Local politicians say satellite mapping plan for frost damage is... 'MISSING THE MARK'

A STATE Government plan to utilise satellite imagery in assessing frost damage to Riverland grape vines has “missed the mark” for growers needing support, according to senior local politicians.

The State Government last week announced satellite imagery would be used to map the extent of frost damage recently caused to vineyards across the region.

However, Chaffey MP Tim Whetstone said local industry representatives had completed satellite imagery of frost-damaged areas.

“The satellite imagery has already been undertaken,” Mr Whetstone said.

“Riverland Wine have engaged a service provider to do the imagery... (so) I’m perplexed as to why the government are needing to go further afield for that imagery.

“The industry has shown good leadership by immediately going out there, and any imagery today – three or four weeks from the frost event – will be a false reading.

“All the vines have reshot, they are going again, but in most instances they will be fruitless.”

Mr Whetstone said needing to capture further images would delay crucial support for growers.

“The (State) Government has missed the mark here... the information is already there and that information is credible,” he said.

Nominate your DCLW citizen of the year

LOXTON Waikerie district residents are encouraged to highlight the achievements of locals through major annual awards.

The District Council of Loxton Waikerie yesterday announced that nominations for the Citizen of the Year Awards, recognising individuals and organisations that have notably contributed or given exceptional services over a number of years to Riverland communities, are open.

Areas such as education, health, fundraising, charitable and voluntary services, business, sport, arts, the environment, and others that contribute to the advancement and wellbeing within the community are part of the community service guidelines for the awards.

Run in partnership with the Australia Day Council of SA, the awards include four categories: Citizen of the Year, Young Citizen of the Year, Community Event of the Year and the award for Active Citizenship.

Award winners will be formally recognised for their achievements at the 2025 Loxton Australia Day Breakfast, on Sunday 26 January, and at the Waikerie Australia Day Spectacular, on Saturday 25 January.

Genevieve Lehmann was last year’s Loxton Citizen of the Year, alongside Zane Sheffield who was awarded with the Young Citizen of the Year award, with Loxton Event of the year going to the Loxton Agricultural & Horticultural Society Inc – Loxton Show.

Waikerie’s Citizen of the Year award was presented to Bob Kemp and the Event of the Year presented to the Rotary Club of Waikerie – Waikerie Fringe.

Nomination forms are available on the council’s website (www.lwdc.sa.gov.au/community-information/citizen-of-the-year-awards) or through the council offices in either Waikerie or Loxton.

Nominations close at 5pm on Friday 15 November, 2024.

Paringa local Rino Lanzilli has joined Taylor Group Media as its advertising sales representative for the Berri and Barmera area. PHOTO: Madison Eastmond

Rino here to help local business

THE Murray Pioneer has welcomed a new, high-energy addition to its advertising sales team, aimed at helping Riverland businesses.

Taylor Group Media recently welcomed Rino Lanzilli on board as its advertising sales representative for the Berri and Barmera area.

Mr Lanzilli moved to the Riverland in May 2023 and currently resides in Paringa.

Outside of the workspace, Mr Lanzilli enjoys cycling and spending time with his wife.

Mr Lanzilli - who has two daughters, aged 26 and 22 - said he was eager to help local businesses make the best possible connections with customers.

“The Riverland immediately felt like a welcoming community when I moved here with my family,” he said.

“It’s an area full of so many great local businesses, and we’re always ready to help them showcase their products or services.”

To contact Mr Lanzilli, ring the Taylor Group Media office on 8586 8000, or email (berribarmeraads@murraypioneer.com.au).

Riverland Musical Society’s Evita captivates at Chaffey Theatre

CAITLYN LARSSON

THE Riverland Musical Society’s production of Evita opened to an enthralled audience at the Chaffey Theatre last Sunday, delivering a poignant and powerful portrayal of the life of Eva Perón.

From the moment a mournful horn echoed through the theatre and hooded figures emerged from the crowd, it was clear that this historical tale would be anything but ordinary.

The set design is nothing short of stunning, transporting viewers straight to the bustling streets of 1950s Argentina with its intricate details, while period-appropriate hair and costumes add authenticity to the experience.

Karyn Skewes’ vision of an orchestra for her final show as musical director was the perfect choice, as this complemented the narrative beautifully, executing the score with both elegance and strength, creating an emotional backdrop that enhances every moment on stage.

Bold lighting choices further elevate the production, adding a romantic flair or stark illumination at just the right moments, drawing the audience deeper into the story without overshadowing it.

John Molden, in the role of Che, is a standout performer, commanding attention with his rich, sumptuous voice. His effortless transition from powerful rock to soaring high notes left the audience spellbound, particularly in the final act, where his performance almost melted us in our seats.

Sam Harkins embodies the role of Eva with a fierce intensity, nailing the emotional core of the character. Her stunning balcony moment is nothing short of mesmerising, breaking hearts while leaving us yearning for more. We won’t cry for you, Sam – we’ll be screaming for you to sing again.

Simon Hill shines as Magaldi, exuding confidence with a lilting vibrato and commanding belting that fills the stage. Ellen Kroehn, as young Eva, captures the audience’s heart with her indignant and fierce belt, perfectly embodying the spirit of a woman determined to break free from the Argentinean patriarchy.

Grace Kelly’s clear, bell-like voice rings out, compelling the audience to cheer for her, hinting at a bright future ahead. Mark Skewes, as the uncompromising Perón, pulls us into his world with a heart-wrenching lament for ailing Eva, showcasing his ability to convey deep emotion. Special mention goes to young Grace Heuzenroeder, whose vibrant energy and talent shine brightly alongside her more seasoned peers.

The ensemble deserves special mention for their seamless choreography and engaging facial expressions, adding depth and vibrancy to the storytelling. Their ability to blend dance and blocking is impressive, making them an integral part of the narrative.

In conclusion, Evita is a mesmerizing experience, well worth your time—and possibly your tears. Congratulations to the directors and their team on this phenomenal show. This production showcases the remarkable talent of the Riverland community, don’t miss this unforgettable display of artistry and emotion.

Local politicians say satellite mapping plan for frost damage is... ‘Missing the mark’

HUGH SCHUITMAKER

A STATE Government plan to utilise satellite imagery in assessing frost damage to Riverland grape vines has “missed the mark” for growers needing support, according to senior local politicians.

The State Government last week announced satellite imagery would be used to map the extent of frost damage recently caused to vineyards across the region.

However, Chaffey MP Tim Whetstone said local industry representatives had completed satellite imagery of frost-damaged areas.

“The satellite imagery has already been undertaken,” Mr Whetstone said.

“Riverland Wine have engaged a service provider to do the imagery... (so) I’m perplexed as to why the government are needing to go further afield for that imagery.

“The industry has shown good leadership by immediately going out there, and any imagery today – three or four weeks from the frost event – will be a false reading.

“All the vines have reshot, they are going again, but in most instances they will be fruitless.”

The Advertiser – in a story dated 29 September – reported Riverland Wine grape grower chair Ash Ratcliff said “satellite images taken pre and post frost show 52 per cent, or half of all blocks in the Riverland, are frost-affected”.

Mr Whetstone said needing to capture further images would delay crucial support for growers.

“The (State) Government has missed the mark here... the information is already there and that information is credible,” he said.

“It was presented to a growers’ meeting a few weeks ago, and I see that as credible evidence of what the impacts of the frost have meant to the region.

“We’re going through a tough time at the moment. The government keeps putting hurdles up and I don’t think it’s of benefit at all.”

Barker MP Tony Pasin said direct financial support was needed for growers heading into the next vintage.

“Satellite imagery to map the extent of frost damage across SA may assist some growers and the local sector more generally with future planning and risk mitigation, but it’s not offering growers impacted by the most recent frost event any relief as they stare down the barrel of reduced volume this vintage,” Mr Pasin said.

“Minister (for Primary Industries and Regional Development Clare) Scriven’s announcement sounds more like a deflection coming from a government who has refused to support primary producers through one of the most significant shifts in market conditions in decades and is running away from declaring much-needed support for frost-impacted growers.

“When will Labor start listening to our primary producers about what they need to navigate through commodity shocks and severe weather events?”

However, Ms Scriven said information from the mapping would allow grape growers to consider “frost minimisation strategies around vineyard floor management, pruning method and timing, trellis height, variety choice and investment in wind machines or sprinklers”.

“We know that frost damage has been widely reported across our wine regions and that this is a very stressful time for many producers,” Ms Scriven said.

“We encourage producers to explore the support available, which the State Government has invested heavily in over the past 12 months.

“The satellite mapping will assist us to conduct a thorough state-wide assessment with an initial snapshot of the extent of frost damage on grapevines expected to be available next month.

“The satellite mapping is an innovative tool that will significantly help grape growers with their future planning and decision making.”

SA Wine Industry Association chief executive Inca Lee said “these maps will provide an additional tool for growers to support future vineyard management decisions”.

Riverland drivers stopped for weekend offences

NUMEROUS motorists were caught driving under the influence in the Riverland during weekend traffic stops

On Saturday 12 October, Renmark police stopped a 27-year-old man driving on Waratah Court, at Renmark.

The driver was submitted to routine checks, which revealed he was driving while disqualified.

Riverland Wine is seeking frost reports

RIVERLAND wine grape growers who have experienced severe impacts from recent frosts have been encouraged to report their losses to the region’s peak representative body.

The latest Riverland Wine Industry Newsletter, released on Monday, stated the organisation was “looking for an estimate of your lost tonnes by variety”.

“If there are patches partially frosted that you will not continue farming, then please advise the loss tonnes for the total patch,” the newsletter read.

“To assist with some context, it would be useful to also know what this represents as a percentage of your total production.

“To get an accurate picture, we do need to here from all growers, not just those with severe impacts.”

Missing man found deceased in Renmark

A MAN was found deceased in the Riverland on Monday, following an all-day police search of the River Murray.

SA police have located 42-year-old migrant worker, Joe Koumera, who was working in the Riverland as a seasonal fruit-picker before he went missing early on Sunday 13 October, last seen near the intersection of Murray Avenue and Pyap Street in Renmark.

Police launched a search of the area, resulting in the discovery of Mr Koumera’s body in the water at 6pm on Monday.

Police are investigating the circumstances surrounding the man’s death and a report will be prepared for the Coroner.

Anyone with information that may assist the investigation is asked to contact Crime Stoppers on (1800 333 000), or online at (www.crimestopperssa.com.au).

Pasin calls for increase to rural financial counselling service

THE Riverland’s Federal MP says our rural financial counsellors are “urgently” needed in South Australia, amidst the driest seven months on record and recent frost damage to crops.

Barker Liberal MP Tony Pasin is calling on both the state and federal governments to increase funding for the positions.

“Significant frost events join a long list of challenges that our primary producers are facing,” said Mr Pasin, who is also assistant spokesperson for the federal Infrastructure and Transport portfolios.

“It’s an incredibly challenging time and it’s critical that financial decisions are made on the best possible advice.

“From drought, frost, disease and challenging market conditions in the dairy and wine industry our rural financial counsellors are instrumental in providing the advice and support our primary producers need to make the best decisions moving forward.

“While the State Government is assessing the extent of the frost damage incurred by primary producers, there is no doubt that there is additional pressure on the demand for rural financial counselling right across South Australia and our state and federal governments should not delay in allocating resources to meet this demand.”

Mr Pasin said Labor was “too distracted on ideological pursuits”, at the expense of struggling farmers.

“Since Labor came to government two years ago, (Anthony) Albanese and his ministers have been distracted by ideological frolics like the Voice referendum and have turned their back on our regions,” Mr Pasin said.

“Aussie farmers have had to contend with Labor’s ban on live sheep exports, a failed energy policy leading to sky rocketing power prices, increased labour costs thanks to Labor’s IR and migration agenda, and then like coping a kick in the guts when you’re down, an almost unprecedented frost event on top of the driest seven months on record.

“The government may not be able to control the weather but it would be nice to know that government has the future of Aussie-grown food and fibre in mind.

“I’ll keep fighting for whatever assistance is needed and right now for Mallee farmers more financial councillors on the ground would be a great starting point for the entire South Australian agricultural industry.”

Small Business forum at Berri Hotel

A LOCAL business forum was held on 10 October at the Berri hotel, with the intention to discuss opportunities and challenges experienced by Riverland operators and to explore support available through government grants.

Minister for Small and Family Business Andrea Michaels attended the business forum and met with 15 local small business owners keen to hear more information about the $14m Small Business Strategy funding.

“It was fantastic to come to Berri to meet with small business owners and discuss the supports available through our Small Business Strategy,” Ms Michaels said.

“Small businesses are the heart of regional communities like Berri, providing employment and bringing people together, and our government is committed to supporting them.

“The Strategy represents a $14m investment by the Government and has been designed specifically to assist small business owners to grow their businesses, seize opportunities and overcome challenges.”

The strategy contains 20 initiatives designed to help small businesses to grow and overcome challenges.

Initiatives such as the Regional Support Officers and can be contacted through the Small and Family Business website.

The forum also gave business owners the opportunity to be heard by Ms Michaels, with locals opening up about the current pressures of owning a business, including cost of living challenges and flood recovery.

Ms Michaels also focused on the Women in Business program, designed to support women in the early stages of owning a business, which has already helped more than 2000 women across the state and has now opened online applications for its second round of support.

For more information on the Government’s Small Business Strategy and the programs available, visit the website (www.business.sa.gov.au).

Berri Barmera Council CEO Tim Pfeiffer and Mayor Ella Winnall have welcomed the State Government’s decision to fully fund the repair of Lyrup Road after it was considerably damaged by the 2022/23 River Murray flood.

Lyrup Road funding win for Berri Barmera Council

BERRI Barmera Council is set to receive full State Government funding for the repairs of a major local road. Lyrup Road, which is of strategic regional significance to the Riverland, was considerably damaged by the 2022/2023 River Murray flood.

Council announced last week the repairs for Lyrup Road, which was damaged in the 2022/23 River Murray flood, would be fully funded by the State Government.

Berri Barmera Mayor Ella Winnall said she was “relieved” the State Government had agreed to fully fund Lyrup Road’s repairs.

“We thank the State Government for reaching a common-sense decision for the flood damage on Lyrup Road,” she said.

“Berri Barmera Council has tirelessly advocated for this to be addressed.

“It’s great that the wider Riverland community will now have some certainty in regard to the longer-term access to the ferry.”

In November 2023, about nine months after flood waters subsided, Berri Barmera Council became aware of significant longitudinal cracks along the verge of Lyrup Road.

Had the damage been identified within three months of the water subsiding, the State Government would have fully funded the repairs as part of Local Government Disaster Recovery Assistance Arrangements (LGDRAA).

However, given the damage was identified after the three-month deadline, council was expected to fund 30 per cent of the estimated $2.99m repair cost.

Lyrup Road was originally built by the South Australian Government and connects the Lyrup Ferry to the Sturt Highway. The road then came under council’s care and control after a council boundary change.

While regionally significant, Lyrup Road has no rateable properties and primarily serves Lyrup residents, who reside within the Renmark Paringa Council area.

In August, Mayor Winnall, together with Renmark Paringa Mayor Peter Hunter and Loxton Waikerie Mayor Trevor Norton, wrote to the Department of Treasury and Finance to request extraordinary assistance as part of the LGDRAA.

“This funding announcement is a great outcome and a testament to the three Riverland councils who strongly advocated for this result,” Mayor Winnall said.

“We thank Renmark Paringa Council and District Council of Loxton Waikerie mayors for standing shoulder-to-shoulder with us in advocating for this outcome.”

Now almost two years after the flood, Mayor Winnall said the district still had some “complex” recovery works to undertake.

“These cannot be undertaken without funding and all of it takes time and resources away from council’s day-to-day operations and regular planned projects,” she said.

“Lyrup Road is one of the biggest projects to undertake, so it’s good to finally start work on what will be a big project to complete.”

Mayor Winnall thanked Lyrup residents for their continued patience while adhering to speed restrictions along Lyrup Road.

Following the funding announcement, planning and reconstruction design works will soon commence.

The work is on at Twentyfirst Street

WORK has begun to reconstruct a major bridge in Renmark that has been unusable since the River Murray flood.

Renmark Paringa Council contractors earlier this month began construction on the Twentyfirst Street bridge replacement.

Council’s latest community news update stated the bridge replacement was “extremely significant for our community and council will continue to update locals and affected stakeholders throughout the project”.

Meanwhile, Renmark Paringa councillors passed a motion at last month’s general meeting to refuse a requested rate rebate from operators of the Riverland Mini Supermarket, located on Twentyfirst street.

Aasutosh Shah wrote to council seeking a two-year, 100 per cent rate rebate for the business, due to ongoing financial impacts from the bridge’s closure.

“My property experiences certain inconveniences and limitations, particularly in terms of accessibility and rate of foot-falls owing to the bridge’s halted operation,” Mr Shah’s letter wrote.

“These factors have a direct impact on the daily business of my shop.

“I believe that the unique situation of living in close proximity to the Twentyfirst Street bridge calls for a special consideration in terms of the financial obligations associated with property ownership in Renmark.”

A council report on the matter stated the application was ineligible due to:

- ❑ No grounds for rate payer to receive discretionary rebate.
- ❑ Rates are a local tax, not a fee for service.

THE YEARS GO BY

BY PETER AND CARLA MAGAREY

Water under the bridge?

PATIENCE is needed in a lot of areas of life, and at the moment it seems vitally important in construction projects.

The recent announcement the State Government had agreed to fully fund the necessary repairs at Lyrup Road, as detailed inside today’s edition, will come as a relief to many parties.

Firstly, and probably obviously, Berri Barmera Council staff will welcome the decision, which will see a positive outcome reached after some perhaps tense periods surrounding the road during the past few months.

Considering the issue surrounding funding of the repairs only became as complex as we have seen due to the damage on the road not being noticed earlier – perhaps by a matter of weeks – it would appear as though the sensible conclusion has been found.

The economic implications of being unrequired to contribute funding towards these repairs will be felt in the long-term throughout the community, as the saving of funds that would have gone towards Lyrup Road can allow council to focus on other areas.

Equally relieved by the news would be the Lyrup community itself, which can take a sense of security that easy access to the Sturt Highway will be maintained.

It is a well-learned lesson from the flood event, through the difficulties surrounding the closure of Bookpurnong Road, that any impact to the connections between Riverland communities can cause high levels of angst among our populations.

However, it is somewhat surprising – and perhaps illustrative of the power of a proper flood – that our Riverland councils are still contending with impacts from the flood event, that come Christmas time would have peaked two years prior.

Renmark Paringa Council finds itself in a similar position regarding replacement of the Twentyfirst Street bridge. Contractors are now on-site, and while that sight itself would be welcome by many in the community, there is a section that would say works have taken too long to commence, or that a complete replacement of the bridge was unnecessary.

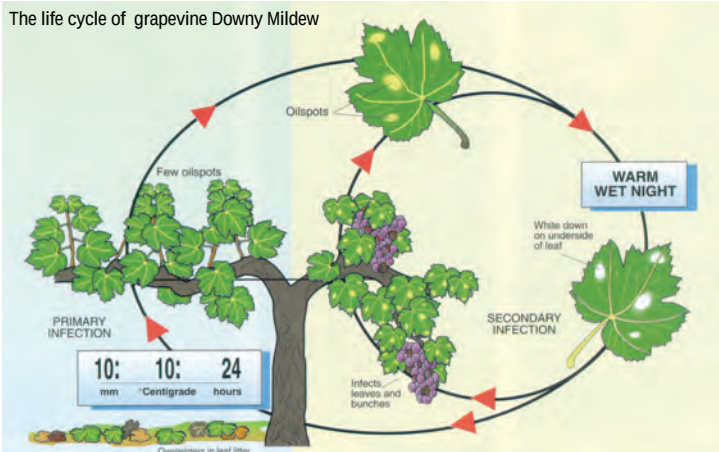

The potential positive outcomes of this project is also somewhat difficult for the council to convey, as the proverbial proof in the pudding will only be seen down the track, when it is either successful, or unsuccessful in resisting possible future flood damage.

The progress is taking time, and the tasks are far from simple, however it seems we are inching our way toward being free of the most-ravaging impacts caused by the flood.

We can only hope that it was indeed a once-in-a-generation event.

Last Thursday was 10 October, 2024, otherwise written 10/10/24. This expression prompted Loxton’s Rohan Scarfe to recall the 10:10:24 rule-of-thumb. This rule became well-known in Australian grape-growing circles. It provided growers a ‘rough guide’ to the conditions favouring the primary stage in the development of downy mildew. The 10:10:24 rule warns that downy infection needs at least 10mm rainfall, at temperatures at least 10°C during a 24-hour period. If these develop, downy mildew infection may occur, but if not, the disease will not be triggered. Downy disease is costly, especially in warm, wet seasons, growers need to know when conditions favour infection, so sprays can be well timed, and if conditions are not suitable, sprays can be withheld with confidence. The rule was conceived in the late-1970s by the plant pathologist at Loxton Research Centre. Some Riverland growers will remember that later (1992), the rule-of-thumb was put to song in the Downy Mildew Rap. Aimed at providing growers with more details, the rap was for a time played by Renmark’s ABC radio 5MV, whenever conditions favoured infection. The song became an anthem alerting listeners to an announcement about the conditions and the need to spray. Nowadays, electronic alerts for downy are computer-generated and automatically sent directly via email or text to registered growers for spray ‘decisions with precision’. So far, this season has been dry and there have been no alerts for downy. PHOTO: Magarey Collection

Sign petition on river navigation

A PETITION to the government regarding navigation issues on the River Murray is now live for four weeks only.

Feel free to sign it. It will ask your name and email, then you click I wish to sign and it will send you an email back to confirm you are an actual person, with a link to confirm.

Please let’s do this and get hundreds of signatures for this important cause.

We have houseboats no longer able to go to Berri from Renmark and vice versa, we have boats badly in need of slipping for insurance and registration reasons and they can’t get to a slip.

Heaps of vessels couldn’t make it to the Wentworth Junction rally. Those events are the bread and butter for vessels like the PS Industry.

Visit the website to sign (www.aph.gov.au/e-petitions/petition/EN6692).

Scroll down till you see the petition for Navigable channel Goolwa to Mildura for vessels on the Murray.

Safe travels all.

Barmera jetty procrastination

I READ in the latest Berri Barmera E-News that Barmera’s town jetty replacement date is getting further away from being a reality.

I think the jetty should have been replaced many years ago instead of bits of it continually being patched up.

The town’s jetty used to be a drawcard for travellers. In my view what now remains of the original jetty has become a dangerous eye-sore.

Yes, it is a huge expense to the Berri Barmera ratepayers and all things need to be thoroughly researched, and checked, then double checked.

I feel all this fact finding is taking far too long. The longer it takes for the Berri Barmera Council members to reach a decision, the jetty’s replacement costs will blowout even further until it’s completely unaffordable.

I grew up in Barmera in the late 1950s and had a beautiful time with my mates playing on what use to be a bloody great jetty.

I’m now in my mid 70s and would dearly like to see the new jetty completed and well before I meet my maker.

Stop procrastinating and get on with it.

Applause for Kick Off Ya Boots

CONGRATULATIONS to John Gladigau and the team who presented the amazing show Kick off Ya Boots.

The superb production made the audience laugh a lot, shed a few tears and think about their mental, physical and spiritual health.

What a remarkable array of local performers.

What a wonderful gift to the community.

Thank you.

Double standards of evil?

QUITE rightly we honour our veterans who served in World War II, and saved us from unimaginable horrors. Thank you.

Allied airpower was a significant contributor to our ultimate victory, and allied bombing raids on Germany had considerable effect.

However, many of these targets were German cities with large civilian populations, and estimates are that 300,000 to 600,000 were killed.

A total of 57,000 airmen were also killed on these raids and we honour their bravery and sacrifice.

Some of the motivation would have been the horrors and atrocities of the Nazi regime – particularly towards the defenceless Jewish population.

Yet, when a no-longer defenceless Jewish nation responds to similar atrocities with force, and there are 45,000 fatalities (many used as human shields), the Israelis are accused of being war criminals and condemned for their actions.

Any loss of civilian life is a tragedy and cannot be excused, nor accepted as collateral damage, but we need to be careful of double standards when confronting evil.

Congrats for Bush Ball success

I WRITE to congratulate Julie and the team at Calperum for yet another fantastic Woolshed Bush Ball held on Friday night.

The Riverland is often referred to as the ‘Food Bowl’ of South Australia, and rightly so owing to the high-quality food and fibre grown along the banks of the river here for generations.

The work being done at Calperum, however, shows that the Riverland is much more than a food and fibre hub and should be celebrated for the diversification the station adds to the region’s offering.

Calperum is a jewel of the Riverland, creating important employment and training opportunities, environmental education and ecological preservation.

With the right support, the possibility for increasing this positive contribution is immense.

Riverland communities face many challenges, but it’s important that we acknowledge the proud history and exciting opportunities that lies ahead.

My vision is for a thriving and diverse Riverland where we continue the proud tradition of producing high quality food and fibre, we welcome visitors with open arms to our river banks and we protect and preserve the unique ecology of the region.

Calperum plays a vital role in a diverse and sustainable Riverland and I’ll continue to throw my support wholeheartedly behind the Calperum Connect project to see its full potential realised.

To the team at Calperum, thank you for yet another fantastic Bush Ball and well done on your continued fundraising efforts.

Most importantly, thank you for the economic, social, and ecological contribution you make to the Riverland region.

Drought response needed – now

IN the face of hardships across the entire South Australia agriculture sector at present, the farmers are inviting the Premier to a barbie.

That is a reflection of the positive, resilient and friendly nature of our farmers, but it also reveals that feel they are not being taken seriously.

The perception that “South Australia finishes at the toll gate” shows the frustration at the Malinauskas government’s lack of focus on our regions.

It is rare to have so many parts of our $1.8 billion farming sector all facing such huge challenges at one time.

The comparisons with previous droughts, frost events and adverse market conditions is stunning.

With rainfall this year in some districts even less than the terrible 1967 drought, with recent frosts being worse than any in living memory, and the value of some wine grapes less than paid in the 1980s.

Corbin Schuster made a good point about how sophisticated the leading modern farms are.

The current dry period and the frosts have been so serious that even the most efficient, well – prepared farmers are being impacted. People would be stunned at the level of sophistication and professionalism in the propagation and year – round production of the tomato businesses north of Adelaide.

This needs a huge investment in equipment and people. This facebook/themurraypioneer

type of expertise is now common in leading farming businesses across the state.

The growing level of frustration in our regions is palpable.

I have previously made the comparison at how readily a previous Labor Government dedicated $50M towards Holden in response to market setback, yet it is ponderous in its action to look after those hard-working people in regional South Australia who grow our food.

This is not a call for a hand-out. It is a justifiable request for the South Australian Government to help our besieged farming sector through one of the toughest times in memory, to underpin future sustainability.

I call on the Premier and the Minister for Primary Industries and Regions to accept the generous offer to join these farmers for a barbie, and while there, to listen.

More importantly, commit to real action.

Parent support for child mental health

THIS World Mental Health Day (10 October), advocates from the Triple P – Positive Parenting Program are emphasising the need for parents and carers to support their children’s wellbeing, along with their own, to help combat Australia’s growing mental health crisis.

The mental health of kids and young people is worsening, with around 1 in 10 children aged between 4 and 11 experiencing a mental health disorder. Half of adult mental health issues emerge before the age of 14.

A range of ongoing societal factors are resulting in a tidal wave of mental health concerns for a significant number of our children and are also impacting parental wellbeing, relationships, and general enjoyment of life.

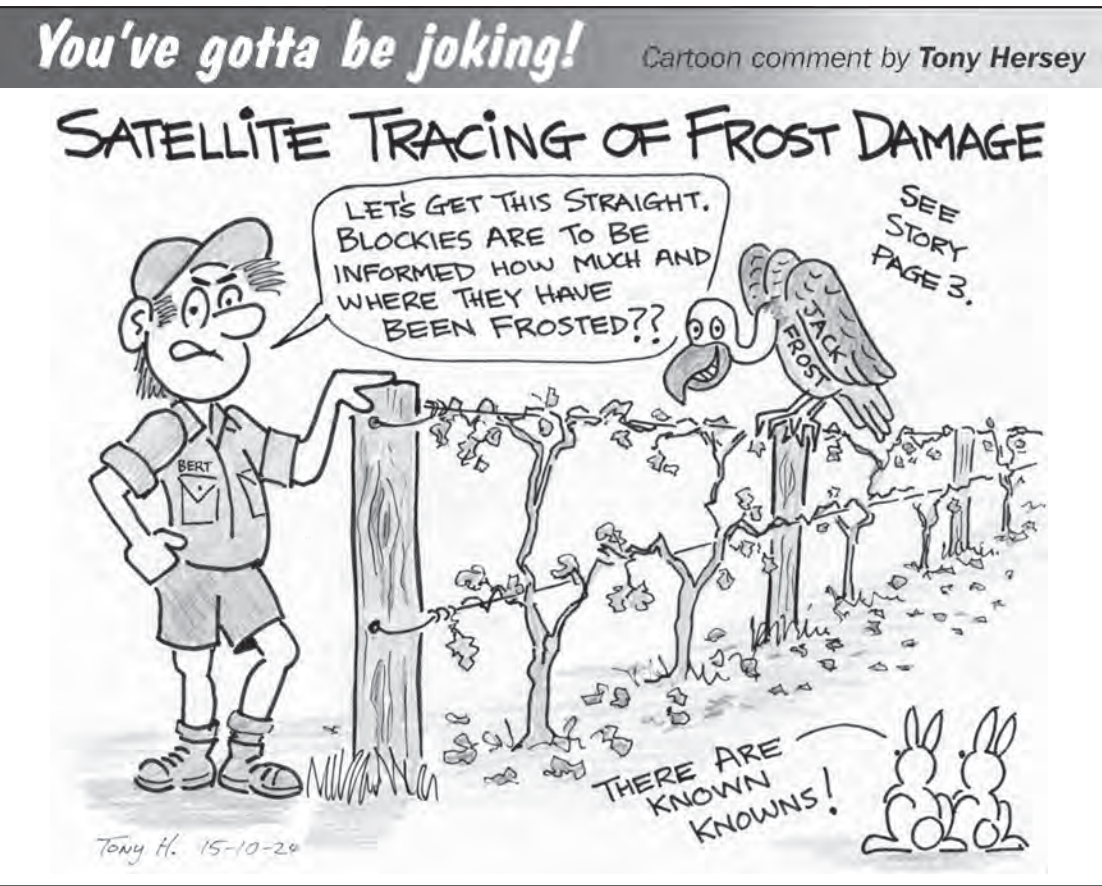

Parents and carers are facing unprecedented stress off the back of rising interest rates, cost-of-living, and housing instability.

While they may try to protect their children from these pressures, the ongoing stress inevitably affects kids.

The impact of social media and concerns around online safety is adding another layer of worry for families.

The 2024 Triple P Parenting Survey of more than 8000 families found nearly 8 out of 10 parents, or 79 per cent are concerned about social media’s impact on their children’s mental health and wellbeing.

When parents and carers take care of their own mental outlook it can have a positive impact on the overall health and happiness of their kids.

Parents and carers are critical in safeguarding children’s mental health, as they are often the first to notice shifts in mood or behaviour. However, many are unsure how to respond or where to seek help.

This is where evidence-based parenting support is essential for equipping parents with the skills and confidence to spot early signs of distress in their children and have open conversations about mental health.

Fear-Less Triple P Online, a free support program for parents and carers of children experiencing anxiety, is one such tool that’s making a difference. The milestone of more than 80,000 families in Australia accessing Triple P’s evidence-based program for parents and carers of children experiencing anxiety, is a sign that the online program is needed.

It builds parental mental health literacy, empowers parents and carers to identify issues early, seek help without stigma, and provides strategies to support children’s emotional resilience.

By prioritising wellbeing and opening up to ask for support, whether it’s with a trusted friend, GP, health professional, talking to Lifeline, or getting parenting support, parents and carers can mitigate any negative or long-term impacts.

Our children’s mental health is a societal concern and a shared responsibility. Investing in their mental health and wellbeing in the early years is part of building a healthier, more resilient community.

Parents and carers can access free, online parenting support 24/7 online (triplep-parenting.net.au).

A wake-up call from Queensland?

THE Australian Medical Association in South Australia (AMA SA) is calling on the Malinauskas Government to replicate the progressive decision made by its Labor colleagues in Queensland and scrap the payroll tax before it inflicts any more financial pain on patients.

The Queensland Government today announced that general practice will be exempt from payroll tax if it’s returned to power at the 26 October Queensland election. The state’s LNP opposition has made the same commitment.

The announcement highlights the adverse impact of the South Australian Government’s tax on the community.

Most South Australian patients who are not bulk billed are paying at least $10 more to see their GP because of the State Government’s payroll tax.

Some may have even noticed that they’re getting one bill for the consultation and a separate bill to cover the tax.

How is it fair that South Australians should be plagued with an additional cost, when they’re accessing the same essential care as their Queensland counterparts?

Both major political parties in Queensland have realised that this is a retrograde move, not in the interest of the community. It’s time for the South Australian Government to acknowledge this too.

There’s a very real risk that South Australians are delaying essential care because of the additional costs associated with payroll tax.

We’re in the middle of a cost-of-living crisis. An extra $10 may not sound like much to everyone, but for some families that’s the difference between putting food on the table or petrol in the car.

If people delay seeing their GP, they become sicker and end up in our over-crowded public hospitals instead.

We’ve warned the State Government repeatedly that this tax will exacerbate ambulance ramping and create even more delays to essential surgeries, but our concerns have been ignored.

The decision in Queensland must be a wake-up call for the South Australian Government before the SA state election early next year.

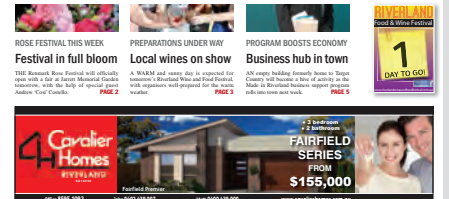

The Malinauskas Government was elected on a promise to fix ramping. Any barrier to accessing primary health care must be removed, to keep the community healthy and out of our stressed hospital system.

The Premier, the treasurer and the Minister for Health should acknowledge the AMA SA’s concerns and take steps to wind back this short-sighted tax.

WINE CHIEFS ASSEMBLE: IN a rare event, industry chiefs from six major wine companies discussed declining winegrape prices in front of almost 200 Riverland growers and winemakers in Renmark this week. The mood at the Wine Industry Forum – which was held at the Chaffey Theatre on Wednesday – was later described as “sombre” by some local growers.

ALL ROSY FOR FESTIVAL: More than 1000 visitors are expected to converge on Renmark in the coming week for the annual Rose Festival. After a disastrous start to last year’s Renmark Rose Festival this year’s 10th anniversary event looks set to be better than ever. Last year’s late season and unseasonably cold weather meant there were few blooms to be found for the start of the festival. The annual Roses Galore display that is held in the Renmark Institute had to be cancelled because of the lack of flowers.

I’m amazed at the amount of disused poly pipe and treated pine posts that are scattered all over the Riverland. Speaking to land owners, they all want to get rid of it, but the only way is to pay for it to be dumped, and it’s expensive. Surely the government could meaningfully assist by offering a short-term window for farmers to offload these items at no cost, at a designated spot where the accumulated materials can sit, until disposal can be undertaken in a proper manner. That would take pressure off the farmers.

Riverland Rose and Garden committee member Glenda Malinovski and Rebecca Kennedy encourage locals to join them for the 30th anniversary Rose and Garden Festival Gala held this Friday at the Renmark Club. PHOTO: Madison Eastmond

A gala dinner fit for a 30th anniversary

WELCOMED by a glass of champagne, river views, a red carpet, and local food and wine, Riverlanders are encouraged to join in a night of fine dining and potential prize winning at the 30th anniversary Rose and Garden Festival Gala dinner.

Held this Friday, at the Renmark Club, from 6:30pm, guests will be treated to a four-course-meal, complementary wine, and entertainment by local talent the Bowerbirds to kick off the Riverland Rose and Garden Festival.

“It’s a big event this year because we are celebrating the 30th anniversary,” Riverland Rose and Garden Festival Committee president Michele Dominic said.

“It’s super exciting because we have (horticulturalist and ABC Gardening Australia presenter) Sophie Thompson attending as well, sharing her knowledge on everything gardening.”

Guests of the gala are also asked to ‘dress to impress’, with the committee also searching for an inaugural Riverland Rose. With hats and flower-themed headpieces highly encouraged, the best-dressed ladies are encouraged to give their name to the committee when they arrive for the chance to be crowned and win an array of cash prizes and vouchers.

“It’s going to be a fantastic night for anyone who is keen on an evening where you can get dressed up and wants to go out with friends or partner,” Riverland Rose and Garden committee member Glenda Malinovski said.

“We will also be looking for a ‘thorn amongst the roses’, so gentlemen are encouraged to dress up for a $150 voucher for Yates Menswear.”

Tickets are $105, and can be purchased through the Renmark Club website (www.renmarkclub.com.au), or the Riverland Rose Festival website (www.riverlandrosesandgardens.com.au).

For more information about the Riverland Rose Festival pick up a full program at any Riverland visitor information centre.

MADISON EASTMOND

RIVERLANDERS, rosarians, and visitors can now ‘stop and smell the roses’ for the month of October, with celebrations for the 30th Rose and Garden Festival beginning this week.

With the region now in bloom, the 2024 program will kick off on Friday with a number of popular returning components to be held until 27 October, including the Renmark Institute floral display, the Festival Fair, Gala Dinner, and the Waikerie and Districts Community Flower Show.

The upcoming week of festivities will also include 35 open gardens, with 12 opening for the first time for locals and visitors to enjoy.

Returning to Loxton in 2017, Nola Schulz said she was once the only private open garden for the town in the program. However, after a few years of calling and visiting potential gardeners and event businesses, Loxton now represents almost a third of the gardens open for 2024.

“Loxton used to be known as the ‘garden city of the Riverland’ but water restrictions and other factors swallowed this title up,” she said.

“I am overwhelmed with all the gardeners and event co-ordinators from all over the Riverland who have joined the 2024 Riverland Rose and Garden Festival. I am delighted to say that Loxton and now Moorook 2024 Open Gardens and Events has grown to this year having nine open gardens, including Loxton Primary School and four events including Loxton High School.

“This is not so much about having a perfect garden, but really about how ideas from passionate gardeners can help new gardeners — especially once realising how the sun and seasons bring the right spot for plants, sun and shade.

“Let the gardens be a joy for all, for those travelling from interstate, SA, and our Riverland.”

For their first year, Templeton on Murray will also be partaking in the festival, opening their grounds to the Riverland.

“We’re thrilled to participate in this year’s festival,” Templeton on Murray owner Phillip Dix said.

“It’s our first time opening our garden to the public, and we’re eager to showcase the beauty of Templeton.

“After many years of change and development, we can’t wait to share our property with everyone.”

Minister for Tourism Zoe Bettison said the 30th anniversary of the Rose and Garden Festival was an “impressive milestone” and a “testament to the dedication of the event organisers and wonderful programming which continually inspires visitors to ‘stop and smell the roses’ in this beautiful part of the world”.

“The festival is a true celebration of South Australia’s Riverland region which boasts incredible nature and wildlife, and breathtaking experiences around Australia’s longest river,” she said.

“Events like the Riverland Rose and Garden Festival help motivate people to commit to a trip, so I encourage everyone to explore a little more of the Riverland while in the region — from getting out onto the mighty Murray River, enjoying the many wineries and distilleries, as well as taking in the stunning sceneries along the way.”

For more information on the Riverland Rose Festival, visit the website (www.riverlandrosesandgardens.com.au), or pick up a full program at any Riverland visitor information centre.

Commissioners talk border communities in Renmark

A NEW partnership between South Australian and Victorian governments is set to increase support for residents of cross border communities near the Riverland

South Australian Cross Border Commissioner Kelly-Anne Saffin last week visited Renmark to meet with Victorian counterpart Brett Davis, for the announcement of a three-year Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) between Victoria and South Australia to support border communities.

Ms Saffin said “border towns play an important role in supporting the state’s economy through major industries including agriculture and freight”.

“Together with my Victorian counterpart, our focus on expanding the significant economic contribution the residents who live in our cross-borders communities make is a core part of the Memorandum of Understanding announced today,” Ms Saffin said.

While in Renmark, the commissioners also joined representatives from health organisations including the Riverland Mallee Coorong Local Health Network, Victorian Department of Health, and border hospitals, for the VIC/NSW/SA Health Border Forum.

The forum involved collaboration with health sector leaders and built upon shared knowledge and experiences of working in a border community environment.

Opportunities discussed included ways to strengthen health services in border towns, ranging from ambulance services, telehealth, workforce development and aged care.

Premier Peter Malinauskas said “improving accessibility to essential services to enable more job opportunities” was a goal for regional areas.

“I welcome this important agreement between our respective Cross Border Commissioners, who together will provide an important resource for businesses and communities that live near or frequently travel across the border,” Mr Malinauskas said.

“I’ve long maintained our regional border communities must be listened and responded to regarding their unique circumstances, and this Memorandum of Understanding lays the groundwork for this to occur in a more co-ordinated and efficient way.”

Free self-bait program open for registration

ALL commercial growers in the Riverland are being invited register for a free self-baiting/lure program aimed to continue reducing the impact of fruit fly in the region.

The Department of Primary Industries and Regions (PIRSA) is urging eligible commercial growers to join the program, with fruit fly numbers expected to grow during the summer season.

PIRSA will supply free fruit fly bait and lures, known as attract and kill devices (AKDs) for registered businesses to use within their properties, along with clear guidelines for their safe placement and use.

Incident controller of the fruit fly emergency response, Jason Size, said “self-baiting is effective at reducing fruit fly populations on properties where trees form shelter belts or tree lines”.

“Even if your crops aren’t currently in leaf, fruit fly will rest and feed on that vegetation in shelter belts or tree lines,” Mr Size said.

“While our community’s effort towards eradication is going strong, commercial growers can also make a huge dent on outbreaks if they bait those trees, along with any other trees growing host fruit or vegetables.”

Mr Size also explained participating in the program leaves market access requirements unaffected.

“Please remember that if you’re planning on moving restricted fruit and vegetables, self-baiting isn’t the same as a treatment application and you still will need to meet your market access requirements,” Mr Size said.

“For example if you are a commercial stone fruit grower in one of the affected areas, certification is required before any produce can be sold, and for those within red outbreak areas, certification is also required before any produce can be moved.”

To register for the self-baiting program, visit the website (www.fruitfly.sa.gov.au/self-baiting) and for more information on how to obtain a fruit accreditation, inquiries can be sent to the email (MarketAccessRenmark.AAlocal@sa.gov.au) or call the Fruit Fly Industry Hotline on 1800 255 556.

CHRISTINE WEBSTER

THE Waikerie community joined forces at a family fun day and Waikerie Rotary Riverfront Market to increase awareness about type one diabetes and to raise money for research into the disease.

Waikerie type one diabetes fundraising committee member Karen Leske said a steady stream of people attended the ‘Every Little Thing Is Gonna Be Alright’ fundraiser and market, on Sunday.

She said locals and visitors from outside the Riverland were among those who supported the day that raised an estimated $2500.

At the event was a representative from the Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation who had items people could purchase to donate money to the organisation.

Information about type one diabetes and the treatments that are available was also available.

A variety of stalls and food vans were also on offer at the Rotary market.

Buskers raising funds throughout the day included local band Turn Up, the Mallee Road band, the Fijian Singers and Waikerie Singers.

“Everyone enjoyed themselves,” Ms Leske said.

“There was good music and a little bit of dancing,” she said.

A colouring-in competition attracted 45 entries from children and adults of all ages.

Ms Leske said winners of this competition were chosen on the day and would be notified soon.

She said the committee was grateful to the community and local businesses for supporting the event with donations and raffle prizes.

Ms Leske said the whip cracking demonstrations and lessons, and ‘The Great Dooby Throw’ – where participants threw stress balls into an old-fashioned Thunderbox toilet made by the Waikerie’s Men’s Shed – were also well received.

Council’s Machine Mania delivers truckloads of good times

MORE than 1500 Riverlanders made their way to Darnley Taylor Park on Saturday for Renmark Paringa Council’s inaugural Machine Mania, with crowds able to touch, climb and get behind the wheel of a fleet of council machinery and emergency services vehicles.

Including a range of Renmark Paringa Council construction and maintenance machines, emergency service vehicles, and one of the newly delivered waste and recycling trucks featuring Tommy the Turtle, the event kicked off with a designated sensory quiet hour.

Children, families and caregivers were able to interact with the machines in a sensitive manner with no sirens, horns or engines and only soft, soothing music in the background. Renmark Paringa Mayor Peter Hunter said “the inclusion of a sensory quiet hour aligns with the target audience for this style of family friendly event”.

“There was a lot of gratitude and appreciation from families and caregivers for creating such an inclusive and welcoming environment,” he said.

Once the sensory hour concluded, the sounds and sights were accompanied with horns, sirens, flashing lights and water sprays.

Staff and volunteers were able to share information and answer questions on the various machines as well as some demonstrations by fire and ambulance staff.

“Machine Mania is a great opportunity for our community to connect with council and meet the people behind the variety of roles who contribute to making our town look so wonderful,” Mayor Hunter said.

“We all need to reflect on the amazing organisations who support our community through emergency services and other vital services.”

Waikerie farmer wins sustainability scholarship

WAIKERIE farmer Tim Paschke has been awarded the 2024 Sustainable Agriculture Scholarship in the Agricultural Bureau of South Australia (Ag Bureau) Spirit of Excellence Awards.

The 41 year old will receive a $10,000 grant from the Department for Environment and Water (DEW).

The Ag Bureau said the scholarship provided an SA farmer (aged 18 to 45) with the opportunity to enhance their personal and professional skills while promoting sustainable farming practices that benefit both their businesses and the environment.

Mr Paschke has implemented a range of innovative farming practices on his family's 4500-hectare farm, including no-till cropping, stubble retention, and trials aimed at managing dryland salinity.

The Ag Bureau said Mr Paschke plans to travel to Western Australia and other regions to meet with farmers facing similar challenges and learn new techniques for tackling salinity and improving soil health.

"Being able to connect with other farmers facing the same challenges and learning from their experiences is invaluable," Mr Paschke said.

"I'm looking forward to bringing new ideas back to our farm and sharing them with the local farming community," he said.

Agricultural Bureau of South

Australia chair Janette Ridgway said Mr Paschke was a dedicated farmer, and his focus on improving both productivity and sustainability was exactly the mindset needed in agriculture today.

"His willingness to learn and share knowledge will benefit not only his farm but the wider community," she said.

The 2024 Spirit of Excellence Awards showcase the dedication of South Australia's young agriculturalists to continuous learning and community contribution.

"This year's finalists exemplified the future of South Australian agriculture," she said.

"They are innovative, dedicated, and deeply connected to their communities.

"The Agricultural Bureau congratulates the 2024 winners and finalists and looks forward to the lasting impact their work will have on the agricultural industry and rural communities in South Australia."

External infrastructure advice being considered by MMC

CHRISTINE WEBSTER

MID Murray Council is considering engaging a senior infrastructure staff member from another council to conduct an external review of its infrastructure department.

Mayor Simone Bailey at the September council meeting asked Mid Murray Council CEO Ben Scales if this could be an option.

"I believe that collaboration between councils could be a cost effective and practical way to ensure our infrastructure department operates efficiently and effectively," she said.

Ms Bailey said engaging expertise from another council would leverage "shared expertise to enhance performance, while minimising costs".

In his response to Ms Bailey, Mr Scales said with the finalisation of council's new strategic plan, it had been identified that "an external review by an appropriately qualified and experienced resource with relevant sector experience would be beneficial".

He said this was in the process of being facilitated.

"As part of this process, consideration will be given to engaging an experienced staff member from the sector to assist with the review of council's structure and operations," he said.

A report from the internal review of council's infrastructure department has not yet been released.

Ms Bailey told The Murray Pioneer it was critical the council delivered essential services and maintained community assets, but we have limited resources.

"But it is vital that we continually assess and improve our operations to meet our community's needs but to also achieve financial sustainability," she said.

THE free community tradition of P.O.T. LUCK is once again being held in the Riverland, providing an open mic and stage for local artists, writers, and creatives alike to share in an evening of storytelling and connection.

Following a tradition established in 2022 by Writers SA, the 2024 edition of P.O.T. LUCK is set to be held at the Monash Hall, at 7pm, on 26 October by the Barmera community initiative Part of Things, with Riverland creatives able to perform new artistic material to local audiences.

“P.O.T. LUCK is an evening of storytelling,” Part of Things founder Alysha Herrmann said.

“First, we will have a couple of local writers who have been commissioned to create something new share their work.

“Part of Things is really passionate about bringing paid opportunities for local artists to the region... so this could be a poem, a story, a letter to their future self, or even a rant about something happening in the world, plus anything else they would like to share — we haven’t determined what it should be

“We then open the floor to an open mic, where anyone from the audience is invited to get up and share their work, whether it is ramblings from a notes app, a yarn, poem, or a joke.”

In previous years, P.O.T. LUCK has followed a theme such as a Pride edition, and In the Garden.

Deriving its name from songs written as part of a project with Headspace Berri that Ms Herrmann and Joey Hanen are set to perform for the first time at the event, the 2024 edition of P.O.T. LUCK will be following the theme You Are Enough.

“This particular P.O.T. LUCK is an event that is part of mental health month,” Ms Herrmann said.

“This can be about drawing attention to the fact that if we don’t talk about things, we can’t navigate them — and when you look at the research, one of the biggest things that helps people feel good and stay well is social connection.

“So, this P.O.T. LUCK serves two purposes in a conversation about mental health.

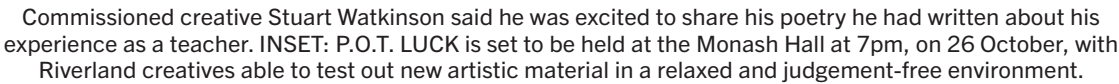

“The first being that it can bring people together for a night of joy, celebration, connection, storytelling, and sharing.

“The second is that, by inviting people to share something is an act of vulnerability, and we can practice this by standing at a microphone and speaking about something that feels personal — it’s not that we have asked anyone to talk about mental health or mental health challenges, but, it’s about that act of sharing as an act of courage, an act of joy, and ultimately, an act of connection.”

Involved in prior P.O.T. LUCK events, local commissioned creative Stuart Watkinson said he was excited to share poetry he had written about his experience as a teacher.

"I usually write prose, but poetry is something that I play with every now and then for a bit of fun," he said.

"It's just a really good experience to be part of P.O.T. LUCK.

“It gives an opportunity meet other artists and those who are into writing — I have made a lot of connections through great events like this one.”

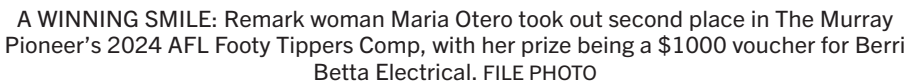

Two creative writing workshops are set to be held ahead of P.O.T. LUCK this coming Sunday and Tuesday, with the free in-person or online option available for anyone to attend, even if there is no intention to share the work at P.O.T. LUCK.

To sleep or not to sleep? Roz can help

A RIVERLANDER is helping fellow locals explore a practice she says can help anyone fall asleep.

Renmark woman Roz Frazer held a meeting at Hotel Renmark, on Wednesday 28 August, to instruct others on a method she uses to help fall asleep.

Ms Frazer said “I personally will not take medication to make me sleep, as I have had a number of falls”.

“You concentrate on being calm, think of a letter of the alphabet and think of as many words as you can that start with that letter.

“That’s as simple as it is.”

It is understood Ms Frazer is currently organising a second meeting, with the date still to be finalised.

A family consisting of a man, a woman, and a young child are shown in profile, looking at a large array of solar panels. The man is pointing at the panels. Three thought bubbles are floating above them: one containing a dollar bill, one containing a ladder, and one containing a small circle. The background is a clear blue sky with some distant buildings.

Loxton's Aged care expo a total success

SEBASTIAN CALDERON

ORGANISERS of an aged care expo held in Loxton last week were pleased to showcase the commitment of local-service providers and members of the community.

Loxton and Districts Health Advisory Council (HAC) hosted the second Navigating Aged Care Expo, at The Precinct in Loxton, with 34 exhibitors aiming to increase the awareness for available care services in the community.

Among local guests were Loxton Waikerie council Mayor Trevor Norton who delivered the opening speech.

"We thank all the exhibitors today for coming along and sharing your knowledge and experience with all the participants, and thank you for what you do for our community," Mr Norton said.

"As a community we rely on the contributions of everyone because we want to ensure that we're doing the best so that people remain healthy and can do what they decide."

Chaffey MP Tim Whetstone was also present during the opening. "I commend the organisers for the great work that they've done by putting this together," Mr Whetstone said.

"It is really about providing people with not only the information, but also the services that people can access as they age."

"We are living in a more ageing demographic and particularly here in the Riverland, so I would like to think that we are a destination for people living a better life, since we have good climate, flat terrain and a lovely community spirit".

Exhibitors such as the University of the Third Age, Probus, Loxcare, Volunteering SA/NT, CA Legal and Migration and the Loxton Health Centre among others, offered different activities, speakers and information sessions.

One of the main focuses was to showcase local organisations currently providing a 'sense of belonging' to older community members, where they can socialise with new or old friends that share similar interests.

Volunteer expo being held at Waikerie next week

VOLUNTEERING SA&NT and the Australian Red Cross are encouraging people interested in volunteering to attend the 'Riverland Volunteering Expo' at Waikerie next week.

Both organisations are hosting the event, in the Waikerie Institute, on Thursday 24

October, from 10am to 1pm.

The expo will enable those attending to learn more about volunteering, and local organisations who are seeking volunteers will also have information on the type of assistance they need.

A free sausage sizzle and drinks, and face painting and games for children will also be on offer.

For more information contact Kimberly Jenkins at the Australian Red Cross on (kijenkins@redcross.org.au) or Emma Vallelonga on (emma.vallelonga@vsant.org.au).

Festive Functions

ADVERTISING FEATURE

Planning the workplace's favourite time of year

THE most festive time of the year is right here. Again! Another year is almost done and dusted. So, as we gear up for our favourite holiday season, it's time to start planning a Christmas party for your staff.

Christmas parties are a fantastic way to strengthen teamwork and enhance company culture.

There's a special magic to parties—they help people relax and forge connections. And let's not forget the bonus of feeling acknowledged for a year of hard work.

Now that you understand the purpose behind these gatherings, feel free to get creative. Toss in some prizes, bonuses, gifts, end-of-year reviews, or any other way to show gratitude and recognise your employees. Remember, this is all about creating a social vibe, bringing colleagues closer, and letting the festive spirit take over.

Before you do anything, make sure to check in with the head honcho about your plans. Office parties can be notorious for stirring up trouble, so you want to make sure that decisions regarding alcohol, venue, and budget, are all cleared by the boss first.

While you're thinking about booking a venue during the Christmas season, so is everyone else. Make sure you plan ahead and get your date and venue booked to beat the rush and avoid disappointment.

Deciding early on whether you will be doing a lunch, or an evening event, will help you narrow down venue choices.

You can also create an office poll with a few possible dates to vote on, to ensure maximum attendance.

Once you have your date and venue booked, it's time to actually plan out your event. Will there be a theme for the decor, menu, or cocktails? A dress code? A gift exchange? Entertainment of some sort? How will you handle transportation, especially if alcohol is being served? Are you planning a community giveback of any kind?

Planning out every detail and anticipating things that could go wrong will help you make sure you've got everything covered.

To help you set a realistic budget for your office Christmas party, consider the following things:

- ☐ Party venue hire
- ☐ Catering and beverages
- ☐ Entertainment
- ☐ Decorations
- ☐ Transportation
- ☐ Audio-visual equipment
- ☐ Guest speakers or special appearances
- ☐ Gifts for employees
- ☐ Contingency fund for unexpected expenses
- ☐ Gratuity or service fees for vendors

Throwing a company Christmas party is more than just having fun, it's like making a special investment in team friendship and how everyone feels about the company. It's about more than just planning where to have it or how much money to spend. The special part is creating a happy atmosphere that makes everyone feel like a team, appreciates their hard work, and makes them work together even better.

Everything you do, like deciding on a budget, picking a good place, getting gifts, and planning fun things, adds to making a party that people will always remember. So, when the party happens, enjoy it. Celebrate the good times and all the hard work everyone did during the year.

Our Riverland towns have a number of great venues to choose from when deciding where to hold a Christmas function. In Renmark the choice can be made from Hotel Renmark, Renmark Club, 23rd Street Distillery and Mallee Estate. Loxton boasts the Loxton Hotel, The Precinct and Loxton Club, while the Berri Hotel, Big River Tavern, Waikerie Hotel or Waikerie Club also all make good options.

The region also boasts numerous smaller cafes and restaurants that would be ideal settings for a Christmas Party.

Tourism Minister tours Mid Murray

FEDERAL Trade and Tourism Minister Don Farrell has praised the Mid Murray district for its resilience and progress in rebuilding following the 2022-23 River Murray flood.

Senator Farrell officially opened the upgraded Len White Reserve in Swan Reach, on 27 September, alongside Mid Murray Council Mayor Simone Bailey and CEO Ben Scales.

“As one of the many South Australians born on the mighty Murray, I have a strong personal connection to this region,” Mr Farrell said.

“It was devastating to see the impacts of the 2022-23 floods, but it has been inspiring to witness the resilience of the community and the way people have come together to rebuild.

“I would like to congratulate everyone involved in delivering this fantastic new space.

“Destinations like the newly upgraded Len White Reserve represent the kinds of quality facilities we want to see in our regions.

“Our regional communities are the lifeblood of our nation, and this wonderful space will serve both families and local community here in Swan Reach, and visitors that travel through as they explore our great state.”

The Destination Swan Reach project was jointly funded by the Federal and State Governments, and Mid Murray Council, and included riverbank remediation, upgrades to the playground and park furniture, and installation of a new toilet.

It was funded through the Australian Government’s $1.38bn Building Better Regions Fund.

Through the program, the Federal Government provided $224,970 towards the Destination Swan Reach, project and the State Government provided $125,000.

Mid Murray Council provided the remaining $212,463.

The project delivered a range of upgrades to Len White Reserve, and now links the reserve to the Murray Coorong Trail, and other open spaces along the riverbank.

Activities undertaken as part of the Len White Reserve upgrade project included:

- ❑ Upgrading existing turf and riverbank edges
- ❑ Construction of a shared pathway
- ❑ Landscaping and fencing
- ❑ Improving connections to the main street
- ❑ Installation of interpretation/information/directional signage
- ❑ Installation of new toilet facilities
- ❑ Installation of additional picnic settings
- ❑ Upgrades to the playground

The playground upgrades included the incorporation of all-abilities playground equipment to create a more inclusive environment.

Mid Murray Council collaborated with the local Swan Reach community to develop and implement the blueprint for these upgrades.

“The project was unfortunately delayed by the 2022-23 Murray River floods, but the upgrades have now been completed, and the new space is ready to be enjoyed by locals and visitors alike,” Mr Farrell said.

“Upgrading the reserve provides residents and tourists with a wonderful outdoor space all year round, where tourists can visit for a picnic, families can get outside and get active, and the local community can gather.”

As part of his visit to the Mid Murray, Senator Farrell also took part in a Dark Sky Tour with Kelly Kuhn’s Juggle House Experiences and Mid Murray Mayor Simone Bailey.

It covers more than 3200 square kilometres, from Bow Hill to Blanchetown, on the River Murray and west to the foothills of the Mt Lofty Ranges.

Mr Farrell said the tour was a “magnificent experience, and the benefits that Dark Sky Tours were bringing to the region and local tourism was truly wonderful”.

“Going out to the Dark Sky Reserve and seeing Saturn for the first time was one of the great privileges of my lifetime,” he said.

“I encourage tourists, near and far, to take a trip to the River Murray Dark Sky Reserve and experience this for themselves.”

Mid Murray Mayor Simone Bailey said the River Murray Dark Sky Reserve offered a unique stargazing experience, drawing visitors to the Mid Murray for a breathtaking view of the night sky, one of the clearest in the world.

“Swan Reach is not just a gateway to the River Murray, but also to the stars,” she said.

“The Dark Sky Reserve has become a must-visit destination for nature lovers and astronomy enthusiasts alike.”

The Mid Murray district is home to a significant part of SA’s River Murray International Dark Sky Reserve.

Senator congratulates outgoing Swan Reach school principal

THE outgoing principal of the Swan Reach Area School John Robertson has been congratulated for his 10 years of service to the school.

Mr Don Farrell visited the school while visiting the region recently. They discussed the challenges the school community faced during the floods, and Mr Robertson’s role involving the school in ‘The Resilience Project’.

This initiative began following the 2022-23 River Murray floods and focused on improving skills around resilience and wellbeing within the community.

Television and how it changed our lives

IT was a dark and stormy night. Well actually it wasn't stormy, but it was dark.

We're walking hurriedly home on a winter's night and 'seeing' furtive figures moving between the orange trees.

"Did you see that? Is there someone over there?"

It was a Monday night. The Invaders had just finished, a menacing TV series about extra-terrestrial beings taking on human form, intent on controlling Earth by eliminating us all.

Each episode gave us kids the shivers, but was also irresistible.

Our cousins were the only household in the neighbourhood with a telly, and therefore we possibly invited ourselves.

Ten minutes to walk there, a much quicker dash home in the dark.

One afternoon after school, Lassie appeared in the grainiest of images through a TV screen emblazoned with snow, but I still sat on that same loungeroom floor mesmerised and hopeful.

Some weeks later when the wind was blowing in the right direction, Mr Squiggle – the man from the moon – clearly appeared.

I wished Blackboard wouldn't be so impatient. "Hurry up, hurry up." And then Mr Squiggle became so fretful. "Hold my hand, Miss Pat," he'd say anxiously.

Then a few scrawls of Mr Squiggle's pencil nose, and some random scrawls on a white page were remade into art.

Confoundingly, whenever we stayed with our Adelaide cousins, they seemed ambivalent about TV. They could watch the Channel Niners, the cartoons and Here's Humphrey every day if they wanted.

The Test Pattern finished at 2pm but no, we had to wait till 4 o'clock.

From there though, it was contentment at its most pure.

Centuries later, Dad and Mum bought a TV and life was never the same.

Family tea moved from the kitchen table to eating off our laps.

Even if Mum fought the move, there was no choice because the unmissable Bellbird came on around teatime.

To me, television was everything. It was our in-home drive-in. And if there is a place called Seventh Heaven, I was there.

We stopped listening to radio dramas like Dossier on Demetrius. Why imagine the story when you can see it? Besides, Blue Hills was already on the way out in our house.

Before homework after school, there was F-Troop's Sgt O'Rourke, Agarn, and Captain Parmenter sweetly unburdening our daily worries.

In summer we dashed from the cutting shed to the house to watch a Dennis Lillee replay. Faced with a return to apricot drudgery, the temptation to watch a couple more overs always got the better of us.

With just one channel remote controls were unnecessary, as were disputes over the night's programs.

Despite our ardour, television was for adults too.

Mum and Dad were committed to the 7 o'clock ABC News. This Day Tonight followed, hosted by a silver-haired, good-natured man called Clive Hale.

And if TV alone wasn't compelling enough, there was televised sport too – test cricket, SANFL footy and tennis.

From far away, Margaret Court and John Newcombe beat the world, held up their silver Wimbledon trophies, and Australians were proud.

We watched number 7 Russell Ebert, and Barrie Robran in number 10, and felt we knew those champions because we saw them play and watched their demeanour, something that newspapers and magazines could never do.

It was unreal to have these great champions in our loungerooms.

When Channel 5A magically arrived in Loxton, coverage was tentative at first, but gradually we had more options, including our own Riverland news and sport.

Today televisions have a million channels, extreme high definition, and are ridiculously huge.

But they're still that thing for me, sometimes dull and sometimes stimulating, but always an escape and always compny.

Safeguarding for South Australia's $1.3bn horticulture industry

TO our dedicated Riverland community and valued fruit and vegetable growers, we're facing a challenge that we knew was coming.

Two new Queensland fruit fly outbreaks – Murtho E and Gurra Gurra – have been declared after more than six months with no declarations.

Earlier this year we took many preparatory measures, so we're now in great stead to deal with any additional outbreaks.

Our staff members from the PIRSA Fruit Fly Emergency Response have acted swiftly to tackle the newly-affected outbreak areas. This includes applying proven control measures that reduce fruit fly populations.

But to execute this mission effectively, we need you to collaborate with us. We have a proven track record of successfully eradicating fruit fly incursions – 100 per cent success, in fact.

We have seen this since the first year-long outbreak in 1946 in metropolitan Adelaide, and numerous outbreaks since then.

Along with our incident controller Jason Size, and the response team as a whole, I have every confidence we will do so again. We are defending our status as a Pest Free Area.

While we have outbreaks at the moment, we have not given up the fight and do not have a permanent fruit fly incursion in South Australia. We are the only mainland state in Australia that is free from an endemic (permanent) fruit fly population.

This has been a long battle to date and we are only too aware of the toll taken on our local communities. To win this fight, we'll need to rally.

Our ongoing vigilance and combined effort from the community, industry, and government, is crucial for safeguarding the economy, agriculture and quality of life in our region.

Our fruit fly-free status is key to maintaining our competitive edge and protecting our $1.3bn horticulture industry.

It opens doors to valuable international markets and this sector supports 4000 horticultural businesses and employs 37,500 people in South Australia.

We know how important this is to our local way of life – our jobs, livelihoods, and families, as well as our shared lifestyle and culture.

We take zero chances when it comes to fruit fly. Our field teams are doorknocking in affected outbreak areas to help keep fruit fly out of your backyard.

If you'd like to know more about our control measures, you can visit our website (pir.sa.gov.au/field-teams) or contact our Fruit Fly Hotline anytime on 1300 666 010.

While our field teams are trained and here to help, they're also fighting the clock to visit as many properties as possible to ward off new fruit fly populations before they spread. So our Hotline team are here to take your calls and help with any information you need.

It's only together that we can overcome this challenge and secure a thriving future for our region.

The most important thing you can do to help support our work is to help field teams make quick visits to your gardens and yards, and to follow these four key actions:

- ☐ Pick your fruit
- ☐ Collect any on the ground
- ☐ Check for signs of fruit fly
- ☐ Call our Hotline if you notice anything suspicious. We're here to support you every step of the way.

Funding now available for regional airports

RIVERLAND councils can now apply for a funding program aimed at providing vital upgrades for rural airports and aerodromes.

The Federal Government recently opened applications for the Regional Airports Program

Eligible projects can include upgrades to runways, drainage, lighting, fencing, navigation, and safety training.

In addition to safety and access works, the funding can also be used for projects that will help with the transition to net zero in aviation, including technology such as electric charges and hydrogen fuel storage for aircraft use.

Grants from $20,000 to $7.5m are available to cover up to 50 per cent of eligible costs for each project.

"I look forward to... supporting regional Australia by providing jobs, improved connectivity, and lasting benefits for communities such as better access to aeromedical and other emergency services," Minister for Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Local Government Catherine King said.

"Better connections between regions and cities will also help promote the growth and prosperity of Australia's regions into the future.

"Nearly $100m has been made available under the previous three rounds of the program, supporting 194 projects.

"I encourage owners or operators of existing aerodromes and airports in regional Australia to take a look at the guidelines and consider applying to make their priority upgrades a reality."

Applications will close on 18 November.

For more information on the funding guidelines, visit the website: (www.business.gov.au/grants-and-programs/regional-airports-program-round-4).

Tim encourages to prepare for bushfire season

A SENIOR local politician is reminding people about the importance of bushfire preparation due to predicted hot weather in the coming months.

With a high-risk bushfire season predicted, Chaffey Tim Whetstone is encouraging the community to prepare their homes and bushfire survival plans.

"The Fire Danger Season is upon us and it's a timely reminder that bushfire safety is a shared responsibility," Mr Whetstone said.

"Every person who lives in the Riverland and Mallee should be preparing for the season.

"We are facing a long, hot summer after a dry spring, which means fire will be a severe risk to our community once again.

"We know bushfires are devastating and it's important that if people haven't taken any steps to prepare themselves or their property, they take this warning and do so now.

"Fuel reduction activities via weed management, chipping, slashing and burning to reduce the likelihood of ignition of bushfires, and to lessen the resistance to control are crucial."

"Vacant properties can present a risk if not appropriately maintained and I urge the community to work with local government to ensure fire threats are reduced as much as possible".

"It is also important to consider the potential for a loss of power or mobile phone service, as while it can be rare, it does happen and often it's when we least expect it," Mr Whetstone said.

"Our local CFS do a fantastic job protecting lives and property, but it is not just their responsibility, they need your support.

"A bushfire would be devastating in our region, and we need to be vigilant as a community to prevent this from happening.

"This is also a timely reminder of the vital work our CFS volunteers and I encourage anyone wanting to contribute to our community to consider signing up to be a CFS volunteer."

For information on preparing a Bushfire Survival Plan, visit the website (www.cfs.sa.gov.au)

A big first year of Harvey Norman in the Riverland

HAVING supplied computers, electrical, furniture, and kitchen products to the region for the last year, Harvey Norman is quickly on its way to becoming a one-stop staple for Riverland homes.

Found on 165 Fourteenth Street, the locally owned and staffed team at the Renmark Harvey Norman store opened its doors to the Riverland last May, with the aim to provide "the best service and products at the best prices".

"Having a Harvey Norman in the Riverland means that local people are now able to come to see, touch, and experience the product in person," Harvey Norman Renmark electrical proprietor Nestor Beale said.

"The benefit of our customer service, and that product knowledge, too is that we can direct a customer to the perfect product for their lifestyle, one they might not have even known existed.

"And while we are an individual franchised business, we are part of a network of stores — if we don't have something on the floor, we can definitely

“Being a locally owned franchise means how we support the community directly affects where we live and the people around us...”

- Nestor Beale

get it for you."

In only a short amount of time Harvey Norman has established itself among the wider community, with sponsorships and support of local groups such as local bowling clubs, schools, and other community groups.

"Harvey Norman have really enjoyed being part of the community in that way, and we plan to continue," Mr Beale said.

"Being a locally owned franchise means how we support the community directly affects where we live and the people around us."

Looking to the future, Mr Beale said Harvey Norman hoped to expand their team of friendly staff, providing quality training and inspire the local community opportunity to upskill in a sales role.

"One of the best parts of my role is training and developing staff, watching people grow their skills and experience really gives me a kick," he said, Berri resident Ryan McKay said he had found working at the Renmark store "really rewarding".

"It's been really good working in Harvey Norman because you just get to know so much of the community," he said.

"I work in the technology section, so it's great having that opportunity to help people to buy the right product and understand how to use it.

"The managers here, as well as the other staff, have been super supportive especially in terms of self-development — I have learnt so much working here in sales and gained an entirely new skillset."

Team members Ryan McKay and Emily Castle said they gained valuable experience and support from Harvey Norman. PHOTO: Madison Eastmond

SEBASTIAN CALDERON

A LOCAL nursing home recently organised a week of arts, crafts, and creative activities aimed to put smiles on the faces of its residents.

The Riverview Lutheran Rest Home in Loxton held a ‘show week’ with residents and visitors enjoying activities organised to boost the mood and happiness of everyone involved.

The event started with the art and crafts exhibition, which will be running until 14 October, where Riverview talents showcased their creations alongside artists from The Collective Loxton.

Riverview resident Jan said “I displayed some of my embroidery and millinery, it was really good”.

Riverview CEO Nicolle Jachmann said “Chelsea, our wonderful Wellbeing program manager, has developed an amazing week of fun and exciting show-related activities enabling all residents to enjoy the fun and festivities of a country show.”

“The varied range of fun show activities throughout the week means there is something for everyone to enjoy and we are truly grateful to the many wonderful volunteers and family members that have assisted Chelsea and the lifestyle team in bringing the show to Riverview,” Ms Jachmann said.

Wellbeing program manager Chelsea Launders said “I am beyond grateful for all of our dedicated volunteers for their enthusiasm and spirit, as their involvement was instrumental in supporting the lifestyle team to ensure our events were a great success.”

“Community organisations such as Loxcare and The Collective Loxton also played a vital role through their involvement and support, which significantly enhanced our art and craft exhibition, offering further pieces of interest and talking points for our wonderful residents and their relatives”.

“My goal in bringing this show to our residents is to help maintain that meaningful connection with their local community and cultural roots. All the while having some fun along the way”.

Riverview resident Gloria shared her excitement for the event, “getting dressed up for the photobooth was really fun.”

Riverview resident Judy said “what a wonderful week and lovely to see all the local talent we have here in Loxton and as for Side Show Alley, what a marvellous way to end the week.”

Animals were also a big part of the week, thanks to a visit from Farmer Darcy’s Travelling Farm, which allowed everyone to interact with different farm animals.

A scarecrow making competition was organised as a creative activity, two teams attempting to build the best scarecrow from old clothes filled with newspapers.

The scarecrow competition highlighted the creativity of Riverview residents by using common items and clothing to create funny characters.

Thanks to staff, volunteers and families, residents have had a fabulous week enjoying an action packed program.

Quad bike stolen in Cadell last month

RIVERLAND police are investigating a theft that occurred at a property on Smyth Road, Cadell.

Sometime between 5 and 8 August, a quad bike was stolen by unknown offenders from inside the property.

Anyone with information can contact Crime Stoppers online (crimestopperssa.com.au), or call 1800 333 000.

Funding boost for upcoming Riverland events

TWO Riverland events have received an important financial boost aimed to support the development of new and existing innovative regional events.

The Riverland Rose and Garden Festival and Sounds in the Quarry are among the events that received a part of the $531,500 collective boost organised from the South Australian Tourism Commission’s regional Event Fund.

The 2024-2025 fund was organised to support events staged from 1 September 2024 to 31 August 2025.

Minister for Tourism, Zoe Bettison said “I am thrilled to see such a diverse range of events supported in this year’s Regional Event Fund, which are set to showcase the best of South Australia’s unique regions and world-class hospitality.”

“Delivered through the South Australian Tourism Commission, the Regional Event Fund is an important initiative that supports a thriving events calendar across our state, helping trigger visitation as those thinking about exploring our state commit to a trip,” Ms Bettison said.

The Riverland Rose and Garden Festival will be held over ten days (18 October to 27 October) with an invitation open to visitors to explore large open gardens across the Riverland, put together by gardeners from all across the region.

Other components of the festival include the Waikerie Districts Community Flower Show, the Festival Fair along with the Renmark Institute display.

The Sounds in the Quarry 2024 music festival will be held at the Overland Corner Hotel on 9 November with a mix of nostalgic music from the 70s, 80s, and 90s, to new music performed by more than 20 local artists across two main stages embedded in the unique sandstorm quarry scenery.

“With 43 cents in every tourism dollar spent in the regions, it is important we continue to drive visitation across regional South Australia and this Fund aims to do just that,” Ms Bettison said.

Growers Services welcomes Valtra on board

ONE of the Riverland’s most trusted agriculture suppliers has expanded its tractor offerings.

Growers Services recently added the Valtra line of tractors to its range of agricultural machinery.

Growers Services CEO Luke Ayling said the brand was highly regarded in international agriculture.

“Valtra is really good. They are designed and built in Finland, and they are recognised as one of the best tractors in the world.

“They are designed and built in Finland, and they are recognised as one of the best tractors in the world...”

Luke Ayling

“Valtra just do tractors, and they are used in extreme environments from Antarctica to Australia.

“They are full of innovative features... and they go from 105hp to 425hp.”

Mr Ayling said Valtra’s range of tractor models could be used in Riverland vineyards and orchards, plus larger broadacre farms.

“We love the fact it’s a versatile and high-quality machine,” he said.

Mr Ayling said Growers Services team members were eager to share their expertise with local customers.

“We’re fully across the product range and raring to go,” he said.

Blooms of Riverland West on show

CHRISTINE WEBSTER

GARDENING enthusiasts preparing to enter the Waikerie and Districts Community Flower Show are hoping for ideal weather conditions this week.

The event, being held in the Waikerie Memorial Institute, is in its 42nd year and is part of the annual Riverland Rose and Garden Festival, running from Friday until 27 October.

Waikerie and Districts Community Flower Show committee president Glennis Crawford said the mild spring weather had been favourable for gardeners and their plants.

“It has been a pretty good growing season for the flowers, except we haven’t had much rain,” she said.

“2mm or 3mm over spring is not a lot of rain, but keen gardeners do make sure their plants are adequately watered.

“Fortunately we haven’t had much hot weather yet. Temperatures have been in the low 20Cs for the last month.

“That is pretty nice weather for gardening.”

Ms Crawford said her roses had started flowering a bit earlier this year, but she was still confident she would be able to pick some of her own to enter the show.

The show’s theme this year is ‘At the Bottom of the Garden’, which has already attracted strong interest from children across the Riverland West.

Workshops have been held at primary schools in the area to enable students to prepare entries.

Ms Crawford said the theme enables both adults and children to use creativity in their floral art entries.

“It covers a whole range of things and doesn’t necessarily mean having to focus on fairies at the bottom of the garden or something magical,” she said.

“You might have an old implement or a special spot at the bottom of your garden, where you enjoy sitting and having a cup of tea with the birds.

“You could just let your mind wander and adapt your entry to this theme.”

The show will still feature the traditional categories that include cut flowers, roses, Australian native plants, pot plants (including orchids) with open, intermediate, and novice sections.

Ms Crawford said the committee was grateful to Riverland businesses that had donated money for cash prizes and items for the raffle.

Flower show entries need to be delivered tomorrow to the Waikerie Memorial Institute, between 2pm and 7pm, and judging will begin at 7.30pm.

Ms Crawford said organisers would be on hand to help those needing assistance with entries.

The show will be open on Friday, from 10am to 5pm, and on Saturday, from 10am to 2pm.

Entry is $5 for adults, $4 for concession holders, and free for children.

Winners of the various categories will be revealed during the official opening of the show, on

Waikerie and Districts Community Flower Show committee president Glennis Crawford examining some of the roses she is planning to enter into the event tomorrow. PHOTOS: Christine Webster

Friday, at 10.30am.

Well-known floral art judge Alethia Quick OAM, from Adelaide, will once again provide a free demonstration revealing the latest trends of her craft, at 2pm, on Friday.

She will also run a free children’s workshop on Saturday, at 10am. Bookings are required.

Waikerie High School’s year 11 students will be serving morning and afternoon teas for $5 each on both days.

To book for the children’s workshops, or for more information, contact Glennis Crawford on 0428 911 521.

Ms Crawford said despite the dry spring, conditions have been good for growing flowers.

Region’s artistic talent on display

RIVERLAND West artistic experts Carole Walker, from the Waikerie and Districts Garden Club, and Kathy Elliot, will be developing a display for the Waikerie and Districts Community Flower Show.

Mrs Walker said those attending the flower show will be able to join Rosie and Ryder and some of their fairy friends in a sensory experience ‘At the Bottom of the Garden’.

“Sit on a mushroom and have your photo taken with Rosie,” she said.

flowers.”

Riverland artist Jarrod Loxton is also assisting with some of the props that will be used in the display.

In conjunction with the flower show, Waikerie’s Rain Moth Gallery is also running an art and photographic competition for all ages, based on the ‘At the Bottom of the Garden’ theme.

The exhibition part of the competition will officially open tonight, at 6pm.

MADISON EASTMOND

AUSTRALIA’S leading Indigenous and Torres Strait theatre art company, Bangarra, performed its newest work Yuldea for Riverland audiences last Wednesday.

Held at the Chaffey theatre, in Renmark, the production explored the changing of landscape for the Anangu of the Great Victorian Desert and Nunga of the West Region of South Australia during the 20th century, which included the building of the Trans-Australian Railway, and atomic bomb testing at Maralinga.

The waterhole, Yuldea — also known as Ooldea — became the stage for Bangarra, which was drained during the industrial transformation of the environment.

“Lives were forever changed by the impact of colonial progress,” Bangarra artistic director, co-CEO, and choreographer Frances Rings said.

“The story of Yuldea asks us to look beyond the narrative of our nation’s modernisation to reconcile a fraught history, and to affirm a future that no longer hides behind its truths but grows because of them.”

The four-act production was preceded by a Welcome to Country and smoking ceremony held by Auntie Sheryl Giles and entertainment by local singer songwriter Eric Cook.

The evening also included the reveal of the Country Arts SA program that will be touring to the Riverland in 2025.

“For more than 30 years, Country Arts SA has allowed South Australians of all ages and across all regions to enjoy arts and culture by presenting shows and workshops within its various art centres, including here in Renmark,” Country Arts board member and Berri Barmera Mayor Ella Winnall said.

“(Country Art SA) have presented 2423 events the last financial year, with over 19,000 people performing on our regional stages, and a further 2500 people backstage.

“(Arts and culture) provide diversity to our local economies and provides job for regional people... helps our response to crisis and change, and for our individual and collective wellbeing — it is essential to our community.”

Loxton Jackpot Jamboree winners announced

AN annual Loxton event was held during the October long weekend, aimed to reduce the current population of carp fish within the Murray River.

The Loxton Carp Jackpot Jamboree, organised by The Rotary Club of Loxton, saw almost 300 participants for this year’s event.

Fishing commenced at 8am and ran until 2pm, with approximately 346 invasive carp removed from the water.

The event was supported by The Apex Club of Loxton, the South Australian Tourism Commission and the District Council of Loxton Waikerie, OzFish Unlimited, One Basin CRC and Murray Brews.

“Although the $10,000 jackpot wasn’t triggered this year, we would like to thank the almost 300 entrants to this year’s competition, especially those who travelled from other regions to join our event,” Loxton Rotary Club project manager Harry Ostendorf said.

“We would also like to thank all the associated volunteers who made Saturday possible, and finally, we would like to thank the District Council of Loxton Waikerie for supporting our initiative,” Mr Ostendorf said.

Mementoes bring back memories and stories to tell

SINCE their September meeting plans were changed, Waikerie Probus ladies had to improvise and an idea from Renmark Probus ladies proved inspirational.

They asked members to bring along mementoes to share and the resulting stories were fascinating.

Imagine being a teenager and receiving a crystal jug as a thank you for telling people who did not get news that they had won a major lottery.

Or being in a room that a golf ball ‘the Don’ was practising with rolled into, while visiting his daughter. Said ball was kept by the club member.

Another member had kept a Christmas book given by a neighbour’s son in 1943, who was in the RAAF and later died. How about keeping a boomerang made by famed tracker Jimmy James after he demonstrated throwing it and it kept landing by your feet?

Other family treasures included a diamond ring one member’s mother found in a turkey crop, a John Martins’ book and fashion diagrams from a member’s former model mother-in-law, and a silver serviette ring from 1910. There was a photo of an all-girls local band from the 1940s that someone’s mother played in, a statue of a Dutch girl that is over 100 years old passed down by a grandmother and mother, a Christening gown hand made by a great aunt in the early 1900s and worn by successive generations, butter paddles used by one person’s grandfather to make butter, plus other personal effects.

This month’s major events for the club include door assistance for the Flower Show, on 18 and 19 October, and the combined Bowls Day at Waikerie, on 31 October, which Waikerie combined and ladies club are jointly organising.

The club’s next meeting will be at the Waikerie Club, on 22 October, at 10am, celebrating its 36th birthday. Naomi Moxham will speak about Santa’s Cave and Nigel Rollbusch about his business, Rollbusch Quality Meats.

There will be a special morning tea and lunch. Guests welcome. More information available from Pat on 0419 858 437, or Maxine on 0402 008 752.

Renmark Men’s Probus Club monthly update

AT the last meeting of the Renmark Men’s Probus Club, held on Monday 16 September, our guest speaker was our very own member, Allan Maddocks, who gave us a presentation on his life History. As there was some time left, we also heard further presentations from fellow members Jock Somerville and Mark Bell. Next Meeting is Monday 21 October, at the Hotel Renmark Function Room, with our guest speaker being John Chappel from Stoney Pinch. John will give us an update on the Riverland Rose and Garden Festival, which he has been involved with since 2020, the year of Covid-19. He has also seen the transition of the festival from a local Renmark event to a major regional event covering all three Riverland councils. John will also give a progress report on his CALSILIC Project, to produce plant-available silica from ancient beach sand using critical water.

Future panned events include:

- ❑ Loxton Annual Church Service: The Loxton Probus Club invite members, friends and other Probus clubs to attend its annual church service on Friday 18 October, at the St. Peters Lutheran Church, Bookpurnong Terrace, Loxton, in the Peace Hall for morning tea at 9:30am, followed by the service at 10:30am. Lunch will be available at the Loxton Club.
- ❑ Annual Car Observation Trial: To be Held on Friday 8 November. To enter cars costs $5 per car for barbecue and salad lunch. Please BYO drinks and chairs. The trial will commence and finish at the Berri Marina. Start time and registration is 10am for the first car with following cars leaving at five-minute intervals. Come and enjoy a leisurely drive around the Berri area. It is not a race.

- ❑ Annual Fishing Contest: Tuesday 11 February 2025 at Bert Dix Park, starting at 11am. Fishing will commence at 12 noon and final weigh-in at 3pm. Registrations should be completed by 30 January to president Ian McLaren by phone on 0407 717 679, or email (13macaren@gmail.com). A barbecue lunch will be supplied. BYO. drinks and chairs.
- ❑ Calperum Station: We are currently having discussions with Julie at Calperum Station to organise a club visit. Further information will be available as it comes to hand.

Thought for the Day: In the end what matters most is how well you loved, how well did you live and how well did you learn to let go.

The Men’s Probus Club of Renmark has been operating for about 40 years now and our motto is “Fun, Friendship and Fellowship in Retirement”.

This is something that is enjoyed by the more than 46 members of the Renmark club and besides the monthly meeting, at which following normal meeting procedures and a friendly cuppa, members have the pleasure of listening to very interesting guest speakers. This meeting takes place at Hotel Renmark, generally in the Function Room, at 10am on the third Monday of the month. If you are interested please come along.

Loxton SACWA preparing for Rose festival

FOR several months, members of the SACWA Loxton District Branch have prepared, by propagation and repotting, a great range of plants for a Riverland Rose and Garden Festival event.

The sale of plants, however, is only part of what will be happening on 20 October, at the SACWA Loxton District Branch Hall.

Those attending in the morning will have the opportunity to watch Jetty Baks demonstrate her skills with native flora. She will create beautiful posies or bunches, which will then be available for sale.

Anyone with an interest in citrus will not want to miss the opportunity of having their questions answered personally by our Riverland world authority on citrus, Ian Tolley. Ian’s knowledge is not confined to citrus, with soil and garden plants also big in his repertoire.

He captivates his audience, interacting with people as he explains details in his inimitable fashion.

Branch member Margaret Hampel will be on hand all day, utilising her creative skills making a fruit and flowers arrangement, as well as tussie mussie bouquets.

Organiser Yae Schoenhenzel said there will be home-made refreshments available all day, and that the $2 entry charge will give those attending the Gala Garden Day the chance to win a door prize provided by Bunnings.

Lions Club of Renmark September update

DURING September, the Lions Club of Renmark celebrated 60 years of service to our community, having been formed in February 1964 and Chartered as a Lions Club on 18 September, 1964.

The club recognised this anniversary by sponsoring a free Family Picnic in the Park at the Arthur Shepherd Lions BBQ Park on Sunday 22 September. A crowd of approximately 200, including Chaffey MP Tim Whetstone, Renmark Paringa Mayor Peter Hunter and other dignitaries joined with most of the club’s members and partners on the day. The club supplied a free sausage sizzle and hot donuts for all attendees, who were entertained by musician Dally Sparkles, Kiwi the Clown, and face painting for the kids. Club president Paul Farr spoke about club projects in the community over the years and current projects/activities of the club. Mr Whetstone responded and acknowledged our club’s efforts in the community. Mr Hunter also spoke in support of Renmark Lions contribution as volunteers in our area. He presented a small wooden plaque from council in recognition of the club’s anniversary. A brilliant day was enjoyed by all.

Renmark Lions have again been very active in catering at various events in our community. On Thursday 29 August we were at Bunnings, in Berri, with our Donut Van to cater at their special Father’s Day Family event, from 6pm to 8pm. We will be at Bunnings again on Thursday 31 October for their Halloween Family Night. As well as catering at our monthly Fundraising Bazaars, held on 1 September and again on Saturday 28 September, we were invited to cater for the students at St Francis of Assisi for their end of term lunch, with a barbecue and hot donuts, on Friday 27 September. We also returned to catering at the Renmark Paringa Council Riverfront Markets, on Saturday 5 October. We expect to be involved again with the markets in December, and the Renmark Christmas Pageant. We also catered at council’s inaugural Machine Mania event on Saturday 12 October.

Our monthly Fundraising Bazaars are still getting great support from our community. The bazaar held on Father’s Day was a great success with most items being sold at half of marked price. The end of month bazaar, on 28 September, also had most of the lounges and tables/chairs at half of marked price. This strategy for both bazaars proved to be successful, with increased funds being raised. The next bazaar/barbecue will be held on Saturday 26 October – a special Riverland Rose and Garden Festival event. Everyone is invited to come and join us and enjoy the family atmosphere at Renmark’s No 2 Oval (W.E. Wood Hall) between 8am and 2pm (extended hours on this occasion). Please note that all enquiries regarding our Fundraising Bazaar are now to be directed to a dedicated mobile phone: 0457 006 631.

At our dinner meeting, on Monday 9 September, we had District Zone chairperson Theresa Andrew, from the Lions Club of Berri, as our guest speaker. She presented a session about the history and structure of the International Association of Lions Clubs (Lions Club International - LCI), including the structure down to club level. A most informative talk, especially for our newer members.

LCI is the largest international service club organization in the world, currently headquartered in Oak Brook, Illinois, USA. It has over 46,000 local clubs and more than 1.4 million members in more than 200 countries and geographic areas around the world. Lions Clubs across are all about community service and operate under a Code of Ethics and a Charter of Purposes set up by LCI in America in 1917. The LCI Motto is “We serve”. Where there is a need, there is always a Lion.

Locally, Renmark Lions Club gives ongoing support to many organisations, recently donating $1523 to Olivewood to assist the purchase of two AED’s, together with a grant they had received; and $750 to Renmark High School as a sponsorship for the annual Lions Scholarship, presented at the end of year students awards and given to a student chosen by the school who has achieved great results despite coming from disadvantaged circumstances.

The Lions Club of Renmark meets twice a month on the second Monday (dinner meeting usually at Hotel Renmark or Renmark Club) and fourth Monday (works/board meeting at Renmark Bowling Club) from 6.30pm to approximately 9.30pm. The Dinner meetings tend to be more of a social occasion, usually have a guest speaker and includes member’s partners. The board/works meetings are a supper meeting where members of the board meet at 6pm, and all members then meet at 7pm in selected committees to discuss club business. We have a quarterly Club Bulletin that informs all members and others of the happenings within our club.

Renmark Lions Club is seeking service-minded people to join them in making a difference in our community. Around the world, Lions are serving their neighbourhoods and beyond while focusing on five global causes: vision, hunger, environment, childhood cancer and diabetes. Our club inspires members to advance worthy causes, serve with friends, and become leaders in our community. We want to share the impact we’re making in our community, and let others know how they can help.

If any of the above is of interest to you, please make inquiries to (renmark.sa@lions.org.au) or phone membership chair Rhonda on (0400 941 714).

Rose and Garden Festival throughout the years

Below is part three of a year-by-year look at the history of the Riverland Rose and Garden Festival. A sincere thanks to Shann Hausler for her research. Further parts will be published in The Murray Pioneer in the lead up to this year's festival...

TWENTY-THIRD ROSE FESTIVAL

20 TO 29 OCTOBER

Opened by: Tim Whetstone

Theme: 'Take a walk through the Farmyard' Institute Floral Display

There were five ambassadors this year and the winner was crowned at a Gala Dinner. The Renmark Hotel and Stan and Sharryn Eleutheriou again hosted Chefs in the Garden. The Riverland Art Circle exhibited at Angove Wines. A total of 24 Open Gardens featured in Renmark, Paringa, Loxton, Berri, Winkie, Glossop and Monash. There were 50 Attractions and eight Events in the Art Trail. The Russian National Ballet performed at the Chaffey Theatre. Angove Wines sponsored a display by the Riverland Art Circle.

TWENTY-FOURTH ROSE FESTIVAL

19 TO 28 OCTOBER

Theme: 'Tribute to David Ruston OAM' Institute Floral Display Inaugural Garden Fair at

Rose Festival Gala Dinner

23rd Street Distillery opened

The Rose Festival Program has a different format and classification system of Activities. As the number of Events has increased and more Riverland towns have come on board, a more comprehensive program was required. There were four ambassadors. Lyn Anstey exhibited at Angove's Winery. A Children's Garden Competition was introduced. Lorraine Marter's 'Rose Lady Costumes' were popular. A total of 31 gardens were opened and there were five activities for children.

There was a Gala Dinner at Ruston's Rose Centre with five ambassadors. The Art Trail Functions have increased to 21. There were 32 Open Gardens and 64 activities across the Riverland. The floral display at the Institute was very popular, with Danny Hoffman's stage display drawing many viewers. Angove Wines sponsored a Collaborative Art Display by Yvonne Lempens and Deb Humble.

TWENTY-SIXTH ROSE FESTIVAL

18 TO 27 OCTOBER

Opened by: Michael Keelan

Modified Program due to Covid-19 lockdowns and closed borders

Inaugural manual system to collect data and feedback from attendees and exhibitors at the Renmark Rose Festival.

Special Thanks to Renmark Paringa Council and particularly Matt Martinson, for the outstanding work they do to keep the public gardens in such fabulous condition.

TWENTY-SEVENTH ROSE FESTIVAL

15 TO 24 OCTOBER

Now called Riverland Rose and Garden Festival

Modified Festival due to Covid-19. Covid-19 Compliancy Plans enacted Inaugural online Event Survey established. This survey is accessed by unique QR codes and it has enabled the committee to use statistics to apply for successful funding. Thanks to Barb Cowey (PIRSA) and John Chappel.

Renmark Paringa Council now has 51 garden beds with more than 4500 roses. The roses are in very good condition and their pruning is timed to perfection. Despite Covid-19, there are 27 Riverland Open Gardens and 18 Events and Activities. The Festival Fair was roped off. There was a Rosey Lunch at Ruston Roses and Kat Bell exhibited at Angove Wines. Seminars were held at Riverside Estate and Kelvin Trimper and Kerry Chambers spoke about rose culture and beekeeping. The Chaffey Rose Club held a Rosey High Tea at Rhonda Taylor's garden. Waikerie's Flower Show theme of 'The Artful Gardner' was very popular.

TWENTY-EIGHTH FESTIVAL

14 TO 23 OCTOBER

Opened by: Henrienne de Briey (President of the WFRS 2018 to 2022)

2022 World Federation of Rose Societies World Rose Convention in Adelaide

Renmark Paringa Council has updated their brochure on the location and identity of roses in the public gardens. Garden beds (including Paringa Cemetery) have increased from 51 to 53

All Riverland councils now make a financial contribution to the Riverland Rose and Garden Festival

Henrienne de Briey disembarked from the PS Industry at the Jarrett Memorial Gardens to open the 2022 Riverland Rose and Garden Festival. The Opening Dinner was held at Mallee Estates and the Gala Dinner was held at Salena Estates – Cucina 837. Wendy Neal was the guest artist at Angove Wines. The Riverland Dog Club once again featured at the fair. Children in particular enjoy the obedience trials. There are still some border restrictions due to Covid-19.

TWENTY-NINTH FESTIVAL

13 TO 22 OCTOBER

Opened by: Michelle Dominic

Theme: 'Riverlanders are Rocking' Institute Floral Display (Friday, Saturday, Sunday)

This year the Gala Dinner was held in Loxton, at The Precinct. The Festival Fair was a popular attraction. Visitors to the Institute Floral Display featured props borrowed from the Riverland rock and roll group and they complimented the flower arrangements very well. The festival has become an annual Riverland feature tourist attraction, just as Eithne Sidhu, David Ruston and the 1994 Chamber of Commerce hoped. Accommodation in the Riverland during the 10 days of the festival is at a premium. Surveys show visitors and tourists spend a considerable amount of money in the Riverland during their Riverland Rose and Garden Festival visits. The Rose Committee thank the many businesses and organisations who support and sponsor the festival. They are especially grateful to the many gardeners who open their gardens, the flower arrangers and the flower donators. The Riverland local government councils are commended for their generous support.

THIRTIETH FESTIVAL

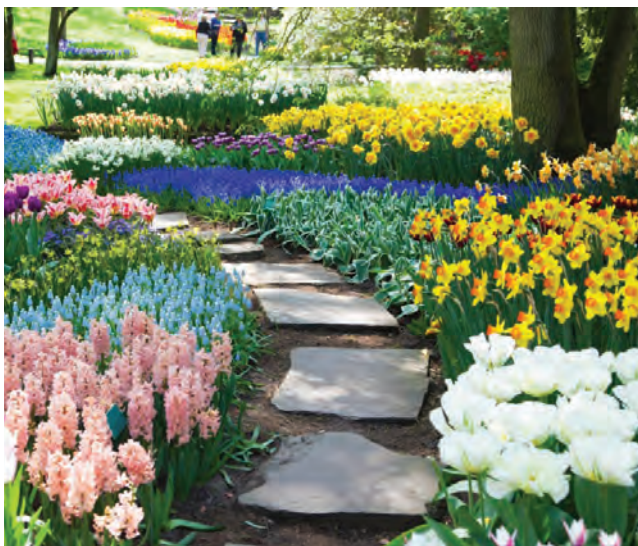

18 TO 27 OCTOBER

Opened by: Sophie Thomson

Theme: 'Beyond the Garden Gate' Institute Floral Display

January: Kelvin Trimper AM passed away

A wonderful program has been organised for the 30th festival. There will not be any ambassadors this year. The festival will begin with a Gala Dinner. Angove Wine guest artist is Sandy Edmonds, a potter.

Flying the speedway flag in the field

WHILE much of the focus on the South Australian speedway landscape is the Adelaide 500’s NAPA Speedway-presented Sprintcars In The City, it is important that we don’t lose sight of our country venues, those who are often underfunded, understaffed and sadly underestimated by some competitors and fans who may be reluctant to travel

One such venue is the Riverland Speedway, located in Renmark, just under three hours’ drive from the Adelaide CBD. Recently, the Riverland area held its annual field day in Barmera and the Riverland Speedway Club were out in force, with four cars – two current and two classics – on display, a S6 Open Sprintcar (Jason Wilson), S6 V6 Sprint (Callum Crossing-Gwynne), S27 Kym Webber (Classic Sprintcar) and the iconic SA1 Phil Obst (Modified Rod). Club members promoted the upcoming season, which will kick off on Saturday with the running of the Classic Show.

The Riverland classics will turn back the hands of time with the sights, sounds and smells of yesteryear. Strong interest is coming from two, three and four-wheeled competitors as the bikes and sidecars are expected (TBC) to be a welcomed addition to the various classic sedans and open-wheeled machines that will see a couple of iconic cars making a return after 30 years away from the dirt ovals. These include Graham Mason’s SA1 and Grant Baker’s SA88 Hotrods. There will be a wide variety of four-wheeled sections including Speedcars/Mini Sprints, Formula 500’s/TQ’s, Super Modifieds, Sprintcars, Stockcars/Stockrods/Hotrods/Sportsman, Saloons/Street Stocks, Super Sedans/Classic Modified Sedans.

The day will start with a show and shine over a breakfast before the on track action will kick off at 12 noon and run through to the early evening, with each section scheduled to have three demonstration runs.

The Riverland Club has recently announced a practice day on Sunday 20

October for both modern and classic sedans. This will give extra incentive to make the most of a full weekend of on-track action, as participants can have another run the following day before travelling home. For those venturing, the Riverland Speedway is located on the Adelaide side of Renmark, on the Sturt Highway at Calperum.

At time of writing, nominations are still open for both the classic and/or practice day. For further information please visit the Riverland Speedway Facebook page, or contact Corey Richter on 0457 428 639. After the classic meeting the club will change gears with the addition of the Riverland Burnouts event on Saturday 30 November. This will be a day full of fuel, smoke, rubber and entertainment, with $5000 in prize money, plus prizes, up for grabs. Classes include 6 cylinder, 8 cylinder, and Young Guns, with two qualifying rounds and the Top 10 Finals for each class.

From that point, the club will run a schedule of four Speedway shows throughout the duration of the 2024-25 season. The Formula 500 State Series will take place on 14 December, January 18 sees the South Australian Modified Sedan Title, March 8 sees V6 Sprints King of the Riverland, and the final meeting will be held on 19 April, which will feature both the Wingless Sprints and Street Stocks in the running of the Calperum Hill Challenge.

Search underway for Australia’s best nurses and midwives

NOMINATIONS for the 2025 HESTA Australian Nursing and Midwifery Awards are now open to Riverlanders.

Honouring the contributions made by Australian nurses and midwives, nurse educators, researchers, and personal care workers, the awards highlight individuals who have improved health outcomes for their community through exemplary care and support.

“Nurses and midwives consistently demonstrate extraordinary skills and empathy often under extremely challenging circumstances,” HESTA CEO Debby Blakey said.

“Their commitment to patient care is inspiring, and we owe them a great deal of gratitude for what they do every day.

“I encourage anyone who works with or has benefitted from the care of an incredible nurse, midwife, or organisation, to take the time to nominate them for their leadership, innovation and pursuit of excellence.”

A $30,000 prize pool, which will be split equally between the winners of the three categories: Nurse of the Year, Midwife of the Year, and Outstanding Organisation.

Nominations can be made until 15 December.

The finalists will be announced in April 2025, with the winners revealed at a ceremony in Melbourne in May 2025.

For more information, or to submit a nomination, visit the website: (www.hesta.com.au/awards/nursing-midwifery-awards).

TOM TRIFONOFF

Bamera wine grape grower JASON PERRIN has submitted the following letter, written to Prime Minister ANTHONY ALBANESE, regarding support following the recent frost event...

Suggestions to help growers

DEAR Prime Minister,
I am writing to you to bring to your attention to the unfolding picture of the devastation to many grape growing regions around the country, and its likely impact on wineries and the financial futures of many grape growers.

The two frosts recently, a few days apart, were quite unprecedented, especially the effect of the second event, only a few days after the first. In parts of South Australia, the temperatures just above ground level dropped to as low as -6.8C. Some areas were a little lower. This devastated wine grapes in a number of regions, from some damage, to in many cases, 100 per cent devastation. The full extent is still to play out, and the level of shoot and bud damage is likely to impact crops for the 2026 vintage, not just the 2025 vintage.

The big picture consequence of this is a severely reduced harvest for 2025. This means grape growers will have little income, and in too many cases across regions, potentially no income for 2025, with 2026 a complete unknown due to the level of damage to vines.

From the winemaker side of the industry, it is equally devastating. All wineries, big or small, need a certain tonnage of grapes to process through their factories to be economically viable. With a significantly reduced tonnage which the industry can only guess at, wineries will not only be competing for grapes far and wide, but be struggling to get what they need.

While one might say the upside is grape prices should be high, reflecting scarcity of a commodity, and that should be true, no one ultimately wins in this if a number of growers decide their crops are not worth harvesting at low tonnages, if harvesting is contemplated at all. Growers already in the Riverland region of SA, the biggest grape growing region by tonnage in Australia, are assessing whether they will input any further labour, sprays and work in general for another five to six months to bring some level of crop to 2025 harvest.

They will certainly not do this after two years of the worst hail seasons we experienced in many years, followed by two years of historically low grape prices, including dumping grapes on the ground, followed by this recent devastating blow to many regions in SA and NSW.

It is estimated currently that the Riverina grape crop could be around 50 per cent devastated, and the Riverland possibly over 40 per cent with significant damage. The other regions are equally devastated to quite high percentages. Hence, growers have, in a number of regions, been dwindling their cash reserves to extreme levels, or increasing their debt level to run their businesses for about five years with little financial joy. This is not good for the growers, the banks, the wider business community, or the government in general.

Coupled with this, cereal farmers in a number of regions had grain crops which were in some cases, just hanging on with far less rainfall than usual. But in many areas, cereal farmers are still assessing the frost damage to their crops, just as are grape growers. I know of several cases in the Mallee area of SA where farmers with 8000 acre crops are hanging on with lack of rain, but with no chance of handling such devastation with the frosts and their extremity.

So there would be a cross section of primary producers with different crops who will be severely impacted financially by these unprecedented and unmanageable events. I have heard in the Riverland of SA for example, that after almost five seasons of extreme lows, commercial lenders are foreclosing on some primary producers who have normally been viable and good managers, but can't compete with three extreme weather events in five years running, coupled with at least three years of extremely low commodity prices.

It is in nobody's interest to have a developing situation where commercial lenders accumulate a portfolio of properties because the primary producer owner has exhausted their own funds, and the interest rates are too high to allow them to continue and trade out of the storm of disasters for another 12 months. Such property repossession took place to some extent about 40 years ago, and often the banks did not pay to keep the properties in good condition, and biosecurity and fire danger risks became an issue to neighbouring landholders. No-one wants this again.

Also, it must be pointed out that in relation to the grape industry, while your government deserves full credit for its excellent diplomacy and hard work in removing the tariffs placed on a number of our agricultural commodities including wine, by China, no flow-on effect has yet come through financially to grape growers. We do not get dividends from wineries from the resulting lift in wine sales.

While winemakers have received immediate economic benefit, grape growers were possibly only due to get a taste of that with a possible increase in demand for our grapes in the 2025 vintage and beyond. Now, please note, that this much-looked-forward-to possibility is largely reduced by the devastation of the frosts in many regions. A diabolical blow nationwide.

It is important also, therefore, that the opposition get fully on board with the proposals I wish to bring to your attention, because in relation to the grape industry, the opposition need to make significant amends via direct support for any measures that help grape growers get back on their feet after the consequences of the previous government's lack of diplomacy. This diplomatic blunder with a major neighbouring trading partner sent many grape growers into uncharted economic decline, and their previously financially viable vineyards into economic chaos.

The suggestions that a number of grape growers, farmers and myself wish to present to you and your government for serious and urgent consideration follows:

- ❑ A call on the Regional Investment Corporation to broaden its criteria for low interest loans open to all primary producers affected by drought and/or frost.
- ❑ The Regional Investment Corporation to offer a 0 rate of interest for the first 12 months, followed by an interest-only period for a minimum period of two years.
- ❑ The interest rate charge after the first 12 month period to be no more than half the average commercial lending rate for the duration of the 10-year loan period with the Regional Investment Corporation. The current 5.18 per cent is too high to be a low interest loan rate.
- ❑ The Federal Government, with opposition, backing to encourage all commercial lenders to offer primary producers impacted by drought and/or frost deferral on loans for up to six months, with unpaid interest capitalised over the remaining loan term, and the option of a further negotiable six-month term. Similar to the relief measures under Covid-19.

Broadening the application criteria for the Regional Investment Corporation is imperative, so primary producers in the drought and/or frost categories are not ruled out by an oversight of red tape procedures or criteria. The application process needs to be expedited and swift to cater for farmers who need to save their businesses, protect our agricultural base, and our food security. The interest rate needs to reflect what a true low interest rate should be to benefit applicants. Long term, the state and federal treasuries benefit, as does the whole of our nation.

This also would fit the 2025/2026 and beyond goals of the Regional Investment Corporation, who want to increase their relevance and success rating of keeping primary producers on their properties as viable units. Currently, the RIC success rating with this is 55 per cent. This in anyone's language is barely a pass, possibly largely attributable to the interest rates offered, which are too high to be considered as low interest loans. Possibly also because the criteria rules out primary producers who should otherwise be eligible. Loan application and approval timeframes also need to be looked at as a priority.

In submitting this case, with suggestions based on farmer/grape grower needs, I sincerely appreciate your time in looking into this, and hopefully, with you providing a positive response to help farmers and grape growers nationally, who are collectively among the most economically, productive and technologically efficient farmers in the world.

Action from last month's Mindarie-Halidon Cup meeting, hosted by the Mindarie-Halidon Racing Club, which has been included in a new Racing SA series offering bonus prizemoney to jockeys, trainers and owners. PHOTO: Grant Schwartzkopff

Good news continues for Mindarie-Halidon

THE good news continues for the Mindarie-Halidon Racing Club, after its inclusion in a new SA country racing series offering additional prizemoney.

Fresh from a hugely successful 2024 meeting last month, the club has been announced as part of a new Mid North and Mallee initiative, offering $10,000 in additional prizemoney.

The sport's controlling body for thoroughbred racing in South Australia, Racing SA, has grouped Mindarie-Halidon with the Clare and Jamestown racing clubs for the series.

Points from meetings hosted by all three clubs will be accumulated for trainers, jockeys and owners. The trainer with the most points at the end of the racing season will win $6000, with the top owner (s) up for $3000 and the top jockey $1000.

Mindarie-Halidon Racing Club publicity officer Paul Mitchell described news of the club's inclusion in the series as "a further boost" for those involved in the annual meeting.

"Our 2024 meeting was crucially important, given we lost last year's meeting on race day," Mr Mitchell said.

"Due mainly to a lot of hard work by the committee and a long list of volunteers, supporters and sponsors, last month's meeting was a huge success, with a big crowd in attendance, great racing action on the track, and excellent catering and entertainment off the track.

"The feedback we had from industry participants was overwhelmingly positive, and to now be part of a new country racing series – offering even further incentives for trainers and jockeys and owners to head to Halidon each year – is a nice little bonus for us all."

Points for each race in the series will be allocated from first (10 points) down to fourth (two points), with all other starters allocated one point.

The Mid North and Mallee series is part of Racing SA's new collaboration with Country Racing SA aimed at ensuring "country clubs across South Australia are celebrated for the crucial role they play in our industry".

"The partnership has created six refined racing series' that highlight and recognise the significance of country clubs in the racing community," Racing SA said.

Country Racing SA chair Jeff Tansell said the new series would cover each racing region across South Australia, "providing every club with the opportunity to shine".

Last weekend's 2024 Murray Bridge Gold Cup, won by Maracourt, is part of the new Provincial Mile series, which includes cup races at Balaklava and Gawler.

Mr Tansell said the new series aimed to "highlight the country cups scene for the benefit of all industry participants".

A number of the different series had already been in place, albeit with different conditions and incentives.

Riverlanders make an early season splash

WHILE recently attending his foundation swimming coaching course at Immanuel College, Vitor Renmark swimmer Hugh Riedel had the opportunity to assist Olympic Gold medallist Kyle Chalmers, as he presented a workshop on freestyle swimming.

Chalmers presented to a small number of development coaches attending the workshop, as well as the foundation coaching course attendees, as to what was involved at Olympic level.

Berri Swimming Club swimmer Amity Kassebaum, who was attending the annual country clinic for swimmers for the week, also had the opportunity to hit the water under Chalmers for the freestyle stroke session.

Other notable Australian representative swimmers who took part in the workshop and presented were Olympian Matt Temple, who presented the butterfly stroke, Norwegian Olympian Ingeborg Loeyning, who did backstroke, and Commonwealth Games swimmer James McKechnie.

Hugh and Amity were put through their paces in the water with Chalmers on micro-phone, running through a number of drills, new techniques, programs and set training methods.

They also had the opportunity to participate in some of the other strokes under the other presenting high-profile swimmers.

It was a busy week at the Immanuel College pool for the region, with a number of Riverland club swimmers attending the week-long country clinic.

The foundation coaching course on the Saturday was attended by a number of Berri Swimming Club representatives, and one from the Vitor Renmark Swimming Club, before the Development Coaches Workshop was attended by Riverland development coaches Mick Kassebaum and Janet Riedel.

An exciting summer of Riverland swimming is set to get underway, with the opening weekend just around the corner.

Connecting hearts and minds for leadership

PARTICIPANTS of a regional leadership development program (RLDP) from the Murraylands and Riverland are being taken on a “transformative journey” of self-discovery and growth.

A group of 21 emerging leaders are participating.

During a recent session at the Bowhill Community Centre participants explored personal behaviour change, uncovering their ‘Immunity to Change’ – the hidden internal resistance that often limits progress.

Regional Development Australia Murraylands and Riverland project officer Mandy Tennant said through structured self-reflection, participants confronted assumptions and broke through personal barriers that had held them back.

Funded by the SA Government through the Department of Primary Industries and Regions, the RLDP continues to inspire leaders by helping them recognise their potential, confront limitations, and embrace new perspectives on leadership.

“Session three focused on developing deep listening skills, encouraging participants to listen with curiosity, compassion, and courage,” Ms Tennant said.

“By connecting their head, heart, and hands, participants are fostering deeper, more meaningful conversations, enhancing empathy, and promoting collaborative leadership.”

Ms Tennant said a powerful tool introduced during the session was learning to harness complaints for positive change.

“Participants discovered that complaints, often seen as mere grievances, can reveal deeply held commitments and opportunities for improvement,” she said.

Ms Tennant said this shift in perspective enabled them to align their actions with their values and turn challenges into opportunities for growth.

“Today was a timely reminder about stress,” a participant reflected.

“I’m under immense pressure at the moment, and today couldn’t have been more perfect.”

“I have a few ideas I plan to mull over on the car ride home.”

“The real-life relevance of this course, combined with the authenticity of the presenters is so valuable, I can’t wait for the next session.”

Ms Tennant said a recurring theme throughout the program had been recognising the ‘intention and reality gap’, the difference between a leader’s intentions and how their actions are perceived by others.

“By exploring this gap, participants are gaining valuable insights into building and maintaining trust, ensuring that their leadership is transparent and accountable, she said.

“The program is equipping participants with the skills to understand and address the emotional needs of their teams, creating environments where individuals feel valued and supported.

Another participant added “today exceeded my expectations, I learned so many things I wasn’t expecting”.

Ms Tennant said as RLDP participants continue to progress, they are preparing to apply these leadership skills within their communities, building resilience, and fostering connection across the Murraylands and Riverland.

“The program plays a pivotal role in nurturing a new generation of leaders, individuals not only equipped with technical expertise, but also with the emotional intelligence and interpersonal skills needed to lead with impact,” she said.

“By focusing on personal growth, deep listening, and courageous leadership, the RLDP ensures that these future leaders are ready to guide their communities through the challenges ahead.”

Declan’s karting dreams continue to be realised

LACHLAN DAND

DESPITE being just 14 years of age, Barmera local Declan Swart already has a mountain of achievements that only keeps growing.

Declan competes in go karting, and it’s something which has taken him across the country this year.

A member of the Loxton Kart Club, Declan’s mum Kylee said she is incredibly proud of the work he has done throughout this year.

“This year he’s reached quite a competitive level which has now seen us travel around Australia quite a bit.

“At the beginning of the year, he competed in the junior kart championship which was held throughout South Australia at four different tracks, where he finished third overall.

“He then went on to compete at the dirt kart titles in Loxton in May this year and had a really good run through all of his heats, which saw him qualify to third position, which is where he finished, so he won a state plate.

“In July we travelled to the Northern Territory for him to compete in the titles there, and he had huge success there, winning three heat races and walking away with the second-place plate.

“We also travelled to Western Australia for him to compete in the junior 20-lapper which is a big event over there, and he won all of his heat races which saw him win the pole sitter award ahead of the final race.

“Over the October long weekend, we travelled to Lucindale to compete in the Australian titles, and there was a massive field of 32 junior light and he qualified out of second position for the final race, and walked away with an Australian number two plate.”

Ms Swart said one of the main reasons Declan has continued to race is due to the friendships he has formed along the way while being based at the Loxton Kart Club.

She credits the close-knit community go kart clubs have, which is available throughout the Riverland.

“By making friendships, it makes travelling to other parts of Australia really easy, because families in those other states are willing to help you out,” she said.

“They see their friends are getting involved in those sorts of things, and I guess if you’re really passionate about kart racing, and you love it, you want to take it to that next level.

Although Declan does enjoy racing on his home track, Ms Swart said he enjoys the aspect of getting on the road and competing interstate.

“Obviously it can be quite tiring when we’re trying to do so many events in the one year, and as parents we only get so much annual leave,” she said.

“But I think it’s just the reward at the end, and getting the opportunity to race in different events and different tracks, and a lot of the tracks interstate are very different to our tracks over here.

“Competing against kids you haven’t competed against before is an awesome challenge, and it’s good to see how you compare on that level.”

Next month Declan is set to travel back to Western Australia to compete in the state titles in the west.

Haigh on target for Jaguars

FORMER star Riverland A1 netballer Ashleigh Haigh is making her mark at a higher level in Adelaide.

Playing goal attack for Newton Jaguars, Haigh finished runner-up in the 2024 best and fairest award for the club’s elite Netball SA State League side.

She also was named rookie of the year, and won the team’s most valuable player award.

In 2022, Haigh won Barmera’s first A1 best and fairest trophy in 37 years, playing most of the season as a 17-year-old.

Haigh’s former Barmera teammate Tahlia Dillon also played for Newton this year, spending her time in the mid-court.

Former star Barmera netballer Ashleigh Haigh starred for the Newton Jaguars during the 2024 Netball SA State League season.

Riverlanders head out west to represent the state

AS the Riverland Superdogs happen to celebrate 280 ‘dog years’, four representatives recently donned the boots in Western Australia.

Stan Lowcock, Rob Romeo, Robbie Johnstone and Dale Lellmann all took to the field in the state carnival, representing across a number of age groups.

and Romeo joined the over 60s side, as Lellmann played in the over 50s team.

It was a successful carnival for both Romeo and Lellmann, who were awarded All Australian honours for their efforts.

Eagles book place in darts grand final

THE Cobby Eagles returned to their usual form in the Riverland darts’ preliminary final with a convincing 8-1 win over Waikerie Vipers, booking a spot in the grand final in the process.

Eagles never let Vipers into the match, claiming the first round of singles games to lead six-nil at the break.

Veteran Jeff Broekers played an excellent singles game in 17 and 16 darts to claim the victory for Eagles.

Cobby will now play R C Ones at the Renmark Hotel, tomorrow night, to see who will be crowned premiers.

With Eagles finding form and R C Ones playing well, this will be a close grand final with either side capable of taking victory.

Saturdays are for the Girls is set to make its return this weekend following a highly successful 2023 tournament. PHOTO: Grant Schwartzkopff

Weekend girls footy comp makes return

LACHLAN DAND

FOLLOWING a highly successful 2023 campaign, a local football competition aimed at boosting female football numbers is set to return.

The competition, dubbed Saturdays for the Girls, is run by the SANFL in the hopes of bringing in more numbers to the Riverland Women’s Football League (RWFL).

SANFL game development co-ordinator, and Barmera-Monash playing coach, Kayla Mudge is set to head up the sessions once again, and said she wanted to bring it back after the success of last year.

“Obviously we had great numbers last year, and enough to have teams and games, and this year it’s back again which will hopefully create some more momentum in the girls’ space here in the Riverland,” she said.

“The idea is to just give the girls an opportunity to play a full match over the six weeks, and to then filter back through to the clubs.

“Hopefully if there is enough interest in this small program, the more enticing it will be for the clubs to get girls competition up and running at that level.”

The RWFL was cut down to just three sides in 2024, following Waikerie and Renmark’s exits from the competition, and Ms Mudge is hoping the tournament will

“A senior football league is unable to exist without juniors, and at the moment there is no space for juniors,” she said.

“So, this program is all on to be able to create momentum in the junior space to then filter up to senior women.

“It’s going to take a couple of years, but the seniors have been going for five years and is yet to have any junior sides go in, so, if we can start them younger it’s easier to filter back up into the senior team.”

The competition features a wide variety of age groups, and although last year begun with the lower aged groups, will now move to the opposite.

Ms Mudge said the main reason for the switch was to allow other Riverland summer sports such as tennis to get off the ground.

“Last year worked really well, but this year I’ve worked with tennis to change the times around, so the under 16s will go first, and then move to the under 13s before finishing with the younger ones,” she said.

Five of the six RFL clubs will have an opportunity to host the carnival, with Waikerie the only club to miss out.

The first session will get underway this Saturday at Barmera-Monash, and full details of how to register can be found via the Riverland Football League Facebook page.

Initiated by the Hectorville Football Club, its under 16s outfit celebrated a recent premiership with a trip to Loxton North, playing a game against a combined Riverland outfit.

SANFL game development co-ordinator Kayla Mudge said the opportunity to showcase girls football was a key reason as to how the game came about.

“One of the daughter’s parents in the West Adelaide academy is friends with the coach of Hectorville, and he mentioned to me they were thinking of coming to the Riverland for their end of season trip,” she said.

“From there we decided we’d put together a Riverland team to go up against them, and so they travelled down to stay at Loxton North Oval and camped out there as a bit of team bonding.

“They watched the AFL grand final on the Saturday, and then on the Sunday we showcased the two games.

“I contacted parents of girls between the ages of 12-16 from across all of the Riverland of those who had played in the academy, or that had played in the mixed under 15s.

“We had 17 players from the Riverland go up against theirs, and we had some umpires too which was really good.

to the Loxton North Football Club.”

Following a successful afternoon, Hectorville is looking to return to the region annually, with another game planned for the near future.

“From here there’s talks of them coming back in the near future, most likely after the six-week girl’s program, so the Riverland can go up against them again,” she said.

“They enjoyed coming up here and want to make it a yearly thing, and whether that’s post-season or pre-season is still to be worked out.

“They would really like to help grow female football in the area, and think this is one of the best ways of doing so.

“Everyone was very easy to convince to play, and all the parents loved it and had a great time.”

Umpires on the day were each donated $50 vouchers from Woolworths Loxton, while Hectorville FC also thanked Loxton North for hosting the match.

Yachts hit the water for exciting race day

THE Lake Bonney Yacht Club sailors were competing for club championship points on Saturday in the latest weekend of action.

After a solid week of strong winds, skip-pers were met with a two-to-seven-knot variable easterly breeze.

Tight racing continued in the top four boats with the shifty breeze making for many lead changes.

Results for race one saw Stephen Thomas’ ‘Just’ in first place, Chris Stevens’ ‘Blade’ in second spot, and ‘Pushing Limits’ rounding out the top three.

Race two was jam packed at the starting line, with several boats “on course side” at the start, before two of the three offenders returned to start line to exonerate the starting penalty.

The third offender ‘Blade’ continued to race gambling, however, valuable points to the boat’s score were lost.

The race was very tightly contested with some great passing moves made on the windward mark within the lead group.

The race 2 result saw ‘Just’ over the line first, with Beau Delaine’s ‘Bandit’ in second spot, while ‘Pushing Limits’ rounded out the top three.

Next weekend sees handicap races three and four held, with all members, competitors, followers and visitors welcome.

Tiger duo set to exit the jungle

LOXTON is attempting to build its way back to RFL success in season 2025, but will have to do so without two of its brightest stars.

Tiger pair Rogan Kennedy and Lachie Evans have both departed the jungle in favour of moves to Adelaide Footy League club Edwardstown.

Edwardstown will spend season 2025 in division three, after a last placed finish resulted in relegation, meaning Kennedy and Evans will be key players in a hopeful rise back to division two.

While Evans missed a large portion of the year through injury, his outside run mixed with Kennedy’s forward presence leaves a gaping hole which Loxton must replace in order to better its season 2024 elimination final exit.

Double header brings in new bowls season

OPENING weekend of the Riverland bowls’ Saturday pennants season saw division one action played out across Saturday and Sunday, with the first two rounds now in the books.

Saturday action saw Barmera start season 2024/25 with a bang, enjoying a 10-shot win over The Lawns at home.

The Lakesiders enjoyed wins in two of the three rinks against The Lawns, with the biggest margin coming from Ron Reynolds’ four, which secured a 16-shot victory.

Meanwhile, Renmark began the season with a strong performance away from home against Loxton RSL, recording a nine-shot win.

In a dominant performance, Renmark won two of the three rinks, with the biggest margin coming through Matthew Lacey’s team, which picked up a nine-shot win.

Sunday action saw The Lawns bounce back on home turf, enjoying a 27-shot victory against Loxton RSL.

The home side picked up wins in two of the three rinks, with the biggest margin coming through Steven Ivanovic’s four emerging winners by 29 shots.

Making one of the biggest journeys the Riverland has to offer, Waikerie made it well worth the drive with a 10-shot win over Renmark on the road.

Runner’s up last season, Waikerie won rinks through Andrew Fulwood’s four, and Grant Frahm’s quartet claiming a 14-shot victory.

Elsewhere, a comprehensive performance from Barmera saw it enjoy a 15-shot win over Loxton away from home.

Division two action saw Loxton enjoy a big win on Sunday afternoon away from home, defeating Barmera by 42 shots.

Chris McConnell’s four made a strong scoreboard impact, winning the rink by 15 shots, ably supported by Brian Bullock’s quartet enjoying a 16-shot win.

Meanwhile, Lyrup began the season with two thrilling matches, winning by three shots on both occasions.

Loxton claim midweek bragging rights

IN a Wednesday pennant clash where bragging rights were on the line, it was Loxton that proved too strong for Loxton RSL last Wednesday afternoon in Riverland bowls’ pennants division one action.

Emerging victorious in two of the rinks, the rink between Lynn Kimber’s side and Stefanie Sumner’s team was unable to be split.

Loxton’s biggest winning margin of the match came through the four of Suzanne Coombs, who pushed past Margaret Schutz’s four to the tune of six shots, setting up a 10-shot victory.

The win is Loxton’s first of the season, bouncing back after opening fortnight losses to Monash and Berri.

Elsewhere, Berri is the only undefeated side in the competition after three weeks, securing a thumping 37-shot win over Waikerie.

Berri proved dominant across all three rinks, with the biggest win coming from Claire Eichenberger’s four, who enjoyed a 21-shot win over Maxine Morley’s team.

Division two action saw close affairs throughout the day, with attention zoning in on Renmark’s narrow win over Berri Red, while Lyrup enjoyed a three-shot win over Barmera.

Waikerie reaches triple figure score

IN highest scores of the season so far, Waikerie notched up triple figures in a 48-shot win over Berri Blue in Riverland bowls’ midweek triples action last Wednesday.

Waikerie’s total of 105 was set up through the rink led by Drew Schapel, enjoying a 26-shot win over Neil Weinert’s three, and scoring 37 shots in the process.

Mark Morete’s team also enjoyed a big victory, winning by 10 shots against Jim Cresp’s three, piling on the pain for Berri Blue.

Elsewhere, Loxton White picked up a 37-shot win over The Lawns Red in a dominant performance, clean sweeping the four rinks.

The loss leaves The Lawns Red as the competition’s only winless side after three rounds, and it will be hoping to respond next week against Loxton Red on the road.

Meanwhile, a council clash between Barmera and Berri Red saw the Lakesiders take out the bragging rights, easing through to a 36-shot win.

Barmera swept through the four rinks, with the biggest margin coming through Ian Lloydie’s team, who picked up a 14-shot win over Graham Elleway’s triple.

Riverland basketball set to tip off again

LACHLAN DAND

ONE of the most popular sports in the region is set to tip off for another season as Riverland basketball makes its return later this week.

Following a record-breaking season that saw two thrilling division one grand finals, Riverland teams will be raring to go once again.

Renmark took out the division one men’s competition in March with a five-point win over Loxton, while overtime was required to split Barmera and Loxton in division one of the women’s competition.

This year’s competition is down to 125 teams, and Riverland Basketball Association president Mick Trussell is excited for the season to get going once again.

“We’ve got one less venue we can use this year, so it’s probably worked out a little bit more in our favour,” he said.

“That being said, if we had more teams we would be without complaints, and we’d find a way to fit them in and make it work.

The growth of basketball as one of the premier summer sports has been nationwide, and the Riverland is no different.

Mr Trussell has been involved in Riverland basketball since the 2011/12 season, and said the competition has grown a lot.

“When I first took over we only had 70 teams, so it definitely has grown,” he said.

four senior divisions.

“In the juniors we have division one and two in every grade aside from the under 18 girls competition, and we’re pleased to have that division back this year.”

For the third-straight season, the association will be without a division one Renmark women’s outfit, which Mr Trussell said is a club-based decision.

“They’ll have two teams in the division two competition this year, but none in division one,” he said.

“We don’t push them much on our end, we just leave it up to the clubs to decide, even though we definately would like them to be in division one.

“It would be better for the competition if they were there, which they’re fully aware of, but they are just without the players putting their hand up to play division one.

“Hopefully next year we’ll see them back and they can get to that point.”

Mr Trussell is tipping another exciting finish to both the men and women division one competitions, with strong talent on offer.

“I suspect the women’s will be close again, and it will likely be between Barmera, Berri, and Loxton, because Berri have a few good juniors coming through so it’ll be interesting to see how they go,” he said.

“In the men you’d have to expect it will be Renmark and Loxton again, but the teams are still being finalised, but those two have really good sides.”

Senior competition begins on Thursday, with division one battles taking place between Berri and Barmera, and Loxton and Waikerie, in both men and women’s grades.

The amazing contribution of ‘Foxy’

BARMERA Netball Club stalwart Sue Fox recently won the Netball SA Volunteer Achievement Country Award – and those behind her nomination have revealed exactly why she was honoured.

Details of the club’s nomination reveal the extent of Sue’s contribution to the club and the game more broadly.

The submission is reproduced in today’s Murray Pioneer below:

Susan Fox (lovingly known as ‘Foxy’) has given 52 years’ service to the Barmera Netball Club and is not ready to sit back yet.

Foxy initially played A grade netball for Barmera after moving to the Riverland for a teaching position.

In 1973 when playing A grade for Barmera, she won the Riverland A grade best and fairest award, and continued to play for many more years.

In 1988 Foxy started coaching both seniors and juniors. To pass on her knowledge and passion for the game came naturally for her, and is still an enjoyment she continues today.

Coaching senior teams from A1 to C1 and all grade of juniors, Foxy saw an opportunity to extend junior development of the club.

In 1992 she coached an U13 team to play in the U15 Riverland competition. This initiative created opportunities for players’ development and eventually other clubs caught onto this and adopted the idea.

In 2024 Foxy took on an extra role within the club of “skills development coach” for Barmera’s junior players and coaches, while still coaching two senior teams.

She was also working behind the scenes as a committee member and in the past has taken on roles of president and treasurer for the club, and president at association level.

If Foxy did not hold an executive position, she was a committee member first to put up her hand to help with the day-to-day running of the club.

Foxy doesn’t do any of this for accolades, she does it because she loves netball and loves being involved in the Barmera Netball Club. Seeing players go on and do great things with netball is the thrill of it all, and she loves helping them achieve their goals.

She is now coaching grandchildren of the first girls she coached, and she loves running into past players and knowing she has made an impact on them, and that they still remember her.

Foxy is the most enthusiastic person you will come across, which is how she approaches training and games. She tries her best to make every training session purposeful and enjoyable.

She was awarded Barmera Netball Club life membership in 2005 and has been the Barmera Netball Club patroness since 2008. Her volunteer work is with endless enthusiasm and her club spirit has no bounds.

You will always find Foxy cheering on the sidelines and is well known as the “Dancing Queen” on many end-of-season netball trips.

Foxy has never been nominated for a volunteer award previously. She has always been around the netball courts, but it wasn’t until the club celebrated its 75th anniversary – while researching the club’s history – that her years of contribution came to light.

Committee members and players come and go, but Foxy has stayed true to her club.

Berri claim baseball’s big blue

THE long-awaited return of Riverland baseball finally came to an end on Friday night at Glassey Park with two sides taking to the field in a battle of the blue.

Berri Blue took control in the early stages of the battle with Renmark Blue, with Declan Binder leaving Renmark in all sorts.

Renmark Blue showcased strong potential throughout the evening, with pair Craig Stoner and Daniel Fraser sharing the pitching.

Magic 93.1 breakfast show host Ben Carpenter threw the ceremonial first pitch of the 2024/25 season.

Due to technical difficulties with lighting on the night, the clash between Renmark White and Berri Red is set to be rescheduled for a later date.

Blazers prepare for new basketball season

AHEAD of the newest Riverland Basketball Association season beginning tomorrow night, the Berri Blazers division one men’s outfit have secured the services of some key players from Mildura in the hopes of bolstering its squad for the 2024/25 season.

Incoming are brothers Trequan Rudd-Morfaw, Zandjay Rudd-Morfaw and Ramone Devlin.

Coming through high-level competition, Trequan spent time with the Border Sports Academy, and represented Mildura Heat senior men in the Big V and CBL teams.

Meanwhile, Ramone has come through the Border Sports Academy and has excelled as a talented junior guard.

Additionally, Zandjay has also come through the Border Sports Academy, and is currently playing district basketball in Adelaide.

The Blazers also welcome Ethen Blake-Roberts who has also come through the Border Sports Academy, and played strong basketball at Mildura club level.

Berri will also promote several talented juniors to their senior squad this year, including Waverly Marsden and Jordan Dymmott.

The Blazers will be hoping to improve their standings in the competition after a disappointing finish to last season.

LACHLAN DAND

THE latest piece of the Riverland Football League’s A grade coaching puzzle is locked in to place, with long-time Magpie Jackson Sutton taking the role after the club confirmed his appointment on Saturday.

Sutton will take over from Michael Kilsby, whose two-year stint came to an end with a preliminary final loss to Renmark before accepting a job with Woodville South in the Adelaide Footy League.

A seven-time premiership player with the Magpies, the 37-year-old has most recently spent time in the role of playing-coach with the B grade, something he says will help him build the foundations of success.

“I’ve player-coached the B grade the last few years and doing that role gave me that passion to take on the A grade job,” he said.

“After the B grade season ended I sat down with my wife and thought about applying and then I thought ‘why not, there’s nothing holding me back’.

“Once I’d got the courage up and actually put the application in, I started getting really excited about it, so I’m really glad that I did it, and I’m really excited about the coming season.

“I retired from A grade footy at the end of 2018, and started with the Bs in 2019, and I’ve been a Waikerie boy my whole life, so I’ve got good relations with a lot of people.

“It’s pretty well just the players we bring in from outside of the area that I have to build relationships with.

“Kilsby came from Adelaide and had to build those relationships, which would be really difficult so I don’t envy that role coming in as a coach to a club you haven’t had a history with, but he did a fantastic job with that.

“It definitely makes it easier that I know probably 95 per cent of the people already.”

Waikerie finished in third spot in the A grade in 2024, taking care of Loxton in the elimination final, before suffering a 17-point loss in the preliminary final to the eventual premiership-winning Rovers.

Sutton said he is feeling confident about what his side can produce in season 2025, and believes the Magpies were very close to a grand final berth.

He said ironing out what the Magpies needs are will be key to success as Waikerie hopes to break a six-year premiership drought.

“We had a horrible run with injuries last year, which hurt the club as a whole because it just filters through,” he said.

“Numbers have declined over the past few years, and I’ve seen how hard recruiters have to work to get players up here, having been on the recruiting panel the last few years.

“I don’t think we need that much to be honest, and we won’t be going out searching for five or six players, because we’ve got a real good core of the younger blokes.

“Keeping the senior blokes out on the oval will be huge for us, especially with so much youth, and there’s a few kids in the under 18s who will come through as well.

“The only thing we’re probably lacking is a little bit of maturity, but keeping people injury free will be massive for us.”

Waikerie were one of the more exciting teams to watch throughout season 2024, with a young side hoping to take the game on at every opportunity.

It enabled Magpies young gun Kade Hilton to take out the Whillas Medal, and Sutton said he is looking forward to helping the 20-year-old take his game to the next level.

“Although he had a fantastic year, Kade’s focus should be about trying to get better, because he is still so young and he has so much improvement in him still,” he said.

“I thought Waikerie played in patches some really exciting football, and I just thought that has lacked across the league in recent seasons.

“Seeing games where scores are seven goals to five... my aim will be to bring back scoring.

“We’ve got a nice big clubhouse being built, and I want people to be able to come to the footy and be excited that we’ve kicked 15 goals.

“There should be no reason that up on these big ovals, which are mostly dry conditions, we have such low-scoring games.

“Crowd numbers have diminished, and I think it’s incumbent on all A grade coaches to make sure we are playing a positive brand of footy, because that’s what people want to come and watch.

“It’s going to be about making sure we come up with a game plan that can counteract zone footy, and my style of football is that I’d love to see us just kick a lot of goals.”

While finals football is a clear goal for Waikerie in season 2025, Sutton said ensuring his players are having fun will also be a focus.

“I’m a huge advocate for making sure football is fun, and I think you can see that the fun aspect of football has waned a little bit,” he said.

“Having fun out there brings success and vice versa, and obviously Waikerie has had a strong finals making ability for the last 40 years, so making finals is definitely the goal.

“I was lucky enough to win seven A grade flags and now a couple with the B grade, so I’ll be driving in to the boys that if they work hard enough, there’s no reason they can’t be doing that too.

“It’s about making young lads believe that premierships aren’t just handed to you, and getting the guys to understand that will be important.

“Even though it’s only a six-team competition, if you don’t take your chances when they arise, you miss out.

“The boys can take a lot of positives from last year, and I’ll be making sure I’ve got people around me, and ex-senior players I know I can rely on to feed me bits of information.”

Warriors exit A grade cricket competition

LACHLAN DAND

RIVERLAND turf cricket’s A grade competition will be down to five teams in season 2024/25 following Waikerie/Ramco’s decision to exit the grade.

Having taken out the B grade competition last season, the Warriors were set to field a side in both competitions this season, before the decision to exit last Wednesday became official, just three days before the opening weekend.

Riverland Turf Cricket Association president Luke Cotter said it was an association-based decision to attempt to push Waikerie/Ramco into the A grade this season, if the club was only fielding one side.

“We had that plan in place and then they ended up entering a side into each of the two grades,” he said.

“They had an understanding they had a good number of players initially, but they’ve been without the numbers at training is my understanding.

“Obviously with round one coming that weekend they had to make a decision as a club, and if it was going to be just one team, what grade they would be playing in, and B grade was the majority vote.

“They have a lot of juniors in their squad, who would all be preferring to still play B grade, so that’s why they made that choice.”

The Warriors’ decision to leave the competition left the RTCA in a difficult position, but Mr Cotter said the league was still looking at the positives of the situation.

“The fact we had an even six teams initially makes it pretty simple, because games featuring Waikerie/Ramco will just become a bye now, so thankfully that was relatively simple,” he said.

“It opens up an opportunity for the

A grade to do a weekend T20 carnival in January... and the A grade grand final should be landing on the same as the B grade because we’d push back a week.

“It’s never ideal when a change like this happens this close to the season starting, but I’ve also been in the club land of things and it can all change pretty quickly.

“We had the conversation with them about potentially staying in the A grade, but if that was how it was going to go, they probably would have lost more players and would have to end up forfeiting throughout the year.

“It is disappointing overall, because we would have loved to have them back in the A grade, but you can’t help player movement, and as a club you can only do with what you have.

“If players are saying they won’t play if they’re in the A grade you have to put your club first in that situation.”

Mr Cotter said that while other RTCA A grade clubs were also disappointed in the Warriors’ decision, they were understanding of the situation overall.

“I think they also know what it takes to get a club up and going, even though underlying disappointment was still present,” he said.

“They just take it in their stride, but the conversations I’ve had have just been about moving forward, which is how the T20 competition discussions started.

“We would probably run the B grade separate, but we’d have to get approval from the clubs to actually do it, so it’s still a fair way off being finalised.”

Perfect Pelicans make a winning return

THE sound of leather on willow reverberated around the Riverland once again on Saturday afternoon as the opening round of the Riverland Turf Cricket Association was held in an action-packed weekend.

Taking to the field for the first time in nearly 20 years, it was a successful weekend for Barmera on the road against Waikerie/Ramco in the B grade.

Winning the toss and electing to bat, Barmera battled its way to 126, largely thanks to Jono Beech's half century.

Middle order cameos of 23 from both captain Kylan Beech and Luke Hampshire were key for the Pelicans, fighting well against a strong Waikerie/Ramco bowling attack.

Thomas Waanders was central to the Warriors' bowling outfit with three wickets, while Kade Hilton and Ashley Werner each picked up two.

Making a strong start with the bat, Waikerie/Ramco opening pair Flynn and Naish Andrew helped push the score to 2/76, before a collapse occurred.

Kade Boase did the damage with the ball for Barmera with a five-wicket haul, while Jono Beech's three-wicket effort also made an impact.

Naish Andrew's high score of 29 was the major piece for Waikerie/Ramco, which were ultimately bowled out for 103, giving the Pelicans a 23-run victory.

Elsewhere, despite the departure of key player Brad Rosenzweig, Berri made a winning start in the A grade, defeating Loxton by 62 runs.

Sent in to bat by the Tigers, Berri opener Wes Frankel made a strong start with 46 runs in an innings which featured eight fours, while fellow opener Peter Efthimiou worked his way to 32.

Reece Lehmann sent the Loxton bowling attack to all parts with 47, including seven boundaries, while vice-captain Martin Sumner also pieced together 39.

Defending a strong total of 196, Berri made early inroads in the Loxton batting line-up, largely through Aaron Nobile.

before Loxton were bundled out for 134.

Nobile ultimately finished with three wickets, while Bradley Oakley swept through the lower order with four wickets.

Other A grade action saw reigning premiers Parilla defeat the Mallee Bushrangers by two wickets in Pinnaroo, as opening batter Will Werner smashed 22 runs.

Parilla will be back at home this Saturday afternoon against Loxton, while Renmark North plays its first game of the season against Berri at Renmark Oval in the all-Riverland clash.

Meanwhile, more B grade action saw an undermanned Gerard defeated by a whopping 182 runs against Brown's Well.

Both James Patterson and Brian Hampel struck half-centuries for the Cows, while Lachlan Patterson closely followed suit with 45.

Lachlan Patterson claimed three wickets after Brown's Well posted a mammoth score of 271, with George Halls' 29 the major highlight for Gerard.

Monash also picked up the points following a forfeit from Loxton, meaning both it and Renmark North will play for the first time this season this weekend.

Goals galore for futsal's opening weekend

THE opening day of Riverland futsal spelled goals galore at the Toyota Arena, on Sunday afternoon, with one side netting 26 majors.

An utterly comprehensive performance from Chicken Tikka Mo Salah saw it score 26 goals unanswered, with Jim's Futsal without reply in the process.

Kyle Kenefick starred for his side with nine goals, while handfuls to both Jack McCracken and Jesse Tsonis helped keep the scoreboard ticking over.

Duo Rowan Rapisada and Brenton Kenefick fought hard in a disappointing outing for Jim's Futsal, and will be looking for a bounce back next week.

Elsewhere, FC Espadas begun the season in near perfect form with an 11-1 victory over BS thanks to a hat-trick from Jay Botten.

Crispin Mitchell provided the BS defenders a large portion of headaches, as did Andy Son, while BS' only respite came through Dimitrios Kondoprios' finish.

A high-scoring affair between Un-Athletico Madrid and ABCDE FC were where eyes turned to in an entertaining afternoon.

Kevin Barber provided four majors of his own, while Jake Perram gave all he could.

The best individual performance of the weekend came through the mixed competition, where Jesse Tsonis finished with 10 goals.

Starring in Chippy Chips' 21-1 win over Kiss My Pass, Tsonis had the defence asking questions all afternoon, while Jude Bourton's four-goal effort was well noticed.

Meanwhile, Tanika Van Gelderen and Sara Setchell both performed strongly for Trouble Makers, combining for 11 goals in the 14-6 win over Razzmatazz.

Rhiannon Kenefick dominated the middle of the court with three goals of her own in what was a high-scoring contest.

Elsewhere, it was easy pickings for Brexit Ballers in the under 14s competition, securing a major 13-0 win.

Charlie Bourton dominated with six goals in a strong performance, while Braxton and Levi Perram each finished with two.

Warriors exit A grade competition

LACHLAN DAND

RIVERLAND turf cricket's A grade competition will be down to five teams in season 2024/25 following Waikerie/Ramco's decision to exit the grade.

Having taken out the B grade competition last season, the Warriors were set to field a side in both competitions this season, before the decision to exit last Wednesday became official, just three days before the opening weekend.

Riverland Turf Cricket Association president Luke Cotter said it was an association-based decision to attempt to push Waikerie/Ramco into the A grade this season, if the club was only fielding one side.

"We had that plan in place and then they ended up entering a side into each of the two grades," he said.

"They had an understanding they had a good number of players initially, but they've been without the numbers at training is my understanding.

"Obviously with round one coming that weekend they had to make a decision as a club, and if it was going to be just one team, what grade they would be playing in, and B grade was the majority vote.

"They have a lot of juniors in their squad, who would all be preferring to still play B grade, so that's why they made that choice."

Plum changes the game

THE life of a professional athlete can seem to be somewhat of a charmed existence: with money, fame and freedom, it's easy to assume they're set up for the rest of their days. But in reality, it's not always the case.

Created by and starring Love My Way's Brendan Cowell and based on his novel of the same name, this timely dramedy delves into the pains of life after a rugby league career and the consequences of concussions on the field.

Cowell plays Peter "Plum" Lum, who's approaching 50 but reckons the odd things happening to him are outside the usual ageing process. After forgetting the name of his favourite player (his son's namesake) at a corporate speaking event, Plum finds himself contending with a "snowstorm" in his head, but ignores it.

It's not until he has a seizure at his casual job that Plum is forced to face reality: like so many former athletes, his symptoms are consistent with degenerative brain disorder Chronic Traumatic Encephalopathy (CTE), and the game he loves is likely the cause of his neurological troubles. The series features guest appearances from rugby league greats Andrew "Joey" Johns, Mark "Spudd" Carroll, Paul Gallen and James Graham.

Asher Keddie, Matt Nable, Jemaine Clement, María Dupláa and newcomer Vincent Miller round out the cast of this poetic, bittersweet take on a topic that's too often swept under the rug.

COLOUR ME IN

Lemon Volcano

Do science with adults

INGREDIENTS

- Lemons
- Baking Soda
- Food Colouring
- Dish Soap
- Plate, Tray or Bowl
- Craft Sticks

METHOD

1. First, you need to place half of a lemon into a bowl or plate that will catch the mess when it erupts.
2. Next, take your craft stick and poke holes in the various sections of the lemon. This will help get the reaction started in the beginning.
3. Now you can place drops of food coloring and some dish soap around the different sections on the top of the lemon.
4. Go ahead and sprinkle a generous amount of baking soda onto the top of the lemon. Then use a craft stick to press some of the baking soda down into the different sections of the lemon to get the eruption going.

Solution No. 500

October 2024: week 3
Horoscopes

ARIES
MAR 21ST - APR 20TH

A powerful aspect to Jupiter will help to give you some good luck. A series of events which come together unexpectedly will put you in a good mood for the rest of the week!
Romance. Your relationship with a colleague at work may become a lot closer over the next few days.

TAURUS
APR 21ST - MAY 21ST

You may be a little more self-indulgent than usual and might prefer to put off difficult tasks until next week. Don't feel guilty – you deserve a break!
Romance. You will soon be rewarded for your recent kindness. Your partner understands your needs much better than you think.

GEMINI
MAY 22ND - JUN 21ST

A challenging aspect to Saturn may make you a little more reserved than usual. Don't be so negative that you ignore a sign that things are looking up.
Romance. An important decision will be difficult to reverse. Trust to your initial feelings on the matter, and don't try to change your mind at the last minute.

CANCER
JUN 22ND - JUL 23RD

Time spent away from home will give you the chance to see things from a completely different angle. You need a fresh perspective on recent events.
Romance. An admirer who holds you in very high esteem will help to improve your self-image. This person may understand your strengths much better than you do yourself.

LEO
JUL 24TH - AUG 23RD

An assumption which you think is reasonable may turn out to be off the mark. Don't fall into the trap of making the same mistake again and again.
Romance. A person who is interested in getting to know you will be subtle. You won't know what their real intentions are until they want you to know.

VIRGO
AUG 24TH - SEP 23RD

A positive aspect to Jupiter later in the week will help you to feel more positive about recent events. Your friends will be impressed by your ability to pull through a difficult period successfully.
Romance. When you have cleared up a misunderstanding with your partner your relationship will move onto a higher plane.

LIBRA
SEP 24TH - OCT 23RD

A person whom you have known for many years may be going through a difficult patch. They will be grateful for all your help and support.
Romance. A chance encounter with an "ex" may be embarrassing at first. You will be curious to find out what they have been up to recently – and whether they are still single!

SCORPIO
OCT 24TH - NOV 22ND

This will be an excellent time for a joint project. So long as you go at the same pace you will be able to take advantage of each other's strengths and avoid each other's weaknesses.
Romance. A favourable aspect to Neptune will put you in a dreamy and romantic mood. This will be a good time for a romantic adventure!

SAGITTARIUS
NOV 23RD - DEC 21ST

Think twice before you start bossing people around. You may be frustrated by your colleagues' lack of action.
Romance. Pressure from work may spill over into your home life this week. Your partner won't thank you if you talk about your job the whole time!

CAPRICORN
DEC 22ND - JAN 20TH

You will get more done if you are realistic. However: don't say that you can do something which you know is unlikely to ever be completed.
Romance. Your partner will notice your changing moods. They may respond a little less strongly to them than you might like.

AQUARIUS
JAN 21ST - FEB 19TH

A recent comment could have more significance than you realise – but you will need to ask someone else to find out exactly what was left out.
Romance. A financial upset could create tension this week. Make sure you are clear about where your money is going.

PISCES
FEB 20TH - MAR 20TH

A favourable aspect to Uranus will help you to come up with an idea which will prove useful later in the week. You will be even more creative than usual.
Romance. Your love-life may be a little quieter than usual over the next few days. A comment by your partner will help to reassure you, however.
