with lunch.”

The Riverland Combined Churches Group through Waikerie High School also offers frozen meals to students’ families in need, including to those who may have had a parent who is unwell or just returned home from hospital.

Mobile coverage overstated in the Riverland?

A SENIOR local politician has voiced concern about mobile network coverage within the region, stating that a telecommunications operator is overstating its services.

Barker MP Tony Pasin said newly created mobile blackspots in Barker are still yet to be addressed, more than six months since the 3G switch off.

Mr Pasin said “suggestions made in the media recently that a predominant mobile network operator has been overstating their mobile coverage comes as no surprise”.

“Since 3G was switched off in October last year we have had multiple reports of diminished service in areas of Barker,” Mr Pasin said “Poor mobile service is one of the main enquiries to my office and I have been reporting these locations to mobile network operators for months to no avail.

“In fact, in a response to one of my letters to Telstra CEO Vicki Brady, I was told that our network key performance indicators confirm that there are no inequivalence issues or significant reduction in customer experience within Barker following the 3G closure.

“The over 2500 constituents in Barker who have reported exactly that can’t all be wrong.

“The telco’s cant gaslight their way out of this, and the Labor Government who have overseen this switch off should be doing more to stand up for our Australian consumers instead of allowing the big corporates to put profits first.”

Mr Pasin said as a result of his continued advocacy Telstra had agreed to undertake a regional visit to Barker to conduct a series of community visits and meet with customers.

Mr Pasin encouraged Telstra customers experiencing coverage issues to take this opportunity to raise concerns directly with network operators.

The magic of music

THERE was no black dress in my wardrobe, but I still loved that song, ‘Long Cool Woman in a Black Dress’.

At the Renmark Institute a couple hundred teenagers are dancing slowly to the wound-back sounds of The Hollies, Creedance and The Beatles, steamily entangled in each other’s arms, even under the exacting gaze of roaming teachers.

Changing the pace, to the relief of those teachers, Patch of Blue now renders rocking songs from The Rolling Stones and that master, Elton John, and now couples separate and are putting in some cool moves.

Patch of Blue is the Riverland’s preeminent band, in demand for all the major discos. The streamers, balloons and coloured lights are the earlier work of year 12 girls. In the far corner near the stage, the soft drink stall is doing a great trade.

Teachers stand guard at all exits and interrogate anyone who expresses a need for the outside toilet.

School discos, or socials, are challenging for girls who must wait to be asked, even if they’d love to dance. So, we sit on the seats lining the walls, hoping to be noticed while semi-dying inside.

Cars start to arrive outside just before 11pm, the night is cold, and the condensation blurs the windows as parents wait patiently.

It was an impressionable time of our lives, discovering new friendships, finding romance, and exploring limits.

And though most country teenagers felt cocooned from the marijuana-fuelled free love of the 60s and war protests of the 70s, music still held centre stage – on the record player, on 5RM on Saturday nights, car cassette players, and watching Countdown on Sunday nights.

Teenagers sat for hours in loungerooms, studying the album covers on our laps, delicately shifting the needle to our favourite songs over and over and singing along. The lyrics would soon become automatic.

I was introduced to David Bowie by a male friend who had music tastes beyond my unsophisticated preferences. I couldn’t come at Jean Genie but favoured the spunk in Rebel Rebel.

We knew every word to Carly Simon’s You’re So Vain. Folklore said that the song was written to skewer a former lover. ‘You probably think this song is about you’ was such a genius line.

Then out of nowhere came Australia’s Auntie Jack.

*Farewell, Auntie Jack,
we know you’ll be back
Though you’re 10 feet tall, you don’t scare us at all*

You’re big, bold and tough, but you’re not so rough

And there’s a scream as you plummet away.

Then there was something about ‘coming round to your house and rip your bloody arms off’. We didn’t understand but adored it anyway.

Bohemian Rhapsody, from Freddie Mercury and Queen, broke all music conventions with their six-minute production that many people today adjudge as the greatest song ever made.

But ‘Scaramouche, scaramouche, will you do the fandango?’ leaves most of us bewildered still. Music was intoxicating, experimental and surprising.

A few years later and in a different genre altogether, everyone including the artist herself was amazed when Sister Janet Mead released a boppy version of The Lord’s Prayer, which reached high on the Australian charts.

But it was back in the 1950s when George Beverley Shea recorded the stunning hymn ‘How Great Thou Art’, later released by Elvis Presley and then a beautiful version by Carrie Underwood. Christian or not, these lyrics and music still penetratingly stir the soul.

From Kate Bush to Bob Dylan and Bob Marley this could go on, but I’m thankful our generation was along for the ride when some of the world’s best music was created.

Riverlanders mark Reconciliation Week

MADISON EASTMOND

RIVERLANDERS came together to commemorate National Reconciliation Week last week.

The Kwy Aboriginal Corporation Riverland team hosted a community lunch last Friday, with the Berri event bringing locals across the region together to celebrate and commemorate Reconciliation Week, which is held from May 27 to June 3, each year.

With this year’s theme of ‘Bridging Now to Next’ — calling on Australians to step forward together, to look ahead, and continue to push forward — Reconciliation Week is a time to learn about shared histories, cultures, achievements, and explore ways to achieving reconciliation, with the dates commemorating significant milestones for First Nations peoples, including:

- National Sorry Day, May 26: Remembering and acknowledging the Stolen Generations.
- 1967 Referendum anniversary, May 27: When Australia voted for a change in the Constitution, allowing Indigenous people to be included in the census.
- Mabo Day, June 3: Anniversary of the 1992 decision to overturn Terra Nullius, led by the work and activism of Eddie Koiki Mabo.

Kwy women’s violence practitioner Candice Dodson said the community event was about Riverlanders “coming together for a yarn, a feed, and to spend time (marking) National Reconciliation Week”.

“The reception has been really great from the community, and we even had SA Police come down and help with the barbeque,” she said.

“It’s an event that is being standing up, and standing together, and (understanding) that we are all part of the (Riverland) community.”

Funding support for sporting clubs extended

RIVERLAND sport and recreation clubs have been given more time to apply for a relief grant aimed to help communities stay active and tackle current drought impacts.

The current Regional Drought Relief Round has been extended to June 12, enabling more clubs to access up to $5,000 in targeted relief.

The initiative, a new and additional round of the Active Club Program, is part of the State Government’s $73m package to support communities impacted by drought across the state.

Minister for Primary Industries and Regional Development Clare Scriven said “we encourage regional clubs to make the most of this opportunity which can be used to relieve financial pressure”.

● Clare Scriven

“As many regions endure the driest year on record, this is one of the many avenues of support we have made available through the State Government’s $73m Drought Support Package, to help regional communities through this challenging time,” Ms Scriven said.

“Regional clubs play an integral role in providing a place of community connection and engagement.”

Funding can go towards water-saving and drought-resilient measures like rain-water tanks, smart irrigation controllers and new or upgraded irrigation infrastructure, along with utility bill relief and energy efficiency initiatives.

Essential costs such as equipment, uniforms and program delivery are also covered, helping to reduce barriers to participation and promote physical activity.

The initiative was expanded to include thoroughbred and harness racing clubs facing watering and maintenance pressures, which impact clubs’ ability to deliver programs and services in regional communities.

Demolition begins on East Terrace public amenities

LOXTON Waikerie Council has commenced demolition works at the site of the former Loxton Library, on East Terrace.

Demolition works have started at the site, with the disconnection of services and dismantling of the interior.

Demolition is expected to be completed in the coming weeks and once finished, the site will be prepared for construction, including the installation of footings and underground services.

The project is on track for completion by the end of the year and will deliver “modern, accessible” public amenities in the heart of Loxton’s main street. It will also create a more open and usable space along the East Terrace median strip, enhancing the area for both residents and visitors.

The historic plaque was removed, preserved and will be reinstated in a new stone feature wall, which will be constructed from recycled stone from the original Loxton Institute.

Community members are reminded to take care when driving or walking by the site, by staying clear of potential hazards, even when no active work is occurring.

Riverland towns nominated for Agricultural Town of the Year

SIX Riverland towns have been nominated for a major South Australian award, aiming to showcase the strength, spirit, and significance of agriculture industry.

Nominated towns within the region are:

- ☐ Barmera
- ☐ Berri
- ☐ Loxton
- ☐ Renmark
- ☐ Renmark North
- ☐ Waikerie

Public voting is now open for the 2025 South Australian Agricultural Town of the Year Award, with a record 97 towns nominated. Riverlanders can now vote to help determine which towns within the region progresses to the next stage.

These towns will then be invited to submit a written submission to an independent judging panel, which will assess their contribution to agriculture, community strength, and regional leadership.

From this group, three finalists will be selected for town visits before the ultimate winner is crowned later in the year.

Minister for primary industries and regional development Clare Scriven said “South Australia’s regional towns are the heart of our state, driving innovation, food production, and economic strength across the board”.

“The Agricultural Town of the Year Award is a fantastic way to celebrate these communities and acknowledge the incredible role they play in our state’s prosperity,” Ms Scriven said.

“I encourage everyone to get involved and vote for the town they believe best represents the values, innovation and resilience of our regional areas.”

Last year, 73 towns were nominated, and more than 3600 votes were cast by the public.

Voting is open until June 20, with the top 10 towns receiving the most votes moving forward in the competition.

To vote, visit the website (www.AgTown.com.au).

Community feedback on Waikerie Recreation Centre

LOXTON Waikerie Council is inviting the Waikerie community to provide feedback on recent key findings and recommendations regarding the Waikerie Recreation Centre future upgrades.

Consultation is now open on potential upgrades proposed from a recent needs analysis and feasibility study aiming to improve the facilities.

Public consultation will be open until June 18.

Conducted independently by SGL Consulting Group, the study reviewed three upgrade options based on pre-developed cost estimates and architectural designs. A fourth option — a stand-alone second court adjacent to the existing facility — was also considered.

Key findings, recommendations, and the online feedback form are available now on council’s engagement platform website (www.engagement.lwdc.sa.gov.au/waikerie-recreation-centre-upgrade-needs-feasibility-analysis).

Feedback can also be provided through email (council@lwdc.sa.gov.au) or via written feedback at the Loxton and Waikerie libraries.

Loxton student receives regional scholarship

SEBASTIAN CALDERON

AN outstanding Loxton local has been named the first recipient of a regional scholarship, aiming to support students from regional South Australia in pursuing tertiary education in accounting and finance-related fields.

Tyler Hobby, a former Loxton High School student, was announced as the first recipient of the William Buck Regional Scholarship.

Mr Hobby commenced a Bachelor of Accounting and Finance at Flinders University this year and was officially presented with his award during a recent visit to William Buck’s Adelaide office last month, where he met with mentors, William Buck partner Ben Trengove and team member Ben Davies.

Both mentors are from regional South Australia and will provide ongoing career guidance and personal support throughout the three-year scholarship.

The scholarship, valued at $15,000, will help alleviate the financial pressures associated with relocating for study, while also offering valuable industry mentorship.

Mr Hobby discovered the scholarship opportunity through a post on his high school’s Facebook page, just one day before applications closed.

“I saw the post on the Loxton High Facebook page and thought, ‘why not give it a go?’,” Mr Hobby said.

“It’s great to receive financial support to help with living away from home, but I’m most excited about building relationships and learning from the William Buck team.”

Mr Hobby has always had an interest in wealth management and superannuation, particularly self-managed super funds (SMSF) and SMSF audit, sparked by conversations with his mother, who works in finance.

Mr Hobby is expecting to give back to regional communities, either by returning to Loxton, or other regional places around South Australia, where the “countryside and strong sense of community” has inspired him.

With one-third of William Buck’s Adelaide partners originating from country South Australia, and many clients based in regional areas, the scholarship reflects their commitment to supporting communities that support them.

William Buck South Australia managing partner Adrian Chugg said “this initiative allows us to assist talented individuals with a passion for finance while reinforcing our commitment to the long-term sustainability of Australia’s accounting industry”.

Pasin shows thanks for Barker’s volunteers

THE Riverland’s Federal MP has helped celebrate the work done by the area’s many volunteers. Barker MP Tony Pasin last week held a morning tea to highlight the efforts of local volunteers, coinciding with the recent National Volunteer Week.

Mr Pasin said it was vital to acknowledge and “thank the community members who go above and beyond by volunteering”. “Volunteers really are the heart of communities across Barker and they deserve recognition for the time and skills they donate to help make our local communities the great places they continue to be,” Mr Pasin said. “From the local footy or netball club, service club or CFS, a thriving volunteer ecosystem is crucial in regional communities for the provision of services, events, support and for building a thriving sense of community. “It provided opportunity for the local volunteer community to get together, celebrate each other, make new connections and share ideas with others from across the region over a cuppa.”

A cut above: winter pruning can stop fruit fly before it starts

AS the Riverland settles into its winter rhythm, fruit trees begin to slow – but for gardeners, this season is far from idle. It’s the best time to fight fruit fly. Now’s the moment to grab your secateurs and take a good look at your backyard. That overgrown tree, that leftover fruit, those hard-to-reach branches? They’re more than just untidy – they’re a silent invitation for fruit fly to settle in. Winter pruning is a simple act with powerful results. Cutting your fruit trees back to a manageable height helps reduce hiding spots and makes it easier to harvest fruit before it falls. If you can’t reach it, neither can we – and fallen or forgotten fruit can become breeding grounds. Our teams at PIRSA continue their work year-round: monitoring traps, inspecting properties, applying organic bait, and releasing sterile flies to interrupt the breeding cycle. But the fight against fruit fly starts at home. Every Riverland resident can make a difference this winter. Take an hour, prune that overgrown tree, clear out any old fruit, and help us stop the cycle before spring arrives. This is about more than pruning – it’s about protecting our trees, our harvest, and our future. Your backyard is the front line. Choose to act. For tips on how to prune safely and effectively, and to find out if you’re in an outbreak area, visit the website (fruitfly.sa.gov.au).

30 years of dancing in the Riverland

DUE to Covid, celebrating 25 years of the River Rock Dance Club (RRDC) had to be cancelled, hence the club is making the most of their 30th year in 2025.

The RRDC has had a number of homes over the years and has now grown to more than 100 members.

Many of these gather at the Monash Hall each Monday night, at 7pm, to share dance knowledge and fun times. Styles of dance have also broadened from strictly rock and roll, to include partner and line dancing.

For the 30th year, the Club is putting on a five-day festival with dancing in the Berri Town Hall, on Thursday, October 9, Friday, October 10, and Saturday, October 11. There will be breakfast on the Berri riverfront on Sunday morning, and then a relaxing pizza night at the Berri Caravan Park in the evening. The usual weekly dance will follow on the Monday evening.

To acknowledge the nature of this year, the committee has also arranged special commemorative polo tops, plus packs of club merchandise – including a shoe bag, pen, towel and magnet – for members to purchase. These have proved very popular.

If anyone is interested in the club in general, or to find out more about the Rocktober events, please contact president Peter on 0439 081 084.

The group is hosting a five-day festival, with dancing in the Berri Town Hall, to mark the milestone.

The group meets for dancing each Monday night, at the Monash Hall, at 7pm.

Riverlanders called to support Zim's Legacy

MADISON EASTMOND

A RIVERLAND charity is searching for local support to help extend their therapy services to those most in need.

Hoping to make lasting change for those struggling with mental health and disability, Miracle Park Stables have launched a pay-it-forward funding pool to provide free and subsidised equine-assisted therapy sessions.

With the initiative named to honour a miniature pony that made a profound impact on local clients, owner Mel Sargent said “Zim’s Legacy seeks to ensure that financial barriers do not prevent individuals from experiencing the therapeutic benefits of equine assisted-therapy”.

“Through this funding pool, we will provide support for families, children, veterans, survivors of domestic violence, individuals with disabilities, and those facing mental health challenges, allowing them to be blessed with healing through the unique connection between humans and horses,” she said.

“Zim was an amazing pony that transformed people’s lives and had the most remarkable impact on clients because he was so calm and regulated.

“When we lost him last year, it was devastating and it felt like we had a big hole in our therapy team, but his legacy lives on in the ponies we have now.

“So, Zim’s Legacy is a movement dedicated to healing and transformation through the power of horses — we want to continue to give as much as what he has given to so many people already.”

With experience as a registered nurse, Ms Sargent and her husband began Miracle Park Stables in 2021, with the Berri charity now a team that helps build self-esteem, resilience, and emotional regulation skills for those struggling with their mental health and/or have a disability, with trauma-informed equine facilitated therapy, equine-assisted learning, and horsemanship coaching.

“Horses have a really similar social structure to people — they experience the same emotions as people,” Ms Sargent said.

“They are amazing mirrors... and will reflect back what the person is feeling. Even if someone is saying they’re calm, if they’re in the herd and dysregulated, the horses will be very wary because they can feel that incongruence.

“So, when we do breath and grounding work the horses will come back because you become a safe space — ultimately you learn to self-regulate, because if you want the horses near you, you have to do the work.

“(Also), while of course being around the horses can help the person regulate, healing can also come from

Hoping to provide free, or subsidised, equine-assisted therapy sessions, Miracle Park Stables owner Mel Sargent said Zim's Legacy is "a movement dedicated to healing and transformation through the power of horses". PHOTO: Madison Eastmond the interaction with the horse and the connection that can be built.”

“Operating in the present, responding immediately and honestly to what is happening in the moment”, Ms Sargent said horses are able to read non-verbal signals and body language, making them the perfect assistant to therapeutic programs.

“(The therapy services) enables a deepening in awareness of self and can encourage confidence, and improve personal strengths,” she said.

“It gets to the core of someone’s distress.

“It asks (and answers) how can we make you feel safe? Because the trauma-informed care we provide here is about safety, stabilisation, trust, choice, collaboration, and empowerment.

"It's creating that long-term healing by allowing people to regulate their nervous system, as it can change their worldview (and learn to trust)."

Ms Sargent said donations could either be flexible, or take the form of yearly/once-off sponsorships that will alleviate financial pressures and allow the charity to expand their services, including:

- ❑ Platinum Sponsor: $5200 or more ($100 per week), major project contribution, or provides a full sponsorship of two horses for a year.
- ❑ Gold Sponsor: $2600 ($50 per week), provides a full sponsorship of one horse for a year.
- ❑ Silver Sponsor: $1300 ($25 per week), provides feed for one horse for a year.
- ❑ Bronze Sponsor: $520 ($10 per week), provides hoof trimming for one horse for a year.

“In addition to monetary support, we welcome in-kind sponsorships,” she said.

“For example, a Platinum sponsorship could be fulfilled through $5200 worth of feed products, materials, fencing services, or other essential contributions.

“However, we would be grateful to any support.

“We just want to fill the (donation) pot as much as we can, so we provide as much help and support to the community as possible.”

RAP coming to Riverland’s schools

A SAFETY program will be visiting local schools during the second week of June, aiming to motivate young Riverlanders onto safer practices behind the wheel.

The Metropolitan Fire Service (MFS) is delivering its Road Awareness Program (RAP) across schools in the region, starting June 10.

The program is run by a full-time firefighter, who will deliver information designed to motivate people to be safer road users by showing participants the consequences of taking risks on our roads.

The program will discuss:

- Positive attitudes, smart decision-making, and safe behaviours.
- The dangers of excessive speed, distractions, and driving under the influence.
- Responsible behaviour as a passenger and pedestrian.
- Becoming a responsible driver.
- First-hand accounts of the trauma experienced by individuals involved in both fatal and non-fatal road crashes.

A key feature of the program is a talk by a real-life road crash survivor, Eli Murn, who will share their experience and urge participants to learn from their story. Participants may also be included in a recreated scenario to help them understand the emotional impact of their actions and how the aftermath could affect their future.

Mr Murn is a road crash survivor who currently lives with a brain injury, acquired from an accident, in which he was driving recklessly, showing off to his girlfriend at the time, on a wet night on a regional road. Murn tells his story in the hope that people will learn from his mistake.

The program also covers the long-term trauma resulting from injuries and fatalities, including the ongoing impacts of loss and disability on victims and their families.

Designed to provide a hard-hitting, realistic view of road trauma, the presentation includes footage of real crashes and recreations. While the footage is edited for adult audiences, it is unsuitable for those under 15 years old and may be upsetting, especially for those with personal experiences of road trauma. Participants are warned before viewing any graphic content.

Past participants have described the program as “confronting” and “hard-hitting,” with many reporting a significant positive impact on their approach to road use and their attitude as members of society.

MFS representatives said “by completing the RAP, participants gain a deeper understanding of how their choices affect others and how they can support one another in making better decisions”.

Advancing agriculture by empowering changemakers

WOOLWORTHS and the National Farmers’ Federation (NFF) have partnered to launch the AgriEmpower Scholarship, with future Riverland agriculture changemakers able to share in a $400,000 investment.

The program offers 20 scholarships of $20,000 each to individuals aged 25 to 40 across the agricultural supply chain, with funding directed to:

- Innovative projects.
- Developing skills and knowledge.
- Gaining experience to contribute to the sector.

“This is an innovative approach, investing in the young thinkers and doers who will help us get there,” NFF president David Jochinke said.

Woolworths retail managing director Annette Karantoni said “as Australia’s Fresh Food People, our connection to Australian farmers is fundamental”.

“Our partnership demonstrates our commitment to the long-term strength and innovation of the Australian agriculture sector,” she said.

Beyond the $20,000 — which recipients have 18 months to use — access to valuable events and workshops hosted by Woolworths and NFF to build networks will also be available.

Applications close June 30.

Yvonne O'Dea has been at all 37 carnivals, and played in the first 36. She was a champion player in the Mid North and has represented South Australian Seniors in the Australian Seniors Tennis teams events. Kaye Tanner has played in all 37 carnivals, however like Eunice she was unable find a team this year.

SAHRA president Phil Air and Kingston-on-Murray Caravan Park park manager Jeff 'Bluey' (right), presented a donation of $1000 to well-known local Mick Kelly. PHOTO: supplied

When SAHRA made Mick's day

MEMBERS of the South Australian Hot Rod Association (SAHRA) last month travelled to the Kingston-on-Murray Caravan Park for some much-needed R&R. Most arrived during the week prior and departed on the Sunday, or early the following week.

It was a pretty laid-back weekend, with a cruise to view a very impressive and large private car collection down in the Mallee, and a social evening at the Cobdogla Club, on Saturday. The remaining meals were cooked up for and by members in the park, and the spare time was spent either checking out the Riverland, fishing or talking cars and socialising.

On the Sunday it was found that not all the entry fees had been utilised, so with a top up from SAHRA, $1000 was accumulated. The committee felt this could be donated to a worthy person from the immediate district, and the name Mick Kelly was suggested.

Mick is well known in the Riverland community, and many are aware of his health issues and the drain on his finances, not to mention the volunteering he has done around the region. Mick was conned into going to the park, by park manager Jeff 'Bluey', for a quick catch up where SAHRA president Phil Air made the surprise presentation to Mick. To say he was ecstatic and emotional at what had been done for him would be an understatement.

Mick said he was shocked by the generosity of people he didn't even know, and it reinstalled his faith in humanity. Not only these unknown Hot Rodders but the entire Riverland community have been unbelievably supportive of not only him, but his entire family. It only increases his passion to give back to the community because kindness appears to be something severely lacking these days. He hopes they understand how much of a difference something like this helps with his health and the economic pressures being experienced these days.

Every minute counts when spotting early blood cancer symptoms

RIVERLANDERS are being encouraged to learn the signs and symptoms of blood cancer, with the disease set to increase in both diagnosis, and mortality by 2035.

Blood cancer cannot be screened for, prevented, or predicted, with early detection increasing the chance of survival by up to 40 per cent.

"For many Australians diagnosed with blood cancer, including leukaemia, lymphoma, or myeloma, the timing of their diagnosis is everything," Leukaemia Foundation CEO Chris Tanti said.

"Early detection often determines whether potentially life-saving treatment options are available, and how effective those treatments will be.

"We also know that survival rates can increase significantly the sooner a blood cancer diagnosis occurs – in fact, as much as 40 per cent – serving as a powerful reminder of how urgent timely action is."

When caught early, blood cancer is more likely to be treatable and less life threatening with the benefits profound and wide-reaching, including:

- More treatment options, including curative treatments like stem cell transplants.
- Less aggressive and shorter treatment regimens.
- A better quality of life for patients, with fewer complications and side effects.
- Lower financial and emotional toll on patients and the healthcare system, including fewer hospital admissions.
- Greater emotional wellbeing and a quicker return to daily life and normality.

In contrast, when blood cancer is diagnosed at an advanced stage, patients often face longer, more intensive treatments, poorer health outcomes, and significantly higher psychological and financial burdens.

"For patients with lymphoma, for example, delays in diagnosis can more than double the length and intensity of treatment required," Mr Tanti said.

"However, when caught early, patients may be eligible for less aggressive, shorter-duration therapies, which can reduce hospital time, ease emotional distress, and improve both survival and recovery."

The Leukaemia Foundation is calling on all Australians to be aware of the five key symptoms of blood cancer and act promptly:

- ❑ Fatigue that fails to go away.
  - ❑ Frequent or recurrent infections.
  - ❑ Unexplained bruising or bleeding.
  - ❑ Unexplained weight loss.
  - ❑ Swollen lymph nodes (usually painless).
- "Blood cancer is often called Australia's hidden cancer crisis, but what's really hidden is the life-saving impact that an earlier diagnosis can have," Mr Tanti said.
- "Understanding the five key symptoms of blood cancer could help you, or someone you love, get diagnosed earlier when treatment is more effective and less intense.
- "We're talking about someone's partner, child, parent, or best friend getting their life back and going on to thrive following blood cancer."

Celebrating the wonderful volunteers at Barmera Library

Judy, Ruth and Shirley, of the Get Creative Children's Art group.

IN celebration of the recent Volunteers Week, Barmera Library proudly recognised the amazing contributions of our dedicated volunteers.

Each volunteer received a certificate of appreciation, a 'Volunteer 2025' pen, and a delicious cupcake as a small token of gratitude.

Volunteers play an invaluable role in supporting a range of creative and community-focused activities at the library. From sewing projects and crafting to making practical and heartfelt items such as card holders, dementia fiddle blankets, and hand-made cards for nursing home residents, their efforts make a real difference.

They also help lead engaging art sessions for children, sparking creativity and joy in young minds.

We are deeply thankful for our volunteer groups. Celebrating them during Volunteers Week is just one way we can show our appreciation for their ongoing commitment and kindness.

BOOK REVIEW BY: _____
Karen Flavel

A DELIGHTFULLY chaotic regency romp, Beverley Watts' 'Grace' is a witty and heart-warming historical romance that kicks off The Shackleford Sisters series with flair, humour, and a touch of chaos. Set in Regency, England, the novel introduces us to the irrepressible Shackleford family — eight unruly daughters, one hapless reverend father, and a society wholly unprepared for their arrival.

At the centre of the story is Grace Shackleford, the eldest daughter, who is anything but the demure, obedient lady expected by the ton. When the newly returned, battle-scarred Duke of Blackmore, Nicholas Sinclair, unexpectedly proposes marriage, sight unseen, Grace finds herself thrust into a world of dukedoms, duty, and unexpected affection.

Watts masterfully blends romantic tension, drama and comedy, creating a narrative that is both engaging and laugh-out-loud funny.

The reverend's desperate matchmaking schemes, Grace's spirited defiance, and Nicholas's haunted past all intertwine to form a story that is touching and entertaining.

This historical romance is a delightful easy read, suitable for fans of the Bridgerton series.

REPORTS SUPPLIED by PETER SAFRALIDIS

WE ordered in the weather at the scenic Martin’s Bend venue, and it was a great day of ‘learning to play and playing to learn’ as 629 students from years 4 to 12 participated in our Riverland School Sport Cross Country Carnival.

The event showcased an incredible display of both individual grit and collective heart.

Athletes pushed beyond their perceived limits, while a powerful sense of community permeated the air as friends, family, and even competitors offered encouragement and congratulations to everyone crossing the finish line.

The Apex Cup for the best performed secondary school overall went to Loxton, 10.5 points ahead of runners-up Waikerie, while age group pennants were shared around, with each school winning at least one.

All high schools will select their top performers to compete in the state championships, at Oakbank, on June 5, and the top performers at primary level will represent the Riverland SAPSASA team at the same event.

Many students enjoyed the experience, and are keen to extend themselves further, or simply had a fun day and learned something about themselves.

Many thanks must go to:

- ❑ Berri-Barmera Council and Martin’s Bend caretaker Dave, who did a lot of work to ensure the track and surrounds were in good condition and ready for us to use.
- ❑ Berri Regional Secondary College, who not only helped with the general running of the event, including set up and pack up through sport co-ordinator Josh Vater and his crew, but also provided a whole class of students.
- ❑ Year 7/8 Volunteering Studio’s class, guided by teachers Mrs Safralidis and Miss Lye, provided 20 checkpoint marshals, finish line assistants and other general event assistants. These students were so hard working, efficient and friendly that a number of our adult volunteer officials went out of their way to send messages to myself and/or their teachers to let them know.
- ❑ A large band of volunteers, many of whom always put up their hand for these events, willing to fulfil any role, and doing it with a smile on their faces. They included Beth Hueppauff, Steve Kitto, Joanne Seaton, Greg Platt, Carol Morris, Liz Pendle and Rita Modlinski.
- ❑ Christine, from Results HQ, who expertly entered results at the finish line, as well as Chris from Results HQ for his work in the lead up, and Mel Cant, who assisted Christine at the finish line

- ❑ Jane Woolston who did too many jobs to list, all contributing to the smooth running of the event.
- ❑ Little Miss Daisy and Berri Regional Secondary College, who catered, including providing food and drink for our officials. Little Miss Daisy do this at all our events as part of their sponsorship.
- ❑ All other officials, parents and school staff who made the day possible. A special shout out to Richard Coote for his work at the finish line. His contributions extend far beyond that, as he’s also been instrumental in training many of our top performers and is currently coaching our Riverland SAPSASA team.
- ❑ Daniel Hornhardt, from School Sport SA, who joined us to manage the marshalling and starting all day. It was a real advantage having someone so experienced and professional guide the students through their races and we appreciate him taking the time out to travel to us.
- ❑ Hayden and Meditactix, our first aid providers, who were busy ensuring students’ safety and comfort all day.

Sponsors for this event were:

- ❑ Berri Hotel, who provided accommodation for our three travelling officials, making this viable for us, and also had a representative on hand to present awards.
- ❑ Apex, the original donors of the high school overall shield.

- ❑ Tri State Graphics, who did some last-minute work to make sure our medals were ready to hand out.

REPORTS SUPPLIED by PETER SAFRALIDIS

LAST week saw Riverland students travel to West Beach for the annual SAPSASA football carnival, in what was described as a successful trip.

Students were under the guidance of Berri Football Club champion Peter Safralidis, with assistant coach Wyatt Nuske, of Berri Regional Secondary College, also providing an important hand.

DAY ONE

When you mention ‘wet and wild’ around a group of kids they are usually pretty excited, but this was something different, playing footy in some tricky conditions (and very foreign for our Riverland boys) at West Beach.

The Riverland boys embraced it as much as they could and ended up with two wins and a loss to start the state carnival.

GAME ONE

Riverland 2.3.15 defeated by Southern Heights 4.2.26
Goals: Venning, Albanese.
Best: Tullett, Albanese, Walkington, Portolesi, Moxham, Modlinski.

It was cold, with driving wind and rain, and we talked about embracing the weather, but it was hard for some of our slighter frames who were a bit frozen.

Against the strong wind in the first half we were beaten in the contested ball and conceded four goals, which would have been much more if not for the stellar efforts of Jesse Tullett at full back.

Noah Albanese continually drove us forward in the second half with the wind, but we couldn’t quite convert.

Our co-captain for the day, Noah Walkington, was also excellent in defence.

GAME TWO

Riverland 6.7.43 d Southern Valley 1.3.9
Goals: Venning, Liebich, Portolesi, Sparrow, Bullock, Thiele-Butterworth.
Best: Elphick, Bullock, Portolesi, Albanese, Koch.

A few of our boys only just thawed out in time for this one, but thankfully the rain eased off.

We only conceded one goal, thanks in part to best afield Henry Elphick intercepting at half back, and we managed to jag one going back the other way.

The boys then got the ball to the attacking side with their skills and great long goals from Ned Portolesi and Mack Bullock were effectively the sealers.

The boys really enjoyed getting warm singing the song, ‘We’re from Riverland’, with one another after this great team performance.

GAME THREE

Riverland 4.8.32 d Torrens River 2.3.15
Goals: Koch, Kirk, Liebich, Albanese.
Best: Koch, Winter, Perram, Albanese, Kirk, Liebich.

The boys lost their third toss/rock off in a row, and spent 16 minutes kicking against the wind.

Torrens River attacked hard, but our boys fought tooth and nail to restrict them to two goals in the first half.

We did manage to attack a couple of times, with the likes of Owen Winter, Zac Liebich and Flynn Kirk running the wings hard to create overlap.

Early in the second half Jed Modlinski had a free kick and cleverly handballed to Van Koch near the centre circle, knowing Van’s long kicking could help us get deep into attack.

It went deeper than anyone thought though, rolling on and through for the longest goal I have seen at SAPSASA footy.

We kept linking up and putting the ball in the right areas from there, and were eventually able to hit the front with five minutes left, and finished off strong.

DAY TWO

One win and two losses today, leaving our Riverland boys with a 3-3 record heading into the final day of state carnival action.

GAME FOUR

Riverland 3.3.21 defeated by Western 4.5.29
Goals: Venning, Stoneham.
Best: Bullock, Dring, Sparrow, Koch, Venning, Tullett.

It was a frustrating game, as our Riverland boys conceded a couple of goals early, then really controlled the remainder of the game.

One of our captains for the day, Mack Bullock, won lots of contested ball and got long kicks to our advantage.

Lawson Dring at one point had three intercept marks in a row, and Ben Sparrow provided great run.

Our other captain for the day, Tas Venning, was in everything up forward, providing a great target.

GAME FIVE

Riverland 1.6.12 defeated by Lower South East 2.4.16
Goals: Sparrow
Best: Dring, Portolesi, Koch, Elphick, Modlinski, Walkington.

A bit of a life lesson for the boys here, as things aren’t always fair.

We dominated the second half of this match with the wind, but were unable to score a goal.

There were a few upset boys at the end, but everyone watching was proud of their efforts and they will work on giving the same effort, but using the ball better next game.

rate, long kicking set up many chances for us as he was our best player, while Ned Portolesi showed his skills by hand and foot.

GAME SIX

Riverland 6.5.41 d North Adelaide 2.2.14
Goals: Dring 2, Wyatt 2, Moxham, Thiele-Butterworth.
Best: Dring, Sparrow, Wyatt, Elphick, Moxham, Stoneham.

The boys picked themselves up after that last game and finished with a great team effort, beating North Adelaide by 27 points.

Dring was everywhere early, kicking two goals and unselfishly setting up others, while similarly, Patrick Wyatt ran hard to great spots and got himself a couple of goals.

Elphick made some game changing tackles, Billy Moxham was in and under, and Olly Stoneham deserves a shout out as he was feeling sick in the morning, but got through the day and finished off strong.

DAY THREE

Meatloaf once said ‘Two Out of Three Ain’t Bad’ and although the finish to the carnival was a little bit flat, our second game today was one of the most enjoyable games of SAPSASA football I have been involved with.

GAME SEVEN

Riverland 6.1.37 d Onkaparinga North 2.4.16
Goals: Modlinski 2, Venning, Bullock, Thiele-Butterworth, Perram.
Best: Bullock, Liebich, Perram, Kirk, Pritchard, Thiele-Butterworth.

The Riverland team fired up for the livestream cameras on oval one, with excellent run and ball usage breaking lines in a four-goal to nothing first half.

Concentration lapsed a little at the end of the game, but overall it was a great effort, with the boys running out 21-point winners, in what was a great way to start the last day.

GAME EIGHT

Riverland 5.2.32 d Onkaparinga South

2.6.18

Goals: Thiele-Butterworth, Wyatt, Albanese, Portolesi, Koch.
Best: Albanese, Elphick, Wyatt, Koch, Bullock, Tullett.

The boys asked if they could sing their song in the clubrooms if they won this game, and it must have fired them up.

This was our best game of the carnival, getting the best of the previously undefeated Onkaparinga South.

The first half was a real arm wrestle, as they had more of the play, but we made some big defensive plays to be one goal each at half time.

Our ball usage got better as the game went on, but we were still a few points behind with around six minutes left.

It was then that Albanese kicked the goal of the year, winning a contested ground ball before side stepping and putting it through off the outside of his foot, from the pocket about 30m out.

We then kicked two more quick ones before the celebrations in the clubrooms.

GAME NINE

Riverland 1.4.10 defeated by Adelaide South East 5.7.37
Goals: Koch.
Best: Bullock, Tullett, Albanese, Portolesi, Koch, Sparrow.

The excitement of the previous game and the accumulation of bumps and bruises left us a bit flat in this final game unfortunately.

Adelaide South East played the way we like to, spreading and using the ball well, and they got off to a good start.

Van Koch kicked the first goal of the second half and Mack Bullock continually drove us forward.

FINAL DAY WRAP

This was just an excellent team to coach. They were energetic and self-motivated, while their collaboration and sportsmanship were a pleasure to watch.

They were willing to learn and when everything clicked in game eight, it was great fun.

For this young, inexperienced group to finish with a 5-4 win loss record in division two was a great achievement, and will stand them in good stead for future endeavours.

Every player was named in the best players during the carnival as well, showing what a collaborative group it was.

When a teammate was announced in the best players, they all cheered and patted them on the back.

We will get together in a fortnight to hold our presentation night, where the team will have some fun together and receive their certificates, with educational outcomes listed on the back.

Thanks for this week go out to:

- Wyatt Nuske (Berri Regional Secondary College) who took teams/groups/drills at training, helped with team selection and positional changes/rotations, spoke to players about their goals, took stats, worked with players on their skills and ran messages amongst other jobs. Wyatt formed a real bond with the boys, and there are some great educational outcomes for him. He is also being assessed for his work through year 12 sport and recreation.
- Rachael Sparrow, who organised our goal umpires, time-keepers and match day officials for the week, and took lots of photos amongst helping with anything else that needed doing.
- Leigh Kruger and Andrew Sparrow who assisted with selection trials, with Leigh also helping tee up our tickets and player meet and greet at the Crows game on Sunday.
- All the parents for getting your kids there, goal umpiring, washing uniforms, and supporting me as a coach.
- Berri Football Club for letting us use all of the facilities for our training sessions.
- Wade, Dave, and School Sport SA for making the event happen and doing it so well.
- Riverland media (5RM, ABC, Magic FM, The Murray Pioneer) for giving us great coverage.
- The players, for being a great bunch to coach. They did their families, schools and the Riverland proud with the way they carried themselves, which is more important than the scoreboard.

Sunraysia come up with the goods on home turf

HEADING home and over the border, Sunraysia made the most of its familiar surroundings in the latest round of Riverland hockey.

Sunraysia battled it out against Loxton on Saturday evening in both the A grade men's and women's competitions, and picked up two victories in the process.

A grade men's action saw the Victorian-based side net four goals, largely thanks to a brace from Taj Flentjar, which helped secure the points.

Flentjar's goals were supported by both Simon Divola, and Fengyung Chen, while Oscar Crisp produced a strong performance.

For Loxton, goals came through Jay Botton and Cody Hennig, but it was Tayte Botton who gave it his all until the final whistle.

A grade women's action was headlined by a two-goal effort from Sunraysia's Sue Wakefield, which was all her side required against the Tigers.

Abbey James and Zoe Geraghty worked hard for Loxton in what was ultimately a disappointing night, with the scorers untroubled.

However, the excitement of the A grade women's grade came from Waikerie, where the home side recorded a two-all draw with Berri.

Berri found the back of the net through Madison Martin and Ocea Vallelonga, only to be cancelled out after goals from both Zali Schiller and Abbey Edwards.

B grade men's action saw an intra-club derby between Loxton and new side Loxton Punjab, and it was the experienced side that proved too good, winning by nine goals to nil.

Ty Othams and Lee Mickan were the leading scorers for the Tigers with two each, while Todd Griffen proved to be the best on the pitch.

The most exciting result of the weekend came through the under 18 men's competition, where local sides Berri, and Loxton/Renmark combined for nine goals.

Berri took the win by five goals to four, headlined by a stunning four-goal individual effort from Logan Bowers.

Elsewhere, a Ryan Schulz goal was the only thing which separated Loxton Yellow from Loxton Black in the under 12 mixed competition, as the teams took part in a local derby.

Riverland hockey will take a bye this week for the June long weekend, with some players selected for the regional zone selection events.

Rovers on top at the break

LACHLAN DAND

AHEAD of the first competition-wide bye of the 2025 RFL season, reigning A grade premier Renmark is currently on top of the tree.

A depleted Renmark side won its fourth game of the season on Saturday afternoon, defeating Loxton North by 24 points in a hard-fought battle at Renmark Oval.

In what can only be described as a scrap, the Rovers held a 15-point half time lead, with the margin just three goals to one.

Renmark's goals came through Matt Smith, Liam Jackson, and Nick Stockman, while the Panthers' only major came via Brok Viney-Obst.

However, the second half saw the floodgates open to a degree, with both sides managing four goals in the third term, before Renmark kicked the final two goals of the game to seal the victory.

Panther Jarrod Buckley cut the margin to 12 points early in the final term, but the Rovers rallied, finding majors through Harrison Brown and Brody Rover, sealing the points.

Renmark coach Josh Vater, who was one of several injured stars, said he was pleased with the way his side found a way to win.

"We've had some adversity with some injuries of late, which has tested our depth, and given players some chances to play in different roles, and I'm pleased with the way they've handled that over the last few weeks," he said.

"We're not playing our prettiest football, but being able to get wins is really important to us.

"Having two byes relatively close together is handy, but having said that, every year you get injuries, and as a group we need to be able to strong enough to adapt.

"I actually enjoyed the challenge of not playing and just coaching from the sidelines, and I felt I could do a better coaching job and talk specifics about incidents during the game.

"I find it a limitation when I'm coaching and playing, because I rely heavily on my assistants, so sometimes my feedback is a bit more generic.

"I enjoyed that aspect, but at the same time I hated not playing, so it was certainly a balance."

Jackson continued his hot run of form in the forward line for the Rovers, finishing with two majors, while Lachie Lellmann, and Matt Woolford also added to the goals for the home side.

Since returning to Renmark over the off-season, Lellmann has become one of the most important aspects of Vater's side, while Dan Woolford and Ricky Garrett are flourishing in midfield.

For Loxton North, in a game which saw several injuries, young forward Tyler Wagner booted two goals, while Joel Worsfold, Buckley, and the returning Maison Eckermann worked hard.

The Panthers will head to the bye in sixth spot, yet sit on the same number of wins as fourth-placed Loxton, and Vater said he is enjoying the close nature of the 2025 season.

"Something we've spoken to the playing group about is having the privileged position that most clubs see us as the one they want to hunt down," he said.

"The results have been close across all games this year, and that's exciting, and good for the area to have six teams in the hunt for finals.

"You do want a really even competition, and the anxiety that players get around getting ready to play, and the unknown is the attraction to sport.

"It's nice going into games knowing we have to be on, so hopefully that can continue to be the case in the next part of the season."

Following this weekend's Interleague bye, the Rovers will travel to the Lakeside for a battle with Barmora-Monash, while Loxton North return home to tackle Waikerie.

Uniting for special causes

A PAIR of local football clubs united for special causes, raising money for the Heart Foundation and Red Nose Australia, respectively.

Held at Renmark Oval, the Renmark Rovers were in support of Heart Foundation, and Loxton North supported Red Nose Australia for their annual charity clashes.

The Rovers added a red strip to their traditional blue and white stripes, while Loxton North went for a white-based design with red dots.

Both clubs kicked off each other's fundraising efforts with a $200 donation each way for their chosen charities.

While totals are still being calculated, both clubs received $570 from The Murray Pioneer's advertising feature, and Renmark president Haydn Brown said the Rovers had rescheduled some fundraising planning.

"We've re-jigged the fundraising a bit this year, and we'll auction off our jumpers from the day at our 1995 grand final reunion night in a few weeks," he said.

"That will give us a bit more time to generate a meaningful amount, but we had a Mexican-themed night and had a lot of people in the club after the game.

"Guernsey's were presented to Mark Ceracchi and Sam Pearce, as both have been long supporters of the football club and have both had involvement with heart specialists in Adelaide recently, hence the chosen charity."

Loxton North went back to Panther Park to hold an auction night, and treasurer Tracy Proud said it was an "awesome night".

"Sarah Arnold and Mike Pannell are friends with Lachie Neale from the Brisbane Lions, and he signed one of the guernsey's, which was amazing," she said.

"They also had some friends who were unable to make it that put together an AFL package for the upcoming July Showdown, with accommodation at the Adelaide Oval hotel.

"All the players had the option to buy their guernseys, and all bought them bar one, so we had to get a few extras too."

In what was a particularly moving aspect of the night, Ms Arnold and Mr Pannell gave a speech on behalf of Fletch, thanking the Loxton community for their generosity.

"The whole room was dead silent listening to them, and that just shows what an impact it's had on our little community," Ms Proud said.

"Tarque Williamson from Nutrien Harcourts donated $500 to Red Nose, and Speight and Brown Conveyancing donated $200, and The Murray Pioneer donated as well, which was awesome.

"All of those donations will go straight through to the charity, and a substantial donation will go to the charity from the football club.

"There were people from the Loxton Football Club, which just shows the impact it has had on our little community."

Waikerie shine under the Loxton lights

LACHLAN DAND

FOLLOWING a poor run of recent results, Waikerie snapped a three-game losing streak on Saturday evening in the RFL’s A grade competition.

The Magpies defeated the Tigers in round one following a strong first half performance, but with several player changes, a unique challenge presented.

Travelling to Loxton to play under the lights, Waikerie were desperate for a response, and it gave first-year coach Jackson Sutton just that.

Shifted to a 4pm start, the visiting side jumped away to a 26-point quarter time advantage, kicking five goals to one, including the first four of the match.

Shaun King was the catalyst for the Magpies, kicking two majors, continuing his impressive 2025, while Bradley Truscott, Stephen Hausler, and Kade Hilton all kicked truly.

Loxton’s only reprieve of the opening term came via Harley Campbell, but the Tigers were left with a mountain to climb heading into the second stanza.

In a seesawing second term, Loxton failed to make the most of its opportunities, yet still kicked five second quarter goals, and the Magpies kicked four of their own.

Waikerie extended the lead to 38 points early in the second quarter after goals from Hilton and Jack Burgemeister, leaving the Tigers searching for answers.

Loxton quickly cut the margin back to 24 after Jesse Will and Riley Walton goaled, but the Magpies were back out to 34 shortly after.

Late goals from Ross Romeo and Will had the margin at a gettable 21 points at the major break, but the Magpies were still in a commanding position.

Hilton’s third of the day came early in the third quarter, floating the margin to 27 points, but goals from big man Brayden De Prinse, Luke Salmon, and John Fisher had the Tigers roaring, trimming the deficit to 10 points at the final change.

Missed opportunities plagued both sides in the final term, and a quarter without goals occurred as a result, with the major talking point being a yellow card to Waikerie veteran Craig Miller.

Tristan Geehman had the ball on a string for the Pies, finding plenty of the football across the day, and Ryan Shaw proved crafty with the ball in hand.

Lachlan Nitschke continues to build into the season having missed the first four A grade matches, while Jarrad Bee hunted the ball all evening.

For Loxton, Jesse Will continues to piece together another strong season, leading from the front, while Riley Walton and Che Lange were calm off half back.

This weekend sees the RFL head to a competition-wide bye for the Interleague game to be held at Barossa Park in Lyndoch, but both the Tigers and Magpies will head to the break inside the top four.

Following the bye, Waikerie will be back in action on the road with a trip to Loxton North to face the Panthers, and Loxton will travel to RFL headquarters to do battle with an improving Berri outfit.

Redbacks get home in a thriller

THE closest game of the 2025 MVFNL season was played out on Saturday, when BSR welcomed Sedan-Cambrai to Swan Reach.

On the back of a slow start from the hosts, Sedan-Cambrai burst away to a 23-point advantage, kicking four goals unanswered in the first term.

However, the script was flipped in the second quarter, with the Redbacks piling on seven majors to two, setting up an 11-point half time lead.

Yet, the match had another twist, with a six-goal third term from the visitors setting up a six-point lead at the last break, making the Redbacks pay for missed opportunities.

BSR quickly levelled things through James Mapstone in the early stages of the last quarter, and when Bryce Denham kicked two, and Max Speyer kicked truly, the home side were in full flow.

While a late Magpies major gave Shane Cooke’s group some hope, the Redbacks managed to hold on for a thrilling two-point victory.

Matt Gibson continued his strong season for BSR with five majors, while Denham kicked two, and Zane Hedley fought tirelessly.

For the Magpies, Jackson Le Couteur was the key man in attack booting five goals, while Brock Hutchings chipped in with two.

Elsewhere, Paringa made it two from two, getting the better of Ramco by 18 points in a strong performance on the road.

Trailing at half time, the Swans kicked into gear in the second half with six goals to two to seal the victory, keeping in touch with the top four.

Captain Joel Watson was the key cog in attack for Paringa with three majors, and Lee Verrall finished with two, while Isaac Frahn and Kyle Hewitt impressed coach Nick Dillon.

Kuchel and Lee Walsh found themselves in the best.

The biggest win of the weekend came from Wunkar, where the visiting Murrayville earned a 61-point win over the Bulldogs.

A clinical opening quarter from the Blues saw them leading by 29 points at quarter time, setting up the rest of the game from there.

Nathan Bramfit extended his lead to 10 at the top of the leading goalkickers list, with four majors taking him to 31 overall.

Brock Milde booted three for the visiting side, while Kelly Gohl and Clayton Sporn continue to be consistent for Keenan Wilksch’s team.

For Wunkar, Heath Kelly found plenty of the ball off half back, while Mitch Neumann and Tarquin Schulz fought valiantly in a disappointing defeat.

The MVFNL season will hold a bye this weekend for the June Long Weekend, and will be back in action on Saturday, June 14.

RIVERLAND DARTS

IN what was expected to be a close match between R C Ones and Lake Leviathans, Leviathans took a 4-2 lead after the first round of singles, headlining the latest round of Riverland darts.

Leviathans were able to hold off R C Ones in the second round of singles to have a winning lead of 8-4, before eventually claiming a 9-6 victory.

Broden May had a top night for Leviathans, as did Wayne Schwartzkopff for R C Ones.

Monash Wanderers had to fight hard against Lyrup Lionheart. With the score at 3-3 at the end of the singles, Wanderers then settled and went on to win 11-4.

Wanderers Jason Willet top scored with a 180, while both Russell Burgess and Bruch Koch performed well for Lionhearts.

Waikerie Vipers defeated Lakeside Joey’s 13-2 after Matthew McDonald scored a 180 for Vipers, with teammate Shane McKinnon having a top average of 25.41, high peg of 119, and low games of 15, 18 and 22 darts.

Cobby Eagles defeated B.R.D.T 14-1, with Jeff Broekers leading the way with low games of 15, 20 and 24 darts, and a high average of 23.46.

The Riverland will send a team to the SA Country Championships, at Port Pirie, on the long weekend with the team being Shane McKinnon, Calib Martin, Broden May, Jason Willett, Wayne Bonham, Dave Martin and Andrea Sostegni, while Kendall Hayes and Michelle Hayes will co-captain, and be statisticians.

Barmera-Monash reel back Fisher Cup

LACHLAN DAND

THE highly sought after Fisher Cup is back at the Lakeside, following Barmera-Monash’s 37-point win on Saturday afternoon at Berri Oval.

The Roos lost the Cup in a seven-point shock in season 2024, and coming off a two-match losing streak, were desperate for a response.

On the other hand, Berri entered the battle after back-to-back victories over Loxton North and Waikerie respectively.

In a fast start to the game, Barmera-Monash found the opening goal inside the opening 13 seconds through Max Pietrolaj, following a centre clearance from Jack Austin.

Austin continued to dominate around the ground in the first term, as well as kicking a goal, and helping the Roos skip away to a seven-point quarter time lead.

Berri slotted the first goal of the second term through Darcy Minchella’s second, however, Steve Burton kicked two in the quarter, alongside Chris Bonney’s finish to have the margin at 16 points in favour of the visitors at half time.

With the game in the balance heading into the second half, Barmera-Monash put the foot on the gas in the third quarter.

Burton kicked three in the term, taking him to five for the day, alongside a pair of Lucas Warnett goals, with Berri’s only highlight of the period coming through Minchella’s fourth, leaving the margin at 40 points at the final break.

Booting the first two of the last quarter through Pietrolaj and Lachlan Marks, the Lakesiders’ lead floated out as far as 53 points, before Berri gained some scoreboard reprieve.

Mitch Foulds, and Tyson Lindsay both kicked goals from close range, and Minchella landed his fifth of the afternoon, leaving the margin at 37 upon full time.

For Berri, Minchella’s five stole the headlines, while Matthew Benson provided a spark around half forward.

Defensive trio Peter Safralidis, Brad Rosenzweig, and Jacob Grieger fought hard across the afternoon, continuing strong campaigns, with Barmera-Monash’s clearance work proving supreme.

For Barmera-Monash, Burton took home the Fisher Cup medal

following a five-goal effort, finding plenty of the ball in the process, while Justin Bonney was superb across half back, shutting down dangerous Demon Rory Moroney.

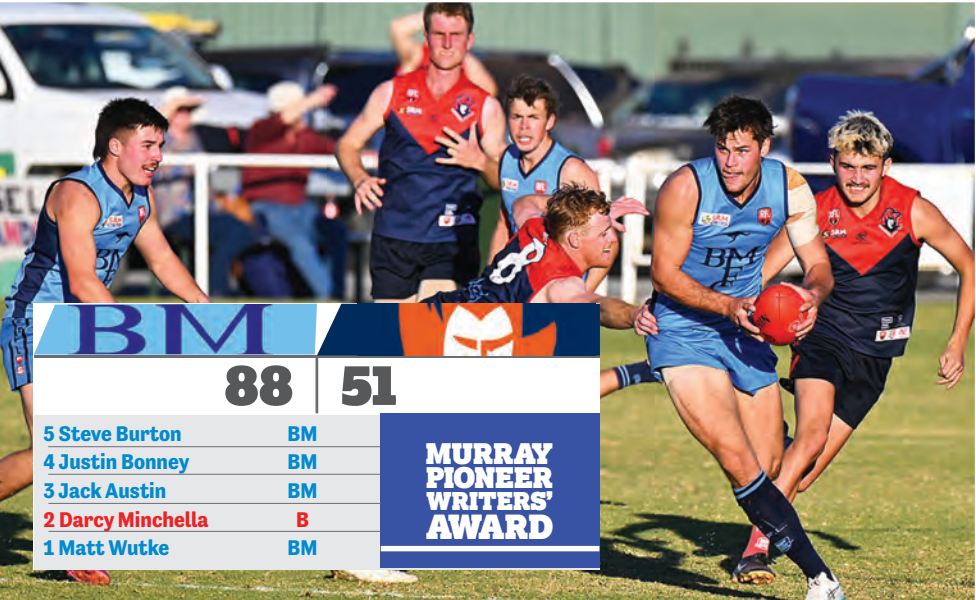

Matt Wutke worked hard across the afternoon, while Austin was excellent in setting the tone.

While this weekend sees a competition-wide bye for the Interleague competition, Berri will next be back in action at home against Loxton.

Barmera-Monash will return home for the first time since round four in a grand final rematch with Renmark.

Jack Austin set the tone in the middle of the ground for the Roos, proving pivotal to Saturday afternoon’s victory.

Riverlanders prepare to represent region

LACHLAN DAND

THREE Riverland junior netball teams will compete in the annual SA Country Championships at the state netball stadium across the June long weekend.

The event, which attracts over 30 associations, features three strong Riverland sides, particularly the 17 and under age group, with several A1 regulars in the squad.

Riverland Netball Association publicity officer Wendy Gambling said the Riverland is taking a strong cohort to the 2025 championships, in what will be an “amazing experience”.

“We’ve got so much talent, so I think we’re going to do alright, and even though we thought that last year, looking at the 17 and under team, they’ve all been there before, bar maybe one,” she said.

“Chrissy Eleftheriadis (coach) would be absolutely delighted to have such a beautiful team, and the standouts will probably be Bailey Hahn and Maddie Groth, but I expect them to do pretty well.

“Kiara Harman and Meg

Kassulke have also both had great seasons, and are in great form, and they will come up against other associations with state players, but overall I think we’ve got a very balanced team.”

In a special highlight, the 13 and under group will be coached by ex-Berri player Charlie Gates, and Gambling said one of her key tasks will be keeping the young group composed on the big stage.

“I’m pleased Charlie’s done that because she played all the way through, and she knows what it’s all about, and the kids just love her,” she said.

“She’s got a way of getting the best out of the kids, and it will be a daunting experience for those girls, because they’ll play against squads who play all-year round.

“If Charlie can keep their composure, they’ve got a lot of talent sitting there, and they’re featuring in the best players most weeks.”

Ms Gambling said the tone of the Country Championships will be set in the opening games, and hopes the Riverland sides can adjust quickly.

“Those first two-or-three games they have to settle, and play to good teamwork,” she said.

“Sometimes these girls go down and they’re classy in their own associaitons, but they forget it’s a team game, and they don’t have to do all the fancy stuff themselves.

“They play crossovers on the second day, so you don’t know who you’re playing, so you have to keep your tactics fresh.”

Renmark, Loxton secure Friday night delight

THE two most formidable sides in Riverland soccer’s A grade men’s competition tasted success under the Friday night lights in Renmark.

The home side started the night with a victory over Barmera, in an entertaining 4-2 result.

Gareth Johansen was the key difference for Olympic, scoring twice, while both Kyle Collinson and Vincent Vu both found themselves on the scoresheet.

Trailing by four goals on 70 minutes, Barmera found reprieve through Tony Mitchell’s goal, and an own goal from Nihaal Jummun 11 minutes later.

However, Renmark found a way to control the remaining minutes of the match, and will be on top of the ladder by goal difference.

Loxton also continues to build back towards the top four cup final, following last season’s heartbreaking defeat, getting the better of Berri 2-0.

It was a classy performance from United on the road, largely thanks to Jake Perram, but it was Hayden Stevens’ brace that secured the points for Loxton.

Loxton is just two points behind first-placed Renmark, while the River Rangers continue to languish in last place, and are yet to pick up a point.

squeezing past Renmark by 2-1 in an entertaining match.

Barmera found the back of the net through Chaima Bouglada and Alyra Newman within three minutes of each other, ruling out Gracie Ivanovic’s fifth-minute goal for Olympic.

With both sides evenly poised, and offering weapons all over the pitch, expect some exciting battles across the remainder of the 2025 campaign.

It was a double delight for Loxton, securing a crushing four-goal victory over Berri, finding the back of the net on five occasions.

Sarah Setchell and Jessica Grace starred for Loxton in what was a dominant display, with United enjoying their first victory of the season.

The biggest margin of the weekend came through the B grade men’s competition, where Renmark took out a 6-0 win over Berri.

Riverland soccer will have a competition-wide bye this weekend due to the June long weekend, before action resumes in Berri on Friday, June 15.

RENMARK TABLE TENNIS ASSOCIATION

ROUND Four of the Renmark Table Tennis Association season saw Bits ‘n Bats score its first win of the season over Whack-a-Ball, and Backhand Bandits made it two in a row with a big win over BitEdgy, moving to the top of the ladder.

In the first match the winless Bits ‘n Bats turned around poor early season form to put its first victory on the board.

After the doubles Bits ‘n Bats were up by four rubbers, which proved to be the difference in the end, winning 14-10.

Paul Haenen (Bits ‘n Bats) hung on in the fifth to secure his first win for the season and Graeme Dyer (Bit ‘n Bats) took five to beat Michael Rose (Whack-a-ball).

But the rubber of the match ended up being a huge five-gamer between Chris Gaskin (Whack-a-Ball) and Colin Ward (Bits ‘n Bats).

Gaskin started well winning the first two games, but with the closeness Colin turned it around in the next two, winning 11-6 and 11-9.

Going into the fifth it was anyone’s rubber, and the game was always going to be great, despite the overall result.

In the end Ward came out on top, winning 14-12 in the last game and securing the third ‘five-gamer’ for Bits ‘n Bats.

In the second match Backhand Bandits started to find some early season form, winning two in a row, with a strong 16-8 win over Bit Edgy.

BitEdgy were only one loss behind after the doubles, but Backhand Bandits dominated the singles, winning 11 and going down in only six singles rubbers.

Steve Watson (Backhand Bandits) had a huge win, beating Frank Sullivan (BitEdgy) in five games and in return it took Sullivan five to beat the improving Dennis Robinson

The match of the night saw young Joel Stoeckel take on the experienced Paul Reid of Bit Edgy.

Stoeckel won the first game 12-10 to see his early lead slip away, with Paul winning the next two 11-6, and 11-8 respectively.

Stoeckel showcased his growing maturity to fight back to win the fourth and take a good lead early in the fifth, but it was the cool head of Reid who worked his way back into the game, ultimately stealing a 13-11 victory to secure the rubber by three games to two.

Loxton North continues its strong form in A1

COMING off a shattering A1 netball grand final defeat in season 2025, Loxton North is making strides back towards the top of Riverland netball, defeating Renmark by 21 goals on Friday night.

Travelling to the Alan Coulter Recreation Centre, Loxton North proved superb against Renmark, getting away to a four-goal lead at quarter time.

However, the damage was proven to be done in the second quarter, with the visitors scoring 16 goals to nine, putting the margin at 11 goals at half time.

North’s control of the game continued into the second half, scoring 26 goals to 16, to run out significant victors.

Ellie Thomas continued her terrific campaign underneath the ring, notching up 33 goals, and she was well supported by Maddie Groth, who finished with 24.

Defensive duo Paris Lawrie and Kiara Harman both worked hard to deny several Renmark attacks, while Kirsty Hausler fought tirelessly in the wing defence role.

However, Brooke Pietrolaj was named as coach Renee Williams’ best, linking up well through the middle of the court.

For Renmark, Anita Modlinski was the main piece of attack with 23 goals, while sister Sonja finished with 13, in what proved to be a disappointing night.

Youngster Cloe Westhoff worked hard in the goalkeeper position, but it proved to be to little avail for the hosts.

Elsewhere, Barmera leapt into the top three, extending Berri’s losing streak to five in a row in the process, with the Lakesiders earning a tense nine-goal victory.

Held at the Toyota Arena in Berri, Barmera held a two-goal lead at half time, and that margin remained at the final change.

However, the visiting side put the foot on the gas in the final quarter, scoring 18 goals to 11 to pick up the points.

Young gun Meg Kassulke dropped further back into the shooter position, flourishing with 36 goals, while the ever-reliable Hallie Hodgson worked hard for 27.

Defender Khaleisha Barnett impressed with several intercepts, particularly throughout the crucial stages of the match.

For Berri, Brooke Franks put through 31 goals, continuing another outstanding campaign, while Kyla Wade put in a strong effort at wing defence, playing on several opponents throughout the evening.

This weekend sees a competition-wide bye for the Country Championships, with Riverland netball back in action on Friday, June 13.

On that night, Barmera will welcome Renmark to town, hoping to cement a spot inside the top four, while Berri hopes to return to the winning circle, when it hosts Loxton, with both clashes beginning at 8.15pm.

Ricciuto to take five:

WAIKERIE hybrid Reuben Ricciuto was handed the biggest suspension of the 2025 RFL season recently, receiving a five-match ban for a hit on Berri forward Regan Kruger.

Ricciuto served the first of his five-match ban last weekend, missing the Magpies' win over Loxton, and he will be unavailable for selection until round 11.

The incident involving the pair came half-way through the third term in Waikerie's loss to Berri, with Ricciuto appearing to leave the ground, and jumping into Kruger.

Not handed a card on the day, the incident left Kruger injured, and out of the Demons' Fisher Cup loss last weekend.

In his second season at Waikerie, Ricciuto – nephew of AFL legend Mark Ricciuto – will next be available for selection on Saturday, July 19, when the Tigers travel to the Magpies' nest.

Man of his word

DELIGHTING in frustrating comics on both sides of the Tasman, cheeky Kiwi comedian Guy Montgomery (pictured) is back with another Australian instalment of his devilishly devised spelling bee.

Montgomery and his creative collaborators have been especially busy bees in the lead-up to this second season, coming up with fresh ways to baffle and bemuse with new rounds: we have speed-dating in "The Love Spell", the seemingly straightforward "Show and Spell" and "Speance" (a spelling séance) to look forward to.

"A handful of the new rounds are subtle variants on games from last season, with similar gameplay but new particulars," explains Montgomery.

"The real fun is in the games that take infuriatingly oblique routes to the spelling. There is a game called the Spelling Gym which allows contestants to choose between an easy spelling word paired with a hard exercise, or a hard spelling word with an easy exercise.

"Nothing in our testing was as insane or funny as what wound up happening on the night and I can't wait for people to see it."

In addition to fresh gameplay, there's a bevy of famous faces joining in the hijinks: Hamish Blake, Rove McManus, Denise Scott, Josh Thomas, Dave Hughes, Dilruk Jayasinha, Susie Yousef and Lizzy Hoo are among the renowned comedians lining up to prove their vocabularies.

With published authors and an Emmy Award-winning writer in the bunch, you might expect some impressive spelling, Montgomery insists there isn't too much in the way of expectations.

"How good the contestants will be at spelling involves some pretty imprecise forecasting so no one really has the room to astound or disappoint that much," he says.

"My favourite moments are when anyone comes out all guns blazing with buckets of confidence and then finds themselves slowly unravelling over the course of the show."

A GALACTIC GLOBAL BATTLE IS BUILDING

LEGO MASTERS AUSTRALIA: GRANDMASTERS OF THE GALAXY

PREPARE for an epic intergalactic showdown when the Logie Award-winning LEGO Masters Australia blasts into its seventh season, unleashing the titans of brick in Grandmasters of the Galaxy, on Channel 9 and 9Now.

Uniting the world's most formidable creators, this season will see 10 teams of two compete, with LEGO powerhouses from six countries – Canada, China, Finland, Sweden, USA and New Zealand – clashing with four battle-hardened Australian teams in a spectacular series of awe-inspiring challenges.

Lending his signature humour and playful antics, Hamish Blake returns to host while esteemed judge Ryan 'Brickman' McNaught will continue to offer his brick wizardry to guide the competitors through the brick-built cosmos.

The much-loved Sophie Monk will make special guest appearances in four episodes of the fiercest LEGO season yet.

The 20 competitors, who include champions, finalists and favourites from their respective home-grown series, will face challenges worthy of a world-class competition that will provide the most competitive season in LEGO Masters history.

Expect magic, intrigue and suspense as their exceptional talents are pushed beyond their limits as they delve into the world of Harry Potter, attempt to make LEGO fly and explore worlds of monsters and ancient civilisations – all culminating in the ultimate spectacle of the Grand Finale.

LEGO Masters Australia: Grandmasters of the Galaxy will serve up astonishing, innovative builds as these wizards use their supreme technical skills and artistic abilities on mind-blowing creations in a titanic battle to win $100,000 and take the crowning title of Grandmasters of the Galaxy.

LEGO Masters Australia: Grandmasters of the Galaxy is produced by Endemol Shine Australia (a Banijay Entertainment Company) for the 9Network.
